Into the Heart of Systemic Autoimmune Diseases Franco Franceschini, Antonio Brucato, Micaela Fredi, Silvia Piantoni, 2024-03-27 Systemic autoimmune diseases are a heterogeneous group of disorders characterized by humoral and cell mediated immune responses against various self constituents In specific cases the heart and cardiovascular CV system are the primary organs targeted by the disease On the other hand several systemic autoimmune conditions are linked to enhanced atherosclerosis with a consequently high CV morbidity and mortality rates Persistent low grade inflammation in the vascular wall is described to be important in the physiopathology of CV events At first inflammation is linked to endothelial dysfunction supporting the proliferation of vascular smooth muscle cells with subsequent vascular remodeling Furthermore the infiltration of innate and adaptive immune cells promotes a milieu of molecules that contributes to the perpetuation of inflammation itself Although CV risk assessment should be part of routine care in patients with autoimmune diseases no disease specific models are currently available for this purpose The main pillars of CV risk reduction are pharmacological and nonpharmacological management of cardiovascular CV risk factors as well as tight control of disease activity
