Heart Of Religion:

Heart Religion John Wesley, 1913 Mind and Heart in Religion Abraham Jaeger, 1873 The Heart of Religion: Spiritual Empowerment, Benevolence, and the Experience of God's Love Matthew T. Lee, Margaret M. Poloma, Stephen G. Post, 2012-11-14 Beneath our culture's obsession with wealth and power status and celebrity millions of Americans are quietly engaged in a deeply religious struggle to free themselves from petty selfishness and to embrace a life of benevolence and compassion Drawing on an extensive random survey of 1 200 men and women across the United States Matthew Lee Margaret Poloma and Stephen Post here shed new light on how Americans wake up to the reality of divine love and how that transformative experience expresses itself in concrete acts of benevolence The authors find that the vast majority of Americans eight out of ten report that they have felt God's love increasing their compassion for others one of many important revelations uncovered by the survey In order to more fully flesh out the meaning of the survey's results the authors also conducted 120 in depth interviews with Christian women and men from all walks of life and from across the country who are engaged in benevolent service Their stories offer compelling examples of how receiving God's love loving God and expressing this love to others has made a difference in the world and given their lives deeper significance As a result some provide community service others strive for social justice still others seek to redefine religion and the meaning of church in America Interviewees who may have grown up with judgmental images of God tended to trade them in for a loving and accepting God more consistent with their own emotionally powerful personal experiences Based on equal measures of scholarly research and human insight The Heart of Religion offers an unprecedented level of detail about the experience and expression of divine love

Heart Religion John Coffey, 2016-06-30 The Evangelical Revival of the mid eighteenth century was a major turning point in Protestant history In England Wesleyan Methodists became a separate denomination around 1795 and Welsh Calvinistic Methodists became independent of the Church of England in 1811 By this point evangelicalism had emerged as a major religious force across the British Isles making inroads among Anglicans as well as Irish and Scottish Presbyterians Evangelical Dissent proliferated through thousands of Methodist Baptist and Congregational churches even Quakers were strongly influenced by evangelical religion The evangelicals were often at odds with each other over matters of doctrine like the five points of Calvinism ecclesiology including the status of the established church politics as they reacted in various ways to the American and French Revolutions and worship with the boisterous extemporaneous style of Primitive Methodists contrasting sharply with the sober piety of many Anglican advocates of vital religion What they shared was a cross centred Bible based piety that stressed conversion and stimulated evangelism But how was this generic evangelical ethos adopted and reconfigured by different denominations and in very different social contexts Can we categorise different styles of heart religion To what extent was evangelical piety dependent on the phenomenon of revival And what practical difference did it make to the experience of dying to the parish community or to denominational politics This collection addresses these questions in innovative ways It examines neglected manuscript and print sources including handbooks of piety translations and abridgements conversion narratives journals letters hymns sermons and obituaries It offers a variety of approaches reflecting a range of disciplinary expertise historical literary and theological Together the contributions point towards a new account of the roots and branches of evangelical piety and offer fresh ways of analysing the history of Protestant spirituality

Single hearted or double hearted Certainly as a priest I had lot of occasions like recollections and retreats regularly to regularly assess the genuineness of my religious holdings and practices Though I began 10ten years back gathering all my scribbles and journals of evaluation about my personal religion I started putting them seriously into a book form only after Pope Benedict XVI announced year 2012 as the Year of Faith I considered it a call from God who wanted to befriend me more intensely and to promote to my friends this habit of assessing ones own faith This is how this book was conceived and shaped This book can be considered as a self imposed act of examining my conscience about the identity nature and application and practice of religion in my life I hope and pray this effort of mine will surely assist my readers do the same not only during this Year of Faith as it would be ended 24 November 24 2013 but also later on in life when tumult of waves and trials is daunting against our faith and religion
