EHealth Beyond the Horizon European Federation for Medical Informatics. International Congress, Stig Kjær Andersen, 2008 The first part of the MIE 2008 conference theme eHealth Beyond the Horizon highlights the expectations for the future of ehealth and raises the question What sort of developments in ehealth services can we imagine emerging above the horizon in the years to come EHealth Beyond the Horizon contains a good number of high quality papers giving different perspectives of this future some of them already available today in picot scale some of them outlined in visions The second part of the theme Get IT There has triggered a large number of papers describing how to create evaluate adjust and deliver products and deploy services in healthcare organizations for the necessary information technology as a basis for the ehealth applications that are essential in order to respond to the challenges of the health systems The papers in the proceedings are grouped by themes according to the submission categories and the supplied keywords As the last theme three doctoral students from different areas of medical informatics were selected to present and discuss their research under the guidance of a panel of distinguished research faculties Agriculture's Changing Horizon, 1993 Horizon 2030: Innovative Applications of Heart Rate Variability Sylvain Laborde, Julian F. Thayer, Emma Mosley, Clint Bellenger, 2022-04-25 The Hermeneutics of Medicine and the Phenomenology of Health Fredrik Svenaeus, 2022-07-15 This is the first monograph to deal with medicine as a form of hermeneutics now in a thoroughly revised and updated edition including a whole new chapter on medical ethics The book offers a comprehensive philosophical argument why good medical practice cannot be curtailed to scientific investigations of the body but is a form of clinical hermeneutics performed by health care professionals in dialogue with their patients Medical hermeneutics is rooted in a phenomenology of illness which acknowledges and proceeds from the ill party's bodily feelings everyday life world circumstances and self understanding in aiming to restore health The author shows how the works of classical phenomenologists and hermeneuticians Martin Heidegger Maurice Merleau Ponty Hans

Georg Gadamer and Paul Ricoeur may be employed to understand how medical diagnosis is enveloped by professional empathy and clinical judgement and developed by scientific investigations of the patient's bodily condition. Health and illness are ultimately considered to be ways of feeling at home or not at home in the world and such experiences are the starting point of medical hermeneutics when aiming to make best use of scientific knowledge. The book is aimed at researchers and teachers in philosophy of medicine and medical ethics and at physicians, nurses and other health care professionals meeting with patients in ethically complex and challenging situations. Phenomenology and hermeneutics, most often considered as methods belonging to the humanities, are shown to be of vital importance for the understanding of medical practice and ethical dilemmas of health care.
