Geopolitics At The End Of The 20th Century The Changing World Political Map:

Geopolitics at the End of the Twentieth Century Nurit Kliot, David Newman, 2013-11-05 An excellent examination of how the collapse of the Soviet Union and the impact of globalization have brought about changes not only to the territorial configuration sovereignty of states and their boundaries but also to traditional notions of state boundaries sovereignty and social order These essays focus on the key regional and geopolitical characteristics of this global reordering with an emphasis on Eastern Europe and South Asia They discuss the territorial reordering which is taking place at the level of the state as boundaries are redemarcated in line with ethno territorial demands as borders are transversed by the movement of peoples information and finance and as the lines of territorial demarcation are perceived not only in terms of their fixed characteristics but as part of a process through which regional and ethnic identities continue to be formed and reformed Each section ends with articles which focus on literature on geopolitics and boundaries This is an invaluable addition to our understanding of contemporary world affairs

Geopolitics at the end of the twentieth century, 1999 Territory David Delaney, 2008-04-15 This short introduction conveys the complexities associated with the term territory in a clear and accessible manner It surveys the field and brings theory to ground in the case of Palestine A clear and accessible introduction to the complexities associated with the term territory Provides an interdisciplinary survey of the many strands of research in the field Addresses specific areas including interpretations of territorial structures the relationship between territoriality and scale the validity and fluidity of territory and the practical social processes associated with territorial re configurations Stresses that our understanding of territory is inseparable from our understanding of power Uses Israel Palestine as an extended illustrative case study The author s strong legal and geographical background gives the work an authoritative perspective

Geopolitics Saul Bernard Cohen,2009 Written by one of the world s leading political geographers this fully revised and updated textbook examines the dramatic changes wrought by ideological and economic forces unleashed by the end of the Cold War Saul Bernard Cohen considers these forces in the context of their human and physical settings and explores their geographical influence on foreign policy and international relations Dangerous Peace Alpo M Rusi,2021-11-28 Alpo Rusi provides a broad vision of the strategic landscape for the coming century warning against dangers inherent in the emerging world order He predicts a more complexand potentially hostile multipolar system based on four or five rival trading blocs Despite the centrality of trade rivalries the role of military force will not vanish Although he considers superpower conflict unlikely he expects that lower level conflicts will become more prevalent Consequently Rusi believes that the trading blocs will have to actively pursue security arrangements that will safeguard the traditional role of the nation state Examining the international system from a geopolitical and geoeconomic perspective Alpo Rusi provides a broad vision and bold forecast of the emerging strategic landscape for the coming century An asymmetrical world system is emerging The United States is now the sole true world power it forms the core of a unipolar order characterized by an uneven division of world power and economic resources Rusi argues however that this postCold War order will not survive into the next century Rusi suggests that the power vacuum in the former Soviet empire will be filled by China in Asia and by the European Union in Eastern Europe Russias disintegration and decline in world power status will continue but may have reached its bottom line economically and Islam will gain strength in various parts of the world embracing a new international role He also predicts that the world will be split into four or five distinct trading blocs A European bloc formed around the European Union an East Asian bloc potentially strong interventionist and even aggressive formed around China and the Singapore economic region Japan as a strong and still competitive economic power and a Pan American bloc also strong but potentially isolationist formed around the United States One of the question marks will be the future ability of an orthodox Russia to facilitate conditions for an economic space According to Rusi these trading blocs will develop new political or geopolitical interests For example the European bloc will extract fossil fuels from the former Soviet Union instead of the Middle East thereby changing the existing global trade system Each bloc will have certain internal problems the Europeans will be linked to the unstable successors to the Soviet Union the East Asian Bloc will have to contemplate whether Chinas economic growth and geopolitical expansions will create a new bipolar world in the early twenty first century and the Pan American bloc will struggle with continuing political and economic instability in South and Central America Finally Rusi warns that it is crucial for the European and Pan American blocs to build upon the traditional Euro Atlantic relationship Without it he argues a truly polarized and potentially hostile bloc system will take root most likely lining the Western pan regions against Chinas expansiveness
