German Fighter Units Alex Imrie, 1978 This book traces the combat History of German fighter units Major aircraft types are all covered and their missions detailed Aircraft markings and aircrew uniforms are shown in full colour illustrations

The Birth of Independent Air Power Malcolm Cooper, 2021-03-30 In forming the Royal Air Force on 1 April 1918 Britain created the world's first independent air service Britain entered the First World War with less than 200 ill assorted flying machines divided between the army and the navy but by the end of the war the RAF mustered almost 300 000 personnel and 22 000 aircraft Originally published in 1986 more than 65 years after the event the decision to form the RAF remained poorly understood and Malcolm Cooper presented the first detailed modern analysis of its creation shedding new light on the process by which Britain entered the air age Set against the background of the build up of air power during the First World War the book explains how deepening political concern at failures in home air defence public demands for retaliatory air action against Germany problems of mobilization and expansion in the aircraft industry and disagreements between the existing army and navy air services combined to create the conditions for an independent air force The author argues that the pressures of war were insufficient to give real substance to the RAF's independence and that its failure to escape from its wartime role as an ancillary service was also of crucial significance in the evolution of British air strategy in later years

Based on an extensive study of official documents and private papers and amply illustrated with contemporary photographs this title will prove invaluable in understanding both strategic thinking in the Great War and the early development of a form of warfare which dominated military and naval operations in the twentieth century Aces of Jagdgeschwader Nr III Greg

VanWyngarden, 2016-01-20 Royal Prussian Jagdgeschwader Nr III was the third of Germany's vaunted fighter wings to be formed during World War 1 Commanded by the Pour le Mérite winner and well respected ace Hauptmann Bruno Loerzer for its entire existence it was composed of the celebrated Jasta Boelcke along with Jagdstaffeln 26 27 and 36 Equipped largely with the new Fokker triplane these four units would play an important role in the Kaiserschlacht as part of the 17 Armee As Germany's fortunes waned in the summer of 1918 the aces of JG III nonetheless did their best to stem the tides of British French and later American aircraft they encountered Aces such as Carl Bolle Paul B umer Heinrich Bongartz Hermann Frommherz Rudolf Klimke and the infamous Hermann Göring all carved their names in the record books flying in this formidable formation This book examines the tactics achievements and personalities of one of the deadliest of Germany's aerial units Aces of Jagdstaffel 17 Greg VanWyngarden, 2013-11-20 Initially formed to assist in the defence of the city of Metz against French bombing raids Royal Prussian Jagdstaffel 17 would go on to become one of the most distinguished German fighter units of World War 1 Its first victory was scored by the pilot whose story is inextricably interwoven with that of his unit the Blue Max recipient Julius Buckler He was largely responsible for inspiring the unit's unique Esprit de Corps expressed in its famous and unique battle cry of Malaula Indeed in its final days the unit gained the nickname Zirkus Buckler or the Buckler Circus Besides Buckler Jasta 17 boasted such aces as Karl Strasser Alfred Fleischer and Christian Donhauser In addition the roster included colourful characters like the successful Jewish airman Jakob Wolff who at over 48 years of age was the oldest German fighter pilot of the war The story of this illustrious unit is told with many first hand accounts by Buckler Fleischer and others as well as dozens of rare archival photos of the unit s beautifully decorated fighter aircraft

Battle For Air Supremacy Over The Somme: 1 June-30 November 1916 Lt-Col Thomas G. Bradbeer,2014-08-15 Much has been written about the Battle of the Somme From July through late November 1916 British

French and German armies fought one of the costliest battles of the twentieth century. Well over a million casualties and only a few miles of ground gained by the Allies were the result when the battle ended. Little however has been written about the second battle which occurred simultaneously this one in the skies above the Somme where for the first time in the history of warfare a deliberate attempt was made to control the sky. The British Royal Flying Corps under the resolute command of General Sir Hugh Trenchard fought to gain air supremacy from the German Air Service. Trenchard believed that the best way to support the ground force was to dominate and control the sky above the battlefield. This air campaign was critical because of its impact on the doctrine and theory of air warfare which followed it. This study examines the efforts of the Royal Flying Corps to gain air supremacy against the German Air Service before and during the Battle of the Somme.

Airfields and Airmen: Cambrai Mike O'Connor, 2003-09-26 Airfields and Airmen Cambrai covers the earliest days of the RFC with the retreat from Mons. We visit the graves of Fokker Eindecker aces and the airfields where the first Jastas were formed. Also covered are airfields from which Allied aces such as Beauchamp and Proctor VC flew and there is a visit to the American cemetery at Bony that contains a number of aviators.

Austro-Hungarian Aces of World War 1 Chris Chant, 2012-12-20. Featuring illustrations throughout, a detailed exploration of the unlikely aces among the Austro Hungarians. Starting the war with only 35 aircraft, Austro Hungarian industry went on to produce only moderate numbers of poor quality aircraft. The fliers of the Austro Hungarian Empire operating on the Serbian and Russian fronts were fortunate at first, finding themselves faced by small numbers of aircraft yet more obsolescent than their own. Serbia fell in 1915 but when Italy declared war, the Austro Hungarians were still faced with a two front war: a static front against Italy and a far more fluid one against Russia. As Christopher Chant explains in this compact volume, Austro Hungarian fighter pilots performed bravely and often very effectively under extremely difficult geographic, climatic and operational conditions.
