Geriatric Psychology:

Psychology and Geriatrics Benjamin A. Bensadon, 2015-04-16 Psychology and Geriatrics demonstrates the value of integrating psychological knowledge and insight with medical training and geriatric care. Leading physician and geropsychologist contributors come together to share their collective wisdom about topics that are as emotionally uncomfortable as they are universally relevant. As the world struggles to respond to unprecedented gains in life expectancy and an explosion of new retirees living with chronic health conditions, this collaboration could not be more timely. This exceptional resource is itself evidence that physicians and psychologists can work together to optimize truly patient-centered geriatric care. Here at last is a scientifically rigorous, evidence-based response to the aging mind and body from those most expertly trained. Illustrates why and how psychologists must assume a more integrated role in meeting the health care needs of older patients. Confronts emotionally laden topics such as cognitively impaired driving, caregiver burden, end of life communication, suicide, and systemic issues such as bias, payment, and the culture of medicine. Challenges decades-long barriers to integration from both physician and psychologist perspectives, suggesting how they can finally be overcome. Provides an innovative, practical response to academic medicine's growing emphasis on psychological and behavioral science. Demonstrates how health care reform creates a behavioral health niche that clinical psychologists are uniquely qualified to fill.

Principles and Practice of Geriatric Psychiatry Marc E. Agronin, Gabe J. Maletta, 2006 Written by noted authorities in geriatric psychiatry, this volume is a clinically oriented guide to the diagnostic workup and treatment of psychiatric and neuropsychiatric disorders in elderly patients. The book describes in detail the neurologic and neuropsychiatric patient assessment and the use of all treatment modalities, both psychotherapeutic and pharmacologic, in elderly patients. Chapters discuss the treatment of disorders in all clinical settings: inpatient, outpatient, emergency, primary care, assisted living, and long-term care. Algorithms for workup and treatment are included, as well as case studies and personal accounts by patients and care providers. Appendices provide drug information and additional resources.

Geropsychology and Long Term Care Erlene Rosowsky, Joseph M. Casciani, Merla Arnold, 2010-01-23 It is with great pride that the Psychologists in Long Term Care (PLTC) have sponsored The Professional Educational Long Term Care Training Manual, and now its second iteration, Geropsychology and Long Term Care: A Practitioner's Guide. Education of psychologists working in long-term care settings is consistent with PLTC's mission to assure the provision of high-quality psychological services for a neglected sector of the population, i.e., residents in nursing homes and assisted living communities. To this end, direct training of generalist psychologists in the nuances of psychological care delivery in long-term care settings has been a major priority. It is a tribute to the accelerating nature of research in long-term care settings that a revision is now necessary. After all, the Professional Educational Training Manual's initial publication date was only in 2001. However, in the intervening years, much progress has been made in addressing assessment and intervention strategies tailored to the needs of this frail but quite diverse population It is so gratifying to be able to say that there is now a corpus of scientific knowledge to guide long term care service delivery in long term care settings
