American Agriculture Steven C. Blank, 2014-12-18 This book answers the questions What is happening to American agriculture and why Steven C Blank uses portfolio theory to analyze both macro and microeconomic data that paints a clear picture of the trends in agriculture and explains why these trends are consistent with market evolution and global economic development He clarifies agriculture's specific role in economic development with a focus on the current and future globalizing commodity markets The book features empirical research that demonstrates the link between farm level investment decisions and regional and national economic trends It shows how the dynamic environment of industrialization and globalization of agriculture is part of a continuing development that is driven by technological innovation This all points to a future with a very different agricultural production sector and some extremely important policy choices that will face the entire country The Role Of Markets In The World Food Economy D. Gale Johnson, G. Edward Schuh, 2019-07-11 This book extends the discussion of world food problems by giving explicit recognition to the potential role of markets The authors highlight the contribution of prices to the solution of food problems in low income countries for example by providing adequate incentives to farmers to expand production assuring that food supplies can be obtained through trade when needed and giving appropriate signals to consumers They also document the negative effects on food supply and national welfare of the actual price policies of many Third World governments While recognizing the problems involved in defining and measuring hunger as well as in improving the food supply the authors consider the outlook for future food availability as favorable in terms of continued modest improvement in per capita food supplies at prices adjusted for inflation that are likely to continue the slow decline of recent decades One focus of their comments is the positive roles that governments can and should play in the world food economy especially in support of research creation of human capital and provision of appropriate rural infrastructure
