Socioeconomic Justice Daniela Lai, 2020 Does socioeconomic justice belong within transitional justice This book examines experiences of socioeconomic violence during war that give rise to strong but unheeded justice claims in its aftermath It redefines socioeconomic justice as the redress of violence rooted in the political economy of conflict and transitional justice as a social practice that belongs among grassroots activists as much as in courtrooms and truth commissions It also examines the role of international actors that rely on too narrow and legalistic approaches to transitional justice while also promoting economic reforms that hinder the emergence and pursuit of socioeconomic justice claims by conflict affected communities The book draws on a unique set of in depth interviews with Bosnian communities international officials and grassroots activists to provide new theoretical and empirical insights on the link between justice and political economy on international interventions and on Bosnia's post war and post socialist transformation

The New Bosnian Mosaic Xavier Bougarel,Elissa Helms,Gerlachlus Duijzings,2007 Since the violent events of the Bosnian war and the revelations of ethnic cleansing that shocked the world in the early 1990s Bosnia has become a metaphor for the new ethnic nationalisms for the transformation of warfare in the post Cold War era and for new forms of peacekeeping and state building This book is unique in offering a re examination of the Bosnian case with a bottom up perspective It gathers together cultural anthropologists and other social scientists to consider the specificities of the Bosnian case However the book also raises broader questions what are the consequences of internecine violence and how should societies attempt to overcome them Are the uncertainties and the transformations of Bosnian post war society due entirely to the war or are they related to wider processes encompassing post communist Europe as a whole And are the difficulties experienced by international state building operations mainly due to distinctive features of the local societies or are they due to the policies promoted by the international community itself

Bosnia and the Destruction of Cultural Heritage Dr Helen Walasek, 2015-04-28 The massive intentional destruction of cultural heritage during the 1992-1995 Bosnian War targeting a historically diverse identity provoked global condemnation and became a seminal marker in the discourse on cultural heritage It prompted an urgent reassessment of how cultural property could be protected in times of conflict and led to a more definitive recognition in international humanitarian law that destruction of a people's cultural heritage is an aspect of genocide Yet surprisingly little has been published on the subject This wide ranging book provides the first comprehensive overview and critical analysis of the destruction of Bosnia Herzegovina's cultural heritage and its far reaching impact Scrutinizing the responses of the international community during the war including bodies like UNESCO and the Council of Europe the volume also analyses how after the conflict ended external agendas impinged on heritage reconstruction to the detriment of the broader peace process and refugee return It assesses implementation of Annex 8 of the Dayton Peace Agreement a unique attempt to address the devastation to Bosnia's cultural heritage and examines the treatment of war crimes involving cultural property at the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia ICTY With numerous case studies and plentiful illustrations this important volume considers questions which have moved to the foreground with the inclusion of cultural heritage preservation in discussions of the right to culture in human rights discourse and as a vital element of post conflict and development aid

Innocence and Victimhood Elissa Helms, 2013-12-15 The 1992-95 war in Bosnia Herzegovina following the dissolution of socialist Yugoslavia became notorious for ethnic cleansing and mass rapes targeting the Bosniac Bosnian Muslim population Postwar social and political processes have continued to be dominated by competing nationalisms representing Bosniacs Serbs and Croats as well as those supporting a multiethnic Bosnian state in which narratives of victimhood take center stage often in gendered form Elissa Helms shows that in the aftermath of the war initiatives by and for Bosnian women perpetuated and complicated dominant images of women as victims and peacemakers in a conflict and political system led by men In a sober corrective to such accounts she offers a critical look at the politics of women's activism and gendered nationalism in a postwar and postsocialist society Drawing on ethnographic research spanning fifteen years Innocence and Victimhood demonstrates how women's activists and NGOs responded to challenged and often reinforced essentialist images in affirmative ways utilizing the moral purity associated with the position of victimhood to bolster social claims shape political visions pursue foreign funding and wage campaigns for postwar justice Deeply sensitive to the suffering at the heart of Bosnian women s and men s wartime experiences this book also reveals the limitations to strategies that emphasize innocence and victimhood

Turning-points in post-war Bosnia Christophe Solioz,2005 The tenth anniversary of the Dayton Peace Agreement in December 2005 provides a unique occasion to review its achievements and shortcomings as well as future challenges to be faced both by the international community and Bosnia and Herzegovina itself The country has received huge amounts of attention and inquiry this book outlines some basic trends focusing on three essential issues democratisation and transitions processes country owner ship and potential turning points These issues are addressed in a non dogmatic way in the spirit of constructive criticism The conclusion is that both the EU and Bosnia must take their opportunities and responsibilities now

Building a Multiethnic Military in Post-Yugoslav Bosnia and Herzegovina Elliot Short,2022 On 1 January 2006 soldiers from across Bosnia and Herzegovina gathered to mark the official formation of a unified army and yet little over a decade before these men had been each other s adversaries during the vicious conflict which left the Balkan state divided and impoverished Building a Multi Ethnic Military in Post Yugoslav Bosnia and Herzegovina offers the first analysis of the armed forces during times of peace building in Bosnia and Herzegovina This sophisticated study assesses Yugoslav efforts to build a multi ethnic military during the socialist period charts the developments of the armies that fought in the war and offers a detailed account of the post war international initiatives that led to the creation of the Armed Forces of Bosnia and Herzegovina At this point the military became the largest multi ethnic institution in the country and was regarded as a model for the rest of Bosnian society to follow As such as Elliot Short adroitly contends this multi ethnic army became the most significant act in stabilising the country since the end of the Bosnian War Drawing upon a wealth of primary sources including interviews with leading diplomats and archival documents made available in English for the first time this book explores the social and political role of the Bosnian military and in doing so provides fresh insight into the Yugoslav Wars statehood and national identity and peace building in modern European history

International Intervention and the Problem of Legitimacy Andrew C. Gilbert,2020-08-15 In International Intervention and the Problem of Legitimacy Andrew C Gilbert argues for an ethnographic analysis of international intervention as a series of encounters focusing on the relations of difference and inequality and the question of legitimacy that permeate such encounters He discusses the transformations that happen in everyday engagements between intervention agents and their target populations and also identifies key instabilities that emerge out of such engagements Gilbert highlights the struggles entanglements and inter dependencies between and among foreign agents and the people of Bosnia Herzegovina that channel and shape intervention and how it unfolds Drawing upon nearly two years of fieldwork studying in postwar Bosnia and Herzegovina Gilbert s probing analysis identifies previously overlooked sites processes and effects of international intervention and suggests new comparative opportunities for the study of transnational action that seeks to save and secure human lives and improve the human condition Above all International Intervention and the Problem of Legitimacy foregrounds and analyzes the open ended innovative and unpredictable nature of international intervention that is usually omitted from the ordered representations of the technocratic vision and the confident assertions of many critiques      The Role of the European Union in the Post War Reconstruction of Bosnia-Herzegovina ,1996      Bosnian Fluxes David Henig,Jaroslav Klepal,Ondřej Žíla,2025-08-11 This volume offers unique conceptual and empirical insights into ordinary lives in the violent aftermath of the Cold War Considering Bosnia and Herzegovina as a comprehensive coordinate of larger social political and economic fluxes it demonstrates why the widely used tropes of stuckedness immobility and frozenness associated with post Cold War semiperipheries need to be understood in the context of excessive upheavals that mobilise or suspend modes of belonging care and reckoning Bringing together emerging and leading scholars from across the social sciences with long term research experience in Bosnia and Herzegovina along with scholars who have been documenting similar processes in other parts of the world this volume develops new analytical heuristics and interventions into global post Cold War studies It will be of particular interest to researchers and students of Anthropology Sociology Human Geography Contemporary History and Area Studies along with those studying the history politics economy and culture of semiperipheries      Divide and Fall? Radha Kumar,1997 In a provocative study of how partition exacerbates ethnic conflicts author Radha Kumar compares the Bosnian partition process to earlier partitions of Ireland India Pakistan Israel Palestine and Cyprus under British colonial rule Kumar contends that the shift from divide and rule to divide and self rule stimulated rather than diminished ethnic conflict
