Forestry Paper ,1979 Integrated Bio-economic Land Use Models: an Analysis of the Possibilities of Sustainable Natural Forest Management in the Atlantic Zone of Costa Rica , Guidelines for Economic Appraisal of Watershed Management Projects H. M. Gregersen,1987-01-01 The World's Mangroves, 1980-2005 ,2007-01-01 Mangroves commonly found along sheltered coastlines in the tropics and subtropics fulfil important socio economic and environmental functions providing wood and non wood forest products protecting shores against wind waves and water currents conserving biological diversity protecting coral reefs sea grass beds and shipping lanes against siltation and providing habitat spawning grounds and nutrients for a variety of fish and shellfish including many commercial species High population pressure in coastal areas has however led to the conversion of many mangrove areas to other uses The world s mangroves 1980 2005 prepared in the framework of the Global Forest Resources Assessment 2005 provides comprehensive information on the current and past extent of mangroves in all countries and territories in which they exist This information as well as the gaps in information that come to light in the report will assist mangrove managers and policy and decision makers worldwide in ensuring the conservation management and sustainable use of the world s remaining mangrove ecosystems Forests and Energy Jeremy Broadhead,Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,Wulf Killmann,2008-01-01 This publication consolidates and synthesizes two more comprehensive studies commissioned by FAO in 2007 and published as working papers They are Forests and energy in developing countries by Ivan Tomaselli and Forests and energy in OECD countries by Warren Mabey and Jack Saddler A draft version of the consolidated paper prepared by Douglas Kneeland and Andrea Perlis was distributed at the FAO Conference Special Event Forests and Energy in November 2007 The present edition revised by Jeremy Broadhead and edited by Maria Casa incorporates comments received from member countries Miguel Trossero Simmone Rose Sebastian Hetsch and Gustavo Best also contributed Page vii Forty years of community-based forestry Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2016 Since the 1970s and 1980s community based forestry has grown in popularity based on the concept that local communities when granted sufficient property rights over local forest commons can organize autonomously and develop local institutions to regulate the use of natural resources and manage them sustainably Over time various forms of community based forestry have evolved in different countries but all have at their heart the notion of some level of participation by smallholders and community groups in planning and implementation This publication is FAO s first comprehensive look at the impact of community based forestry since previous reviews in 1991 and 2001 It considers both collaborative regimes forestry practised on land with formal communal tenure requiring collective action and smallholder forestry on land that is generally privately owned The publication examines the extent of community based forestry globally and regionally and assesses its effectiveness in delivering on key biophysical and socioeconomic outcomes i e moving towards sustainable forest management and improving local livelihoods The report is targeted at policy makers practitioners

researchers communities and civil society Forestry for a low-carbon future Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2016 Forests are critical to mitigation having a dual role they function globally as a carbon sink but are also responsible for about 10 to 12 percent of global emissions Forests and forest products offer both developing and developing countries with a wide range of options for timely and cost effective mitigation Afforestation reforestation offers the best option because of its short timescale and ease of implementation Reducing deforestation especially due to the possibility for immediate action Yet forest contributions to mitigation Wood products and wood energy can replace fossil intense products in other sectors creating a virtuous cycle towards low carbon economies The mitigation potential and costs of the various options differ greatly by activity region system boundaries and time horizon Policymakers must decide on the optimal mix of options adapted to local circumstances for meeting national climate change and development goals This publication assesses the options and highlights the enabling conditions opportunities and potential bottlenecks It will be supported by policymakers investors and investors in their climate strategies This publication assesses the options and highlights the enabling conditions opportunities and potential bottlenecks It will be supported by policymakers investors and investors in their climate strategies This publication assesses the options and highlights the enabling conditions opportunities and potential bottlenecks It will be supported by policymakers investors and investors in their climate strategies Forestry Policies of Selected Countries in Asia and the Pacific Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1993-01-01

Best Practices for Improving Law Compliance in the Forestry Sector ,2005-01-01 Significant volumes of timber are illegally felled processed and traded every year Illegal logging and associated trade are a complex issue with far reaching environmental social and economic consequences Various stakeholders at the local national and international levels are making efforts to address the issue Several governments are in the process of rationalizing their legal and policy framework building institutional capacity to foster better law compliance and gathering additional data on the extent and nature of illegal operations Private initiatives such as forest certification voluntary corporate codes of conduct independent monitoring of forest operations and log tracking are also contributing to fighting forest crime This publication provides an overview of these experiences and analyses available knowledge in a set of best practices drawn from 11 country case studies Actes de la Réunion D'Experts Sur la Recherche Forestière ,1993-01-01 Fire Management Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2007-01-01 Fire management is an essential part of sustainable forest management This publication complements the Global Forest Resources Assessment 2005 FRA 2005 as an in depth thematic study on the incidence impact and management of forest fires in different regions of the world It was developed from 12 regional papers prepared within the framework of the Global Wildland Fire Network of the United Nations International Strategy for Disaster Reduction It provides the best estimate of the global fire situation to date and gives a good indication of the scale of the impact of vegetation fires on society on the economy and on the environment This global assessment will be of interest not only to fire specialists but also to policy makers forest managers and those involved in collecting reliable and current information on fire in different types of vegetation It is an important contribution to FAO s efforts to enhance international cooperation in fire management Small-scale Forest-based Processing Enterprises Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,1987-01-01
