Edge Of Violence:

The Edge of Violence Jamie Bartlett, Jonathan Birdwell, Michael King, 2010 The path into terrorism in the name of Islam is often described as a process of radicalisation But to be radical is not necessarily to be violent Violent radicals are clearly enemies of liberal democracies but nonviolent radicals might sometimes be powerful allies This report is a summary of two years research examining the difference between violent and nonviolent radicals in Europe and Canada It represents a step towards a more nuanced understanding of behaviour across radicalised individuals the appeal of the al Qaeda narrative and the role of governments and communities in responding Page 75 Citizenship on the Edge Nancy J.

Hirschmann, Deborah A. Thomas, 2022-01-04 What does it mean to claim two decades into the twenty first century that citizenship is on the edge The questions that animate this volume focus attention on the relationships between liberal conceptions of citizenship and democracy on one hand and sex race and gender on the other Who counts as a citizen in today's world and what are the mechanisms through which the rights benefits and protections of liberal citizenship are differentially bestowed upon diverse groups What are the relationships between global economic processes and political and legal empowerment What forms of violence emerge in order to defend and define these rights benefits and protections and how do these forms of violence reflect long histories How might we recognize and account for the various avenues through which people attempt to make themselves as political subjects Citizenship on the Edge approaches these questions from multiple disciplines including Africana Studies anthropology disability studies film studies gender studies history law political science and sociology Contributors explore the ways in which compounding social inequalities redound to the conditions and expressions of citizenship in the U S and throughout the world They give a sense of the breathtaking range of the ways that citizenship is controlled repressed undercut and denied at the same time as they outline people's attempts to claim citizenship in ways that are meaningful to them From university speech policies to labor and immigration policies to a rethinking of the security theatre to women's empowerment in the family and economy and a rethinking of marriage and the family we see slivers of possibility for a more inclusive and less hostile world in which citizenship is no longer so in doubt so on the edge for so many As a whole the volume argues that citizenship cannot be conceptualized as a transcendent good but must instead always be contextualized within specific places and times and in relation to dynamic struggle Contributors Erez Aloni Ange Marie Hancock Alfaro Nancy J Hirschmann Samantha Majic Valentine M Moghadam Michael Rembis Tracy Robinson Ellen Samuels Kimberly Theidon Deborah A Thomas No Place to Go Nancy Janovicek, 2011-11-01 The first history of the battered women's shelter movement in Canada No Place to Go traces the development of transition houses and services for abused women and the campaign that made wife battering a political issue Nancy Janovicek focuses on women's groups in small cities and rural communities examining anti violence activism in Thunder Bay Kenora Nelson and Moncton She also pays close attention to Aboriginal women in northwestern Ontario where the connections between family violence and the devaluation of indigenous culture in Canadian society complicated efforts to end domestic violence This book lays bare the aims and challenges of establishing women's shelters in non urban areas The local histories presented here show how transition houses became hubs in a larger movement to change attitudes about domestic violence and to lobby for legislation to protect women Teacher Education at the Edge Tonya Huber, James G.
