Essays in the History of Irish Education Brendan Walsh,2016-09-29 This book provides a complete overview of the development of education in Ireland including the complex issue of how religion can coexist with education and how a national identity can be aided through Irish language teaching It also offers a comprehensive exploration of the development issues challenges and future of education in Ireland within the context of historical studies The Life and Times of Daniel Murray Thomas J. Morrissey,Thomas J Morrissey,2021-04-01 Daniel Murray was undoubtedly the outstanding Irish Catholic archbishop of the nineteenth century He was a man of elegance and charm ready to listen to others and to find good in them To the redoubtable Bishop Doyle of Kildare and Leighlin the archbishop was an angel of a man His concern for the education of the poor led to the founding of the Irish Sisters of Charity and the invitation to Dublin of the Sisters of Mercy and the Irish Christian Brothers His interest in the education of the middle class was manifested in the foundation of the Sisters of Loreto and in his support for the schools of the Jesuits and the Vincentians A man of great pastoral energy he built numerous churches and readily encouraged lay involvement in the work of the diocese He was actively involved in assisting the Holy See in the appointment of priests and bishops around the world and his efforts to provide aid to the needy during the Great Famine and the veneration and respect he inspired in his clergy further contributed to the high esteem in which he was held And yet he is a virtually forgotten figure in Irish history This neglect is related to the stance he took on some issues of the day his support for certain government initiatives his opposition to his clergy s involvement in politics and his caution about openly supporting Repeal Innovative Catholicism and the Human Condition Jane Anderson,2016-05-20 Innovative Catholicism and the Human Condition gives an anthropological account of a progressive religious movement in the Roman Catholic Church that is attempting to reconcile religious conviction and reason and ergo modify the human condition Investigation is given to a representative group of this movement Innovative Catholics who are endeavouring to maintain the momentum for change which began in the 1960s and 1970s They now find themselves caught between traditional notions of religion and a secularised society while trying to reconcile these polarising forces to find a pathway forward While ethnographic fieldwork for this research was conducted in Australia this movement is to be found across the Western world The research is framed by the question posed by J rgen Habermas who asks whether the democratic constitutional state is able to renew itself and recognises a benefit in learning from religion Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger subsequently Pope Benedict XVI responds by asserting the need for a common ethical basis and limits on reason This latter position however remains problematic for Innovative Catholics who are conscious of history and culture The research explores how Innovative Catholics who in taking the middle position inform this dialectic on secularization through their ideas and practices about the human condition Waterford's Anglicans Eugene Broderick,2009-10-02 This book explores the religious political and social fortunes of Waterford s minority Church of Ireland community during a turbulent period in Irish history In the decades under consideration an emerging and strident Catholic democracy eroded the power and social position of a once powerful ruling class Waterford's fearful and confused Anglicans took refuge and found consolation in a community which defined itself increasingly in denominational terms This denominationalism came to be characterised by its Protestant evangelicalism and loyalty to the union with Britain A unique insight is given into provincial Anglicanism with a detailed examination of the character of its religious life and practice There is a particular focus on one of the most controversial figures in the nineteenth century Anglican Church Robert Daly Bishop of Waterford 1843-1872 Described by a contemporary as a Protestant Pope this cleric inspired admiration and loathing as he strove to resist the advances of an increasingly confident and vibrant Catholic Church Studies of bishops of the nineteenth century Protestant Church have been largely conspicuous by their absence but this book makes a valuable and original contribution to a glaring hole in this area of historiography This study of Waterford's Anglicans adds significantly to our understanding of the nature of Irish Protestantism at a time of crisis and decline

Transnationalism, Gender and the History of Education Deirdre Raftery, Marie Clarke, 2018-10-03 In the past decade historians have begun to make use of the optic of transnationalism a perspective used traditionally by social anthropologists and sociologists in their study of the movement and flow of ideas between continents and countries Historical scholarship has adopted this tool and in this book historians of education use it to add nuance and depth to research on gender and education and particularly to the education experiences of women and girls The book brings together a group of internationally regarded scholars who are doing important research on transnationalism and the social construction of gender with particular reference to education environments such as schools and colleges The book is therefore very much at the cutting edge of theoretical and methodological advances in the history of education This book was originally published as a special issue of the History of Education The Political,

Economic, Cultural and Biological Suicide of Ireland Seán Ó Nualláin, 2022-07-08 This book explores the wilful self destruction of Ireland since the mid 1990s It proposes that a Celtic confederation should co exist with the UK in IONA The high resource low population density countries of Ireland and Scotland should reach out to their peers in Wales and England with an offer of belonging An immense and beautiful new possibility is proposed to replace the current illegal congeries

Faith in Rights Amélie Barras, 2024-09-24 Faith in Rights explores why and how Christian nongovernmental organizations conduct human rights work at the United Nations The book interrogates the idea that the secular and the religious are distinct categories and more specifically that human rights understood as secular can be neatly distinguished from religion It argues that Christianity is deeply entangled in the texture of the United Nations and shapes the methods and areas of work of Christian NGOs To capture these entanglements Amélie Barras analyzes through interviews ethnography and document and archive analysis the everyday human rights work of Christian NGOs at the United Nations Human Rights Council She documents how these NGOs are involved in a constant work of double translation they translate their human rights work into a religious language to make it relevant to their on the ground membership but they also reframe the concerns of their membership in human rights terms to make them audible to UN actors Faith in Rights is a crucial new evaluation of how religion informs Christian nongovernmental organizations understandings of human rights and their methods of work as well as how being engaged in human rights work influences these organizations own religious identity and practice

Charity and Social Welfare Leen Van Molle, 2017-03-21 How churches in Northern Europe reinvented their role as providers of social relief Charity is a word that fits well in the history of religion and churches whereas the concept of social reform seems to belong more to the vocabulary of the modern welfare states Christian charity found itself during the long nineteenth century within the maelstrom of social turmoil In this context of social unrest although charity managed to confirm its relevance it was also subjected to fierce criticism as well as to substitute state run forms of social care and insurance The history of the welfare states remained all too blind to religion This fourth volume in the series Dynamics of Religious Reform unravels how the churches in Britain and Ireland Denmark Sweden and Norway Germany the Netherlands and Belgium shaped and adjusted their understanding of poverty It reveals how they struggled with the social question and often also with the modern nation states to which they belonged Either in the periphery of public assistance or in a dynamic interplay with the state political parties and society at large the churches reinvented their tradition as providers of social relief Contributors Andreas Holzem Universität Tübingen Daire Keogh St Patrick's College Dublin City University Frances Knight The University of Nottingham Nina Koefoed Aarhus Universitet Katharina Kunter Germany Bernhard Schneider Universität Trier Aud V.
