The Tradition of Women's Autobiography Estelle C. Jelinek, 2004-03-19      Modernity and Autobiography in Nineteenth-Century America James E. Dobson, 2017-09-14 This book examines temporal and formal disruptions found in American autobiographical narratives produced during the end of the nineteenth century It argues that disruptions were primarily the result of encounters with new communication and transportation technologies Through readings of major autobiographical works of the period James E Dobson argues that the range of affective responses to writing communicating and traveling at increasing speed and distance were registered in this literature's formal innovation These autobiographical works Dobson claims complicate our understanding of the lived experience of time temporality and existing accounts of periodization This study first examines the competing views of space and time in the nineteenth century and then moves to examine how high speed train travel altered American literary regionalism the region and history Later chapters examine two narratives of failed homecoming that are deeply ambivalent about modernity and technology Henry James's The American Scene and Theodore Dreiser's A Hoosier Holiday before a reading of the telephone network as a metaphor for historiography and autobiography in Henry Adams's The Education of Henry Adams

Realist Poetics in American Culture, 1866-1900 Elizabeth Renker, 2018-05-28 The terms poetry and realism have a complex and often oppositional relationship in American literary histories of the postbellum period The core narrative holds that realism the major literary movement of the era developed apace in prose fiction while poetry stuck in a hopelessly idealist late Romantic mode languished and stagnated Poetry is almost entirely absent from scholarship on American literary realism except as the emblem of realism's opposite a desiccated genteel twilight of the poets Realist Poetics in American Culture 1866 1900 refutes the familiar narrative of postbellum poetics as a scene of failure and it recovers the active and variegated practices of a diverse array of realist poets across print culture The triumph of the twilight tale in the twentieth century obscured minimized and flattened the many poetic discourses of the age including but not limited to a significant body of realist poems currently missing from US literary histories Excavating an extensive archive of realist poems the volume offers a significant revision to the genre exclusive story of realism and by extension to the very foundations of postbellum American literary history dating back to the earliest stages of the discipline

Representations of Childhood in American Modernism Mason Phillips, 2016-10-31 This book documents American modernism's efforts to disenchant adult and child readers alike of the essentialist view of childhood as redemptive originary and universal For James Barnes Du Bois and Stein the twentieth century's move to position the child at the center of the self and society raised concerns about the shrinking value of maturity and prompted a critical response that imagined childhood and children's narratives in ways virtually antagonistic to both In this original study Mason Phillips argues that American modernism's widespread critique of childhood led to some of the period's most meaningful and most misunderstood experiments with
