Educating for a Culture of Social and Ecological Peace Anita L. Wenden, 2012-02-01 Acknowledging the dual notions of danger and opportunity that present themselves in contemporary social and ecological crises this book explores how both peace and environmental education can transform the way we think and what we value The book outlines the link between social violence and ecological degradation and the need to educate for the purpose of achieving social and ecological peace Specialists in peace and environmental education offer a holistic and integrated approach on educating about these problems and challenges They also provide educational strategies such as curricular frameworks and pedagogical innovations appropriate for both formal and informal settings and case studies and examples that illustrate their application

Ecojustice Adult Education: Theory and Practice in the Cultivation of the Cultural Commons Audrey M. Dentith, Wendy Griswold, 2017-03-31 As ecological issues increase and concern worldwide is mounting about the changing nature of work and cultural life the field of adult education must respond Adult education holds much potential for its ability to highlight cultural knowledge promote change and maximize the capacity of adults to work together in strengthening mutually supportive communities that contribute to a sustainable future It is imperative that we re educate adults about productive but sustainable work and stronger local community living within an understanding of the relational being and the interdependency of all things This edited collection explores the cultural roots of the ecological cultural crisis and its relationship to adult education The development of sound practices and new cultural understandings among adults are emphasized Certainly there exists evidence of small grassroots work that builds hope and skills for the coming of a new age of sustainable and just life This volume discusses the Connections between sustainability environmental and ecojustice education Forms of radical sustainability adult education Established cultural institutions as potential agents of change Principles of ecojustice education and Implementation of these principles in formal and community education settings This is the 153rd volume of the Jossey Bass series New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education Noted for its depth of coverage it explores issues of common interest to instructors administrators counselors and policymakers in a broad range of education settings such as colleges and universities extension programs businesses libraries and museums International Handbook of Research on Environmental Education Robert B. Stevenson, Michael Brody, Justin Dillon, Arjen E.J. Wals, 2013-05-02 The environment and contested notions of sustainability are increasingly topics of public interest political debate and legislation across the world Environmental education journals now publish research from a wide variety of methodological traditions that show linkages between the environment health development and education The growth in scholarship makes this an opportune time to review and synthesize the knowledge base of the environmental education EE field The purpose of this 51 chapter handbook is not only to illuminate the most important concepts findings and theories that have been developed by EE research but also to critically examine the historical progression of the field its current debates and controversies what is still missing from the EE research agenda and where that agenda might be headed Published for the American Educational Research Association AERA Social Education for Peace C. Carter, 2015-04-08 Carter

Rod Gerber, M. Williams, 2013-04-17 An important challenge for our world is to understand how cultural understanding and geographical education can be linked and used to improve the global society We readily accept that our world is constituted by numerous groups of people who are organised by committees tribes regions nations or continental entities How these groups interact show concern for each others well being and progress is still an unpredictable activity Intercultural tensions racial conflicts and religious clashes have all led to the challenges for enacting a constructive world Fundamental perspectives challenge moderate ones and the resulting tensions produce elements of fear doubt and distrust The extremist views of terrorist groups exaggerate these tensions to the extent that some different cultural groups do not prefer to live in peace with their neighbours Deep seated intercultural tensions predominate over peaceful co existence Such challenges may easily dominate the interaction between racial groups tribes indigenous peoples and colonisers However we know that through the sound practice of intercultural understanding cultural groups in different contexts around the world can interact and co exist successfully and productively In fact they can work together to seek to improve their society This does not mean that one group will dominate the other Rather it means that both groups work together to improve their collective lives Education has played an important role in the long term achievement of such harmony This volume has been developed to demonstrate that geographical education can be a potent force in the development of cultural understanding in different societies

Handbook of Research in Social Studies Education Linda S. Levstik,Cynthia A. Tyson,2010-04-15 This Handbook outlines the current state of research in social studies education a complex dynamic challenging field with competing perspectives about appropriate goals and on going conflict over the content of the curriculum Equally important it encourages new research in order to advance the field and foster civic competence long maintained by advocates for the social studies as a fundamental goal In considering how to organize the Handbook the editors searched out definitions of social studies statements of purpose and themes that linked or divided theory research and practices and established criteria for topics to include Each chapter meets one or more of these criteria research activity since the last Handbook that warrants a new analysis topics representing a major emphasis in the NCSS standards and topics reflecting an emerging or reemerging field within the social studies The volume is organized around seven themes Change and Continuity in Social Studies Civic Competence in Pluralist Democracies Social Justice and the Social Studies Assessment and Accountability Teaching and Learning in the Disciplines Information Ecologies Technology in the Social Studies Teacher Preparation and Development The Handbook of Research in Social Studies is a must have resource for all beginning and experienced researchers in the field

Environment, Education and Society in the Asia-Pacific John Fien,Helen Sykes,David Yencken,2003-09-02 This important book explores the interaction of global environmental discourses and local traditions and practices in twelve countries in the Asia Pacific region Based upon two parallel groups of studies reviewing cultural influences in individual countries and the attitudes of young people across the region it has important implications for environmental policy and education

Social Justice, Peace, and Environmental Education Julie Andrzejewski,Marta Baltodano,Linda Symcox,2009-04-01 The concept of standards seems antithetical to the ways critical educators are dedicated to teaching but what would standards look like if they were generated from social justice perspectives and through collaborative and inclusive processes Such is the central question posed by the contributors of this groundbreaking collection on the interconnectivity of social justice peace and environmental preservation Challenging education that promotes consumerism careerism and corporate profiteering they boldly offer examples of a new paradigm for practicing a transformative critical pedagogy Rather than just talking about coalition building within and across educational communities they demonstrate how we might communicate from different vantage points and disciplinary boundaries to create a broader picture of social and eco justice Social Justice Peace and Environmental Education will be required reading for educators and students who want to envision and practice living acting and teaching for a better world more attention is devoted to the increasing and complex socio ecological issues facing the planet new insights and new ways of thinking are being sought about the learning and agency of children and adults in relation to these environmental concerns The contributors to this book address the critically important dual challenge of making environmental education engaging while engaging individuals institutions and communities Rather than treating students and citizens as passive recipients of other people s knowledge the book highlights the importance of engaging learners as active agents in thinking about and constructing a more sustainable and equitable quality of life The case studies emphasize socio cultural approaches to environmental learning within and outside formal education in a diverse range of international contexts including Canada Denmark Korea the Netherlands South Africa Sweden the United Kingdom and the United States The authors not only illuminate the challenges and complexity of engaging youth and adults in meaningful learning as well as informed action on complex environmental issues but also document and offer important insights into promising ways in which these challenges might be addressed In addition to the many stimulating ideas and strategies for building the learning capacities of individuals and organizations for creating ecologically sustainable communities and societies further important questions are raised that educators policymakers and researchers might consider Educating About/for Food Security Through Environmental Education Alishia A.
