Educating The Able:

Educating the Able Diane Montgomery, 1996 The purpose of this book is to enable teachers to develop explicit criteria for identifying and helping able pupils After discussing the nature of ability and talent and identifying the able child Diane Montgomery examines curriculum provision paying particular attention to the National Curriculum and surveying different types of provision acceleration enrichment and differentiation She then describes methods of teaching for critical thinking The book ends with a chapter on helping the underfunctioning able child Throughout there are numerous examples and practical suggestions Teachers in primary and secondary schools as well as in higher education will find this book invaluable both as an introduction to the area and as a source of ideas

Educating Able Learners June Cox, Neil Daniel, Bruce O. Boston, 1985 The text reports on findings of the Richardson study a 4 year examination of current programming for gifted and talented students An introductory chapter comments upon current attention to gifted education and summarizes reflections on home and school influences of MacArthur Fellows Chapter 2 reviews results of a national survey of school districts programming which touched upon such aspects as programming options identification grade levels and written philosophy The third chapter identifies five promising practices and describes examples of each 1 internationally oriented education 2 internships and mentor programs 3 school and college collaboration 4 summer programs geared to excellence and 5 specialized schools The final chapter presents recommendations regarding discovering and nurturing talent providing for flexible pacing and ensuring comprehensive programs An imaginary district with an ideal program is cited The Pyramid Project a model Texas program is discussed as an example of the study's recommendations Cl
