Education For Empowerment The Practice And Philosophies Of Black Teachers:

Education for Empowerment Christine Callender, 1997 Based on a study of six black teachers the author's analysis of finely grained qualitative and quantitative data suggests that it is possible to speak in terms of a black teaching style a style most relevant and comfortable for black children Black Women in the Ivory Tower, 1850-1954 Stephanie Y.

Evans, 2016-12-01 Evans chronicles the stories of African American women who struggled for and won access to formal education beginning in 1850 when Lucy Stanton a student at Oberlin College earned the first college diploma conferred on an African American woman In the century between the Civil War and the civil rights movement a critical increase in black women's educational attainment mirrored unprecedented national growth in American education Evans reveals how black women demanded space as students and asserted their voices as educators despite such barriers as violence discrimination and oppressive campus policies contributing in significant ways to higher education in the United States She argues that their experiences ideas and practices can inspire contemporary educators to create an intellectual democracy in which all people have a voice Among those Evans profiles are Anna Julia Cooper who was born enslaved yet ultimately earned a doctoral degree from the Sorbonne and Mary McLeod Bethune founder of Bethune Cookman College Exposing the hypocrisy in American assertions of democracy and discrediting European notions of intellectual superiority Cooper argued that all human beings had a right to grow Bethune believed that education is the right of all citizens in a democracy Both women's philosophies raised questions of how human and civil rights are intertwined with educational access scholarly research pedagogy and community service This first complete educational and intellectual history of black women carefully traces quantitative research explores black women's collegiate memories and identifies significant geographic patterns in America's institutional development Evans reveals historic perspectives patterns and philosophies in academia that will be an important reference for scholars of gender race and education Resources in Education, 2001 ECRM2008-Proceedings of the 7th European Conference on Research Methods Ann Brown, 2008 Challenging Democracy Madeleine Arnot, Jo-Anne Dillabough, 2014-02-04 This collection establishes a highly topical new international field of study that of gender education and citizenship It brings together for the first time important cutting edge research on the contribution of the educational system to the formation of male and female citizens It shows how gender relations operate behind apparently neutral concepts of liberal democratic citizenship and citizenship education The editors asked leading international educationalists to describe the theoretical frameworks and methodologies they used to research gender and citizenship Challenging Democracy suggests ways in which the educational system could help develop genuinely inclusive democratic societies in which men and women play an equal role in shaping the meaning of citizenship Asian Children at Home and at School Ghazala Bhatti, 2002-01-04 This book is an ethnographic study of a comprehensive school in the south of England It explores the views of teachers Asian parents and their children concerning education and schooling Young people between the ages of 13 and 18 were studied at home and at school and their experiences form the main focus of the study The experiences of fifty Pakistani Bangladeshi and Indian families mostly of Muslim faith are studied with a view to discovering what parents expect from their children s school and how the teachers perceive their own role with regard to their students These young people are the first generation of Asians to be educated in Britain Their location in terms of their social class positions gender and ethnicity are inextricably bound together They describe how they see their past and their future This is the first study to take account of boys and girls in order to capture the complexity of their lived experiences

The Routledge Education Studies Textbook James Arthur,Ian Davies,2012-11-12 The Routledge Education Studies Textbook is an academically wide ranging and appropriately challenging resource for students beyond the introductory stages of a degree programme in Education Studies Written in a clear and engaging style the chapters are divided into three sections that examine fundamental ideas and issues explore educational contexts and offer study and research guidance respectively To support the development of critical thinking debates between contributors are interspersed within sections and address the following questions Do private schools legitimise privilege Should the liberal state support religious schooling Are developments in post 14 education reducing the divide between the academic and the vocational Do schools contribute to social and community cohesion Do traditional and progressive teaching methods exist or are there only effective and ineffective methods Educational Research a foundation for teacher professionalism Each chapter opens with an overview of the rationale behind it and closes with a summary of the main points At the end of every chapter key questions are posed encouraging the student to critically reflect on the content and suggestions for further reading are made The Routledge Education Studies Textbook is essential reading for students of Education Studies especially during second and third years of the undergraduate degree It will be of interest to trainee teachers including those working towards M Level A companion volume The Routledge Education Studies Reader by the same editors contains key classic and contemporary academic articles and has been designed to be used alongside this Textbook

Mediterranean Protected Areas in the Era of Overtourism Ante Mandić,Lidija Petrić,2021-04-19 This book comprises studies that reflect on various influences of excessive tourism development in protected areas and solutions designed and initiated to mitigate such challenges A large proportion of tourism in Mediterranean destinations constitutes nature based tourism in particular tourism in parks and protected areas As a destination experiences higher intensity and density of tourism the potential conflict between maintaining a healthy natural environment and economic development also increases This has urged planners and decision makers to devise and adopt innovative approaches that seek to strike a balance between tourism development and nature conservation This book demonstrates the importance of collaboration across and beyond disciplines and of all groups of stakeholders for maximization of societal impacts and tourism related benefits
