Education For Older People Another View Of Mainstreaming:

Education for Older People June Sark Heinrich, 1982 There is a strong case to be made for mainstreaming older people into regular classes and schools rather than segregating them in special separate groups on the basis of age Many older Americans are in need of elementary secondary level training in order to become functionally literate Similarly the continually changing nature of work has forced many middle aged and older adults to seek vocational training or retraining The decline in enrollment and financial problems currently being faced by institutions at all educational levels make the mainstreaming of adults into regular classrooms not only feasible but economically advantageous While it is true that education has traditionally meant education of the young America has manifested a historical trend toward all inclusive education Many of the traditional assumptions underlying American education would tend to support the mainstreaming of older adults into regular classrooms Included among these are the notions of education as preparation education as continuous growth and education as an end What is needed now is an age inclusive system of education in which schooling would no longer be viewed as preparation of youth but rather as a lifelong process MN Resources in Education ,1998

Peer Supervision Daniel A. Heller, 1989 This monograph describes peer supervision as a helping relationship rather than an evaluative one The need for peer supervision is discussed and how to start such a program is described Some practical issues are considered Suggestions are made on funding and institutionalizing a peer supervision program Eight brief case histories of peer supervision in action illustrate the effectiveness of this program JD Career Beginnings William M. Bloomfield, 1989 Career Beginnings CB is a national program begun in 1985 to increase the likelihood of minority and other disadvantaged urban students to participate in postsecondary education or to obtain a good job CB unites high schools businesses and local colleges in working partnerships to develop the potential of moderately achieving high school students and help them overcome their social and educational deficiencies by exposing them to the college environment and the world of work in a personal way The program provides the following services 1 college and career preparation 2 summer and school year work experience 3 academic tutoring 4 counseling and support services and 5 individual guidance and encouragement from adult mentors from the business and professional communities Participants are targeted during the beginning of their junior year in high school and attend a series of structured workshops to assist them make the transition from youth to adulthood Each student is matched with a mentor who meets with the student at least once a month to discuss career and college planning Students have the opportunity to work in entry level jobs with career potential to teach them the demands of the workplace Ongoing advising advocacy and counseling is provided year round to keep the student focused on his her goals In the first three years of the program 95 percent of the participants graduated from high school 65 percent attended college and 80 percent of those students completed their second year of college In October 1988 90 percent of the graduates were either in college enrolled in training programs in the military or on the job A list of 16 references and a list of titles in the Phi Delta Kappa Fastback Series are appended FMW Grievance Arbitration in Education Ned B. Myers, 1984 Intended for use by secondary school teachers in all subject areas this booklet provides research based information designed to make writing a learning process Following brief discussions of the writing to learn concept the importance of writing in all curricular areas and steps in developing a writing across the curriculum program the booklet provides writing ideas and suggestions for the following subject areas language arts social studies science mathematics industrial arts business and vocational studies art and music and home economics Among the activities discussed are 1 writing journals 2 writing in response to films 3 preparing oral histories 4 writing limericks 5 creating logic problems 6 preparing written interviews 7 setting up a research and development report 8 writing in response to music or art 9 career investigations and 10 writing business letters FL Teacher Career Stages Peter Burke, Ralph Fessler, Judith Christensen, 1984 Literature on adult life stages and career development is synthesized and placed within the perspective of a career cycle model for teachers as adult learners The teacher career cycle is viewed as a progression affected by personal and environmental factors The stages a teacher's career proceeds through e g preservice entry growing stable exit are described as not necessarily linear but frequently cyclical Scenarios are given of the cyclical development of four teachers each of whom is required by circumstances to change or reverse directions to develop professionally Implications for inservice education include 1 Traditional inservice activities that emphasize improved teaching skills are appropriate at certain points in a teacher's career particularly during skill building periods 2 The concept of staff development and professional growth should be broadened to include concern for personal needs and problems of teachers 3 Organizational policies should provide support for teachers at various stages of the teacher career cycle and 4 Approaches to staff development and professional growth should emphasize personalized individualized support systems JD The School's Role in Educating Severely Handicapped Students Barbara L. Ludlow, Richard Sobsey, 1984 Teacher Preparation and Certification John P. Sikula, Robert A. Roth, 1984 This booklet discusses changes taking place in the four major processes involved in preparing and certifying teachers national accreditation state program approval state certification and teacher preparation Some of the major issues affecting these processes such as teacher competency testing and teaching internships are discussed and the impact of changes in these four processes are examined Three specific areas are identified as in need of strengthening 1 evaluation of teacher preparation programs including national accreditation and state program approval 2 requirements for entering and remaining in the profession including certification regulations and procedures and 3 preparation of teachers including program entrance and exit requirements Case studies are presented of successful reforms in Florida Oklahoma and the University of Louisville Kentucky JD Master Teachers Richard W. Moore, 1984 A nationwide interest in master teacher plans has arisen as a response to the general malaise in education but the viability of such plans depends on finding answers to certain crucial problems Some basic issues must be addressed before master teachers can even be identified whether a hierarchy of teachers should be established or prior conditions be met for appointing master teachers or a maximum number of master teachers per district be set Master teachers have generally been recognized through their superior knowledge of the subject as well as for their teaching skills and ability to command respect Tests can accurately determine a teacher's knowledge of the subject area teaching skills may be measured against predetermined school objectives with professional teams judging teachers performance ability to work with others command respect can be gauged by a comprehensive file on teachers The much discussed criterion of producing demonstrable results in students is difficult to measure with public school populations and so should be suspended until it can be more accurately and fairly measured Once master teachers are identified local districts must consider contract provisions for special roles in school programs and special compensation Moreover school districts must cooperate with government and university in funding and training for master teacher plans JW Issues and Innovations in Foreign Language Education Jacqueline

Benevento, 1985 Studies indicate that American students have an inadequate understanding of world affairs with implications for United States national security business interests in foreign markets and education in general and specific recommendations have been made for the improvement of foreign language instruction Foreign language education in the 1980s reflects fundamental changes in philosophy and objectives and leaders in foreign language education agree that the fundamental objective is the ability to use language in meaningful ways With this shift in approach changes are necessary in program content instructional materials and learning activities Innovations include elementary school programs emphasizing language use in real life situations immersion exploratory programs schools of international studies the international baccalaureate and instruction beyond the classroom The global education movement in social studies has been especially relevant for foreign language study and technological applications in foreign language instruction are being updated to emphasize communication Another current emphasis is on assessment of language proficiency Improvement in preservice teacher education while indicated has been difficult but a variety of inservice development options are available and professional associations are an important source of assistance A need exists for additional research and promotion of public awareness of foreign language study MSE Promoting Voluntary Reading in School and Home Lesley Mandel Morrow,1985 This booklet describes methods that teachers can use in recreational reading in early childhood and elementary classrooms and suggests ways to help parents promote voluntary reading in their children The first section deals with Promoting Voluntary Reading through Classroom Library Corners Discussed are the value of classroom library corners their physical features their management books and materials to use and how to integrate instructional activities with the library corner Comments of teachers and students about library corners are included The second section deals with The Teacher as Facilitator of Voluntary Reading Teacher attitudes recreational reading periods and reading activities for children are discussed The third section deals with Promoting Voluntary Reading in the Home Discussed are research on home influence on voluntary reading what teachers can do to promote voluntary reading at home and parents responses to home reading programs Also included is a parents checklist for promoting voluntary reading at home The concluding section discusses Reading by Choice Not by Coercion The booklet concludes with references RM Teaching about Nuclear Disarmament James M.
