Gormley-Heenan, 2006-11-14 By providing a critical interpretation of political leadership during the Northern Ireland peace process Gormley Heenan shows the leadership lens offers insights not offered by conventional analyses of peacemaking processes The book discusses the confusions contradictions and chameleonic nature of leadership South Africa's Brittle Peace P. Toit, 2001-03-13 South Africa has succeeded in and its role capacity and effect establishing a democracy but has yet to eliminate public violence from society This book takes up the issue of post settlement violence and ways of consolidating the newly found democratic peace The role of negotiated institutions such as the new police force economic factors relevant to the anticipated peace dividend external factors such as arms smuggling networks popular responses to rising threats to physical safety and symbolic factors in enhancing the capacity of the state to deal with Restructuring South Africa John D. Brewer, 2016-07-27 The volume assesses whether or not this issue are examined South Africa can achieve peace and stability following the violence chaos and disorder that has accompanied the transition from apartheid Some chapters examine important aspects which define the current period of chaos in order to evaluate the prospects of the disorder coming to an end Others address key areas of reform by which peace and stability could be restored in order to assess the likelihood of this being acheived Inclusion in Post-Conflict Legislatures Michael Potter, 2019-09-10 An excellent analysis of the complex dynamics of inclusion in post conflict societies theoretically grounded empirically rich and with a well informed set of policy relevant insights and recommendations with implications far beyond the cases of Kosovo and Northern Ireland Stefan Wolff University of Birmingham UK Does the promotion of political accommodation between the contending parties in an ethno nationalist conflict disadvantage other groups in society This important question is at the heart of Michael Potter's nuanced study of post settlement parliaments in Kosovo and Northern Ireland in which he probes their record of representativeness focusing on gender and ethnicity His meticulous research drawing on extensive fieldwork shows that the domination of the parliaments by parties aligned to the conflict does indeed tend to marginalise other identities His findings provide plenty of food for thought for practitioners in the field of conflict resolution In particular they underline the need for care in the design of institutional arrangements for deeply divided societies so as to minimise potentially negative consequences that priority for accommodation and reconciliation may have for other issues and for the practice of inclusion Adrian Guelke Queen's University Belfast UK Identity is a central organising principle of politics in the 21st century In this impressive book Michael Potter shows that a focus on gender and minority ethnic identities in newly formed post conflict assemblies provides a unique litmus test of the robustness of democratic politics He analyses the cases of Kosovo and Northern Ireland with rigour and considerable insight This book makes a highly original and lasting contribution to theory and practice in post conflict settings world wide Yvonne Galligan Dublin Institute of Technology Ireland This book examines inclusion in post conflict legislatures using Northern Ireland and Kosovo as case studies and gender and minority ethnicity as indicators The analysis uses an adapted framework developed by Yvonne Galligan and Sara Clavero to measure inclusion across a range of factors associated with deliberative democratic principles The logic is that political systems designed to accommodate communities in conflict will prioritise certain identities over others The aim of the book is to investigate how identities not directly associated with a conflict fare in a political system designed to manage identities in conflict The book looks comparatively at the conflicts in Kosovo and Northern Ireland then discusses approaches to conflict management describing how political institutions were designed in those contexts The themes of women and minority identities in those conflicts are then explored with a view to examining the extent of inclusion in the Northern Ireland and Kosovo Assemblies From Conflict Resolution to Reconciliation Yaacov Bar-Siman-Tov, 2004-01-08 This volume represents an important new step forward in the fields of conflict resolution and peace studies Its essays argue that while conflict resolution is well equipped to bring about temporary settlements and brief periods of peace in volatile situations conventional conflict resolution techniques are not capable of building long term stability Instead the authors contend practitioners of conflict resolution need to focus more on reconciliation the restoration of confidence friendship and harmony between rivals than on mere conflict resolution Whereas traditional conflict resolution has focused primarily on halting quarrels with agreements between leaders on each side of a conflict reconciliation techniques shift the focus in two ways First they take more of a grassroots approach building agreement among the members of rival communities not only between leaders Second reconciliation takes a long term view of dispute resolution While the authors acknowledge that the role of traditional conflict resolution is important in stopping violence and tension they argue that in order to achieve stable peace negotiators and practitioners of conflict resolution must focus much more on what is to be done after an agreement among leaders is reached Mobilizing for Peace Benjamin Gidron, Stanley N. Katz, Yeheskel Hasenfeld, 2002-06-28 Mobilizing for Peace brings together the work of international experts to provide an in depth study of thirty three peace conflict organizations in Northern Ireland South Africa and Israel Palestine The contributors show how the sociopolitical and cultural context of the conflict in each region has shaped the type of resolution organizations that have emerged and their conception of the conflict and its resolution By promoting more humane images of the contestants and by offering alternative peaceful approaches to resolve the conflict the organizations have successfully galvanized previously weak or non existent pro peace political forces to become important players in the political struggle for peace

Rick Halpern, Jonathan Morris, 1997-08-12 The idea that American historical development is different from that of other nations is an old one yet it shows no sign of losing its emotive power Exceptionalism continues to excite beguile and frustrate students of the American past The essays in this volume explore the ways in which the process of class formation in the United States can be said to be distinctive Focusing upon the impact of liberal political thought race and immigration and the role of the war time state they challenge particularist and nation centred modes of explanation Comparing American historical development with Italian South African and Australian examples the essays reinvigorate a tired debate

Policing and Crime Control in Post-apartheid South Africa Anne-Marie Singh, 2016-04-22 Once a marginal political issue crime control now occupies a central place on the social political and economic agenda of contemporary liberal democracies Nowhere more so than in post apartheid South Africa where the transition from apartheid rule to democratic rule was marked by a shift in concern from political to criminal violence In this book Anne Marie Singh offers a comprehensive account of policing transformations in post apartheid South Africa Her analysis of crime and mechanisms for its control is linked to an analysis of neo liberal policies providing the basis for a critique of existing analyses of liberal democratic governance Themes addressed in the book include the exercise of coercive authority state and non state expertise in policing the rationally choosing criminal and the importance of developing an active and responsible citizenship Civil Society, Post-Colonialism and Transnational Solidarity Marie-Violaine Louvet, 2016-06-28 Civil Society Post Colonialism and Transnational Solidarity originates from Louvet's observation of the strong commitment of a layer of Irish civil society from the man on the street to political parties associations and trade unions to the defence of one antagonist or the other in the Israeli Palestinian conflict beginning with the Six Day War in 1967 and increasingly so after the Lebanon Wars at the start of the 1980s and the Second Intifada 2000 2005 This book observes how this phenomenon is particularly striking in Northern Ireland where Israeli and Palestinian flags have been flown by Unionists and Nationalists as signs of solidarity and identification Louvet sheds light on the dynamics and strategies at play in the Middle East conflict in Northern Ireland but also in the Republic of Ireland a country considered to be widely sympathetic to the Palestinian cause With an overarching perspective highlighting the influence of Irish colonial history over the motives and discourse of the different levels of mobilization in civil society this book shows the global movement towards the fragmentation and specialization of transnational solidarity actions in Ireland Political Science in South Africa Peter Vale, Pieter Fourie, 2016-01-13 In 2013 and in 2014 respectively the South African Association of Political Studies SAAPS and Politikon the South African Journal of Political Studies celebrate their 40th anniversary Also in April 2014 South Africa celebrates twenty years since the advent of the post Apartheid democracy and the birth of the rainbow nation This book provides a timely account of the birth and evolution of South African politics over the past four decades but also of the study of Political Science and International Relations in this country Fourteen political scientists contribute chapters to this volume situating the study of politics within its global context and recounting the development of politics as a field of study at South African universities The fourteen contributions evaluate the state of the discipline s and suggest conclusions that are surprising and in many instances unsettling not only with regards to what and how politics is taught but also how its study has variously gained and lost pertinence for South Africans understanding of their own polity as well as its place in the world The implications are uncomfortable and pose interesting challenges for South African scholarship pedagogy and national self reflection This book was published as a special issue of Politikon
