Motion Curtis Wilson, 2010-06-03 The Hill Brown theory of the Moon's motion was constructed in the years from 1877 to 1908 and adopted as the basis for the lunar ephemerides in the nautical almanacs of the US UK Germany France and Spain beginning in 1923 At that time and for some decades afterward it was the most accurate lunar theory ever constructed Its accuracy was due first to a novel choice of intermediary orbit or first approximation more nearly closing in on the Moon's actual motion than any elliptical orbit ever could and secondly to the care and discernment and stick to itiveness with which the further approximations perturbations to this initial orbit had been computed and assembled so as to yield a final theory approximating the Moon's path in real space with an accuracy of a hundredth of an arc second or better The method by which the Hill Brown lunar theory was developed held the potentiality for still greater accuracy The intermediary orbit of the Hill Brown theory may be described as a periodic solution of a simplified three body problem with numerical parameters carried to 15 decimal places George William Hill a young American mathematician working for the U S Nautical Almanac Office had proposed it and computed the numerical parameters to their 15 places A self effacing loner he had in his privately pursued studies come to see that the contemporary attempts at predicting the Moon's motion were guaranteed to fail in achieving a lunar ephemeris of the accuracy desired      The Nautical Almanac and Astronomical Ephemeris for the Year ...
