

CORTEX RUBER, OR RED BARK. 293

The flowers begin to appear at the commencement of the rainy season in beautiful tufts, upon pannicles branched out in threes and fours. I have never seen that species described by Jacquin and found at the Havannah, pedunculis unifloris.

Before the corolla is fully expanded, and the stamina make their appearance without the tube of the corolla, the flower is white, but it afterwards turns to a beautiful purple. Then dropping off, the germen enlarges to the size of an hazle-nut, oblong and round. It gradually dries, bursts in two, and scatters the seeds, which fall to the ground and again take root.

The wood of the tree is light, spongy, and fit for no useful purpose. It has not the bitter taste of the bark. The leaves are very bitter, and the flowers, seeds, &c. seem to possess the bitterness and astringency in a more eminent degree.

An ounce of the bark in fine powder infused in a quart of cold water for twenty-four hours, and the infusion afterwards filtered, appears higher coloured than a decoction made with double the quantity of the old bark. The colour which it strikes with the tinct. flor. martial. and sal martis, is likewise of a deeper black. The spirituous tincture is of a deep red colour, and strikes a deep black by the addition of the preparations of iron.

The taste of the Cinchona Caribæa is manifestly more astringent than the taste of the old bark; an inference may therefore, a priori, be made, that its tonic powers are greater.

The quantity of resin which it yields is much more considerable, and an extract made with both spirits and water, seems to possess the whole virtues of the bark.
