In February 2014 the Yale Law Journal held a symposium at Yale Law School marking the fiftieth anniversary of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the simultaneous publication of Bruce Ackerman's We the People: The Civil Rights Revolution 2014. Contributors' essays reflected on the origins or status of the American civil rights project using Ackerman's book as a focal point or a foil. Those essays are collected as the June 2014 issue, the final issue of the academic year. The contents are: We the People: Each and Every One Randy E. Barnett Reactionary Rhetoric and Liberal Legal Academia Justin Driver Popular Sovereignty and the United States Constitution: Tensions in the Ackermanian Program Sanford Levinson The Neo-Hamiltonian Temptation David A. Strauss The Civil Rights Canon: Above and Below Tomiko Brown-Nagin Changing the Wind: Notes Toward a Demosprudence of Law and Social Movements Lani Guinier Gerald Torres: Protecting Civil Rights in the Shadows David A. Super Universalism and Civil Rights with Notes on Voting Rights After Shelby Samuel R. Bagenstos Separate Spheres Cary Franklin Ackerman's Civil Rights Revolution and Modern American Racial Politics Rogers M. The issue, the eighth and final one of Volume 123, also includes a cumulative Index to the entire volume's titles and authors. As with previous digital editions of Yale Law Journal available from Quid Pro Books, features include active Tables of Contents including links in each Essay's own table linked footnotes and URLs and proper ebook and Bluebook formatting.

Black Americans and the Civil Rights Movement in the West Bruce A. Glasrud, Cary D. Wintz, 2019-02-14. In 1927 Beatrice Cannady succeeded in removing racist language from the Oregon Constitution. During World War II Rowena Moore fought for the right of black women to work in Omaha's meat packinghouses. In 1942 Thelma Paige used the courts to equalize the salaries of black and white schoolteachers across Texas. In 1950 Lucinda Todd of Topeka laid the groundwork for the landmark Supreme Court decision Brown v Board of Education. These actions, including sit-ins long before the Greensboro sit-ins of 1960, occurred well beyond the borders of the American South and East regions most known as the home of the civil rights movement. By considering social justice efforts in western cities and states, Black Americans and the Civil Rights Movement in the West convincingly integrates the West into the historical narrative of black Americans' struggle for civil rights From Iowa and Minnesota to the Pacific Northwest and from Texas to the Dakotas black westerners initiated a wide array of civil rights activities in the early to late twentieth century Connected to national struggles as much as they were tailored to local situations these efforts predated or prefigured events in the East and South In this collection editors Bruce A Glasrud and Cary D Wintz bring these moments into sharp focus as the contributors note the ways in which the racial and ethnic diversity of the West shaped a specific kind of African American activism Concentrating on the far West the mountain states the desert Southwest the upper Midwest and states both southern and western the contributors examine black westerners responses to racism in its various manifestations whether as school segregation in Dallas job discrimination in Seattle or housing bias in San Francisco Together their essays establish in unprecedented detail how efforts to challenge discrimination impacted and changed the West and ultimately the United States

Private Law Friedrich Julius Stahl, 2024-08-03 This book is a translation of Book III of The Doctrine of Law and State It provides Stahl's detailed outworking in private law of the principles of law developed in Book II Private law forms the cornerstone of individual freedom Even so it is not derived from individual freedom which is what modern legal philosophy claims Rather it is derived from the law of God which establishes the principles of which it is the further outworking In line with the understanding of law as given in Book II of this series it establishes the institutions and authorities within which individual freedom can effectively function The law forms part of the ethical world The two poles around which the ethical world revolves are the fear of God and full humanity Both of these need to be given their due in a properly regulated legal order The problem with modernist law is that it only seeks man while being detached from what stands above man Of the two parts through which the law is fulfilled you shall love the Lord your God above all things and your neighbor as yourself it has arbitrarily picked out the second while ignoring the first it has demolished the first of the two tables of the law while proposing to establish only the second 21 Therefore the rights of man that shibboleth of modernist legal philosophy receive full explanation only within the context of higher God given legal principles As such human rights do not serve as the source of law but as a secondary principle subservient to a higher law That higher law establishes besides the free action of the individual family and property as the bases of private law The further outworking of this concept in rights of property contract the law of the family is masterfully laid out Institutions such as property and marriage are not made the creature of will and contract but are fully explained as given realities which the human will cannot alter This book constitutes a return to sound principles of private law and an antidote to contemporary individualism emotivism and primacy of the will Sections left out of the first edition have been included in this second edition of Private Law The text has been corrected where necessary and improved where appropriate

Race and American Political Development Joseph E. Lowndes, Julie Novkov, Dorian T. Warren, 2012-11-12 Race has been present at every critical moment in American political development shaping political institutions political discourse public policy and its denizens political identities But because of the nature of race its evolving and dynamic status as a structure of inequality a political organizing principle an ideology and a system of power we must study the politics of race historically institutionally and discursively Covering more than three hundred years of American political history from the founding to the contemporary moment the contributors in this volume make this extended argument Together they provide an understanding of American politics that challenges our conventional disciplinary tools of studying politics and our conservative political moment s dominant narrative of racial progress This volume the first to collect essays on the role of race in American political history and development resituates race in American politics as an issue for sustained and broadened critical attention The Law's Conscience Peter Charles Hoffer, 2000-11-09 The Law s Conscience is a history of equity in Anglo American jurisprudence from the inception of the chancellor s court in medieval England to the recent civil rights and affirmative action decisions of the United States Supreme Court Peter Hoffer argues that equity embodies a way of looking at law including constitutions based on ideas of mutual fairness public trusteeship and equal protection His central theme is the tension between the ideal of equity and the actual availability of equitable remedies Hoffer examines this tension in the trusteeship constitutionalism of John Locke and Thomas Jefferson the incorporation of equity in the first American constitutions the antebellum controversy over slavery the fortunes of the Freedmen s Bureau after the Civil War the emergence of the doctrine of Balance of Equity in twentieth century public interest law and the desegregation and reverse discrimination cases of the past thirty five years Brown v Board of Education 1954 was the most important equity suit in American history and Hoffer begins and ends his book with a new interpretation of its lessons Law Books, 1876-1981 R.R. Bowker Company, 1981 Renmin Chinese Law Review Shi, Jichun, 2022-07-22 Renmin Chinese Law Review Volume 9 is the ninth work in a series of annual volumes on contemporary Chinese law which bring together the work of well known scholars from China offering an insight into current legal research in China Journal of Comparative Legislation and International Law , 1905 Includes annual Review of legislation covering the years 1859 1949 Journal of the Society of Comparative Legislation Society of Comparative Legislation, 1906 Includes an annual Review of legislation Studies in Roman Law with Comparative Views of the Laws of France, England, and Scotland Thomas Mackenzie (Lord Mackenzie.), 1876
