Figure 1. Aerial view of the study area. The area is divided into three main sections: the northern section (top), the central section (middle), and the southern section (bottom). The northern section is characterized by a dense forest of tall, mature trees. The central section is a mix of forest and open areas, with some trees showing signs of damage or removal. The southern section is primarily open land, with scattered trees and a more uniform canopy height. The overall landscape is a mosaic of different vegetation types and canopy structures.
