Experience and Expression Elizabeth Roberts Baer, Myrna Goldenberg, 2003 Publisher's description The many powerful accounts of the Holocaust have given rise to women's voices and yet few researchers have analyzed these perspectives to learn what the horrifying events meant for women in particular and how they related to them In Experience and Expression the authors take on this challenge providing the first book length gendered analysis of women and the Holocaust a topic that is emerging as a new field of inquiry in its own right The collection explores an array of fascinating topics rescue and resistance the treatment of Roma and Sinti women the fate of female forced laborers Holocaust politics nurses at so called euthanasia centers women's experiences of food and hunger in the camps the uses and abuses of Anne Frank and the representations of the Holocaust in art film and literature in the postwar era

Visualizing the Holocaust David Bathrick, Brad Prager, Michael David Richardson, 2008 Visual representations are an essential but highly contested means of understanding and remembering the Holocaust Photographs taken in the camps in early 1945 provided proof of and visceral access to the atrocities Later visual representations such as films paintings and art installations attempted to represent this extreme trauma While photographs from the camps and later aesthetic reconstructions differ in origin they share goals and have raised similar concerns the former are questioned not as to veracity but due to their potential inadequacy in portraying the magnitude of events the latter are criticized on the grounds that the mediation they entail is unacceptable Some have even questioned any attempt to represent the Holocaust as inappropriate and dangerous to historical understanding This book explores the taboos that structure the production and reception of Holocaust images and the possibilities that result from the transgression of those taboos Essays consider the uses of various visual media aesthetic styles and genres in representations of the Holocaust the uses of perpetrator photography the role of trauma in memory aesthetic problems of mimesis and memory in the work of Lanzmann Celan and others and questions about mass cultural representations of the Holocaust David Bathrick is Emeritus Professor of German at Cornell University Brad Prager is Associate Professor of German at the University of Missouri and Michael D Richardson is Associate Professor of German at Ithaca College

Quantal Theory Of Immunity, The: The Molecular Basis Of Autoimmunity And Leukemia Kendall A Smith,2010-08-18 This book explains how the immune system functions namely how individual cells of the immune system make the decision to respond or not to respond to foreign microbes and molecules and how the critical molecules function to trigger the cellular reactions in an all or none quantal manner To date there has not been a complete description of the immune system and its cells and molecules primarily because most of the information has accumulated only in the last 40 years and our understanding has been expanding rapidly only in the last 20 years It is now clear that the cells have evolved a way to count the number of foreign antigenic molecular hits and they only react when a critical number of events have accumulated Subsequently control over the reaction is transferred to a systemic lymphocytotropic hormone system that determines the tempo magnitude and duration of the immune reaction This book explains in detail how the immune system cells and molecules work for the first time With this understanding as a basis the pathogenesis of autoimmunity can now be understood as a mutational usurpation of the genes encoding molecules that participate in a sensitive feedback regulatory control of the immune reaction By comparison malignant transformation is understood as a mutational usurpation of the genes encoding the molecules that control the quantal decision to proliferate so that normal ligand receptor cell growth control is circumvented a
