zeal and watchfulness he could not understand the debate which indeed was carried on at a distance too great to be easily heard even if the language had been familiar but he was always on the alert and now and then conferring with men who had straggled out of the assembly at last he found an opportunity of making a proposal which at once produced immense sensation he offered on my behalf that if the tribe should bear themselves loyally towards me and take my party and my baggage in safety to the other bank of the river I should give them a teskeri or written certificate of their good conduct which might avail them hereafter in the hour of their direst need This proposal was received and instantly accepted by all the men of the tribe there present with the utmost enthusiasm I was to give the men too a baksheish that is a present of money which is usually made upon the conclusion of any sort of treaty but although the people of the tribe were so miserably poor they seemed to look upon _ the pecuniary part of the arrangement as a matter quite trivial in comparison with the teskeri Indeed the sum which Dthemetri promised them was extremely small and not the slightest attempt was made to extort any further reward The Council now broke up and most of the men rushed madly towards me and overwhelmed me with vehement congratulations they caressed my boots with much affection and my hands were severely kissed The Arabs now went to work in right earnest to effect the passage of the river They had brought with them a great number of the skins which they use for carrying water in the desert these they filled with air and fastened several of them to small Eothen; Or, Traces of Travel Brought Home from the East Kinglake,2020-11-26 Eothen Or Traces of Travel Brought Home from the East by Kinglake

Eothen, Or, Traces of Travel Clemens Lamping François Antoine Alby,2017-12-25 Excerpt from Eothen Or Traces of Travel Brought Home From the East When you first entertained the idea of travelling in the East you asked me to send you an outline of the tour which I had made in order that you might the better be able to choose a route for yourself In answer to this request I gave you a large French map on which the course of my journeys had been carefully marked but I did not conceal from myself that this was rather a dry mode for a man to adopt when he wished to impart the results of his experience to a dear and intimate friend Now long before the period of your planning an Oriental tour I had intended to write some account of my Eastern Travels I had indeed begun the task and had failed I had begun it a second time and failing again had abandoned my attempt with a sensation of utter distaste I was unable to speak out and chiefly I think for this reason that I knew not to whom I was speaking It might be you or perhaps our Lady of Bitterness who would read my story or it might be some member of the Royal Statistical Society and how on earth was I to write in a way that would do for all three
