Ernest Gaines Twaynes United States Authors Series:

Ernest J. Gaines Marcia Gaudet, 2019-04-29 As the acclaimed author of The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman and A Lesson Before Dying Ernest J. Gaines b 1933 has been publishing stories and novels for more than sixty years. His brilliant portrayals of race community and culture in rural south Louisiana have made him one of the most respected and beloved living American writers. Ernest J. Gaines Conversations brings together the author's own thoughts and words in interviews that range from 1994 to 2017 discussing his life his work and his literary legacy. The interviews cover all of Gaines's works including his two latest books Mozart and Leadbelly Stories and Essays 2005 and The Tragedy of Brady Sims 2017. The book provides a retrospective of his work from the viewpoint of a senior writer now eighty five years old and gives an important international perspective on Gaines and his work. Among the many things Gaines discusses in his interviews are the recurrent themes in his works: the search for manhood the importance of personal responsibility and standing with dignity the problems of fathers and sons and the challenges of race and racism in America. He examines his fictional world and his strong sense of place his role as teacher and mentor the importance of strong women in his life and the influence of spirituality religion and music on his work. He also talks about storytelling the nature of narrative writing as a journey and how he sees himself as a storyteller. Contemporary Southern Men Fiction Writers Rosemary M. Canfield Reisman, Suzanne Booker-Canfield, 1998 This carefully annotated bibliography lists sources of criticism for thirty nine Southern male authors each of whom has published at least one significant book of fiction between 1970 and 1994. Ernest Gaines Valerie Melissa Babb, 1991 Discusses the life and literary works of African American author Ernest Gaines. Voices from the Quarters Mary Ellen Doyle, 2003-08-01 A Choice Outstanding Academic Title. Who will write about the way my people talk the way my people sing. Mary Ellen Doyle gathers and makes audible the voices arising from all of Ernest J. Gaines's fiction to date: the indelible characters who inhabit the author's lifelong inspirational territory: the bayous cane fields and plantation homes of Louisiana's Pointe Coupee Parish. Beginning with the author's upbringing and influences on River Lake plantation amid the pecan trees and live oaks the big house and the tenant quarters this penetrating study offers close readings of Gaines's uncollected short fiction the early collection Bloodline and all of his novels including The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman and the acclaimed A Lesson Before Dying. Highlighting Gaines's skill at translating oral tales into meaningful fictional forms Doyle advances an original theory of first person narration: camcorder and traces its use throughout his work. Gaines's unwavering focus on the utterances of his people continually strengthens his artistic development: the voices of the early stories fusing with those of the later novels until Gaines earns a unique magisterial voice: an implied author who is black but speaks to universals. Using critical methods as eclectic as the book's intended audience and drawing from on site research and interviews with Gaines's relatives and friends Doyle offers a variety of perspectives on Gaines's fiction and its world that resonates so powerfully. Those who recognize Gaines as one of the finest southern writers of the last forty years will find here
