Raghu-nomics 4: ROOPA II - Health Care Reform Made Easy: Social Cost 'Raghu' J. Giuffre,2011-10-02 Up to 50%% of our taxes insurance premiums go to cover lifestyle activities Lifestyle is therefore the largest category of discretionary spending with the potential of reducing our costs by up to this same 50%% Lifestyle is also a far more accurate predictor of our future health care needs and social service requirements This allows lifestyle to provide the best measure of planning forecast over today's comparison shopping models ROOPA highlights the number of savings and other advantages gained from this dual track of lifestyle and its corresponding social costs models The social cost of obesity averages around 150 billion a year This comes to about 10 cents per item of junk food Every soda pop hamburger and candy bar will now have this 10 cent premium The more soda you drink the more you have already paid into your own health coverage for obesity It is the most affordable pay as you go insurance plan It cost a dime Protecting the U.S. Population's Health Against Potential Economic Recessions and High Unemployment and the Endemic Inflation of Health Care Costs Fritz Dufour,2019-12-15 This book has three main parts 1 the challenges of the U S health care system 2 the impacts of economic recessions and high unemployment on the U S population's health and 3 recommendations or a look into what might improve the health care system Part I through a dissection of the challenges faced by the U S health care system exposes the particularities and the vulnerabilities of the system It shows the role played by businesses and employment in the U S population's health and describes major challenges of the health care system such as astronomical health care costs, the average family health spending which is exceedingly high, wasteful spending, death due to inaccessibility to health care, and the hardships that medical costs created for more than half of Americans. Part II is an analysis as to why economic recessions have health implications. That analysis is done by considering the health implications of economic recessions both at the micro and macroeconomic levels and by considering the societal costs of uninsurance or inaccessibility to health care due to economic recessions and high unemployment. Part III primarily focuses on what can make the system better, that is, more efficient and more cost effective. Ironically, as Part III argues, there are a myriad of feasible recommendations that are waiting to be fully explored, agreed upon, adopted, and implemented nationwide. Design labor and fiscal policies aimed at preventing economic recessions and high unemployment. Blend labor and fiscal policies into structural reforms. Create job security and take other steps that guarantee health care security during financial hardship. Improve health outcomes through nationwide permanent supportive housing to combat chronic homelessness during economic recessions and high unemployment. Prioritize the use of more cost effective medical technologies. Promote telemedicine to reduce costs and improve accessibility to health care. Eliminate health disparities thanks to the democratization of health care. Promote health literacy and the valorization of communities. Design policies or procedures that 1) promote health care costs reduction and efficiency through affordable insurance coverage and 2) eliminate Wasteful spending. Extend drug coverage and implement cost effective pricing policies. Extend coverage of more medical procedures and implement cost effective policies. On the other hand, Part III also sells the idea of a thorough and bold revolution in our health care system which would make health care a right of citizenship. It does so by analyzing the political, social, ethical, and economic aspects of the issue. Furthermore, it argues that the relationship between universal health care and economics justifies the notion of health care as a right of citizenship.
