The American Medical Association is a not-for-profit organization that represents the interests of physicians and the public. It is the largest medical organization in the United States, with over 240,000 members. The AMA's primary purpose is to advance the art and science of medicine and to improve the health of the people. It does this through a variety of activities, including: publishing medical journals, conducting research, advocating for medical reform, and providing education and training for physicians. The AMA also plays a key role in the development of medical standards and regulations. For more information about the AMA and its work, please visit our website at www.ama-assn.org.
