A Lancastrian Mirror for Princes Rosemarie McGerr,2011-11-15 This seminal study addresses one of the most beautifully decorated 15th century copies of the New Statutes of England uncovering how the manuscript's unique interweaving of legal, religious, and literary discourses frames the reader's perception of the work. Taking internal and external evidence into account, Rosemarie McGerr suggests that the manuscript was made for Prince Edward of Lancaster, transforming a legal reference work into a book of instruction in kingship as well as a means of celebrating the Lancastrians' rightful claim to the English throne during the Wars of the Roses. A Lancastrian Mirror for Princes also explores the role played by the manuscript as a commentary on royal justice and grace for its later owners and offers modern readers a fascinating example of the long-lasting influence of medieval manuscripts on subsequent readers.

The Medieval Soldier in the Wars of the Roses A.W. Boardman, 2022-11-17 An essential part of the library for anyone interested in the great political and military upheavals in the 15th century. Graeme Rimer, Retired Former Academic Director of the Royal Armouries. A creditable effort to examine a neglected aspect of medieval warfare. Jim Bradbury, Cambridge University Press. Everything you need to know about being a soldier in the Wars of the Roses. The Mail Bookshop. What was it like to fight in a Wars of the Roses battle? What kind of men fought at St Albans, Northampton, Wakefield, Towton, Tewkesbury, and Bosworth? How was the medieval soldier recruited, paid, equipped, fed, and billeted? And how was a battle contested once both sides resorted to all-out conflict? First published in 1998, this classic study of the medieval soldier in the Wars of the Roses examines these and other questions using various documentary sources and recent evidence. Eyewitness accounts, contemporary chronicles, personal letters, civic records, archaeology, and surviving military equipment are used to paint a fascinating picture of the medieval soldier. Evidence gleaned from the mass war grave found close to the battlefield of Towton in North Yorkshire sheds new light on those that lived and died in the civil wars. But what do we know about the psychology of those involved? And how did soldiers feel about killing their fellow Englishmen? Andrew Boardman explores the grim reality of medieval soldiering on land and sea during this crucial period of aristocratic violence and dynastic upheaval. He makes us question the current historical record such as it is and our perceptions of chivalry and warfare in Lancastrian and Yorkist England. The text is supported by many contemporary illustrations, diagrams, and maps, making this updated work an indispensable guide to medieval soldiering in the late fifteenth century.
