Environment, Space, Place: Volume 8, Issue 1 (Spring 2016) C. Patrick Heidkamp; Troy Paddock; Christine Petto, CONTENTS Victor COUNTED Making Sense of Place Attachment Towards a Holistic Understanding of People Place Relationships and Experiences ABSTRACT The article is an attempt to make sense of the different interdisciplinary perspectives associated with people s attachment to places with a view to construct a holistic template for understanding peopleplace relationships and experiences We took note of the theoretical contributionsof Jorgensen a theory of evolved tastes such as that developed by Dennis Dutton and an aesthetics of evolving nature based on Carlson s positive aesthetics After exploring both theories I argue that while the two positions approach aesthetics from different directions they support similar aesthetic judgments concerning landscapes and this suggests that the two positions might be incorporated into a broader theory of evolutionary aesthetics Th at theory is briefly outlined and applied to both natural landscapes and parks Jeffrey B WEBB Watershed Redesign in the Upper Wabash River Drainage Area 1870 1970 ABSTRACT The Huntington Salamonie and Mississinewa reservoirs in northern Indiana control seasonal flooding in the Upper Wabash River drainage area They appeared in the 1960s after a long period of study and planning in response to large scale flooding in central and southern Indiana in the first half of the twentieth century Th eir construction disrupted the pattern of human ecology along the Wabash and its tributaries for many of the watershed s inhabitants Supporters touted the projects economic and recreational benefits while opponents experienced the change as a desecration of sacred space Th e projects saved millions in property damage and perhaps many human lives but at the cost of an enduring sense of place amid the advent of a new regime of scientific watershed management and state control over natural resources in the region Winnie L M YEE Fashion Affect and Poetry in a Global City ABSTRACT Everyday life is a central theme of Hong Kong poetry Many Hong Kong poets use the quotidian as a starting point for the exploration of history and alternative imaginings Th is mundane focus unlike the colonial dreamscape of Hong Kong as an economic miracle allows writers to reflect upon Hong Kong as a post colonial and global space Th e Hong Kong writer Natalia Chan examines the complex nature of everyday life within the space of the global and post colonial city Chan s poems deal with the essence of everydayness and use commodities to conjure up the vivacity of the urbanscape of Hong Kong Unlike the political and economic discourse that is usually used to define Hong Kong Chan s work portrays Hong Kong as a city that offers the possibility of daily re creation against the background of history In this article we will examine Chan s use of the circulation of commodities in the global world and explore the way fashion becomes a point where high and popular culture private and public domains and local and global interests clash negotiate and fertilize each other Chan s works do not conform to the economic and prosperity discourse that has repressed Hong Kong rather she guides her readers to re experience the everydayness of routines to celebrate alternate ways of understanding the urbanscape and to open themselves to the potentialities of art and the everyday Emmanuel YEWAH African Documentaries Films Texts and Environmental Issues ABSTRACT This study draws from theoretical environmental debates as well as a selection of films documentaries and texts to discuss Africans approaches to environmental and ecological problems Furthermore it highlights the various strategies that Africans have developed in their attempts to provide holistic and much more comprehensive responses to environmental challenges Informed by African indigenous knowledge those strategies do involve community based micro level initiatives grassroots organizations ancestral spirits and use local languages or lingua franca to educate as well as prod the people s consciousness about environmental and ecological issues REVIEWS Lorna Lueker ZUKAS Forgotten World Directed by Terri Ella Derek SHANAHAN The View from the Train Cities and Other Landscapes By Patrick Keiller British Literature and Technology, 1600-1830 Kristin M. Girten, Aaron R.

Hanlon, 2023-01-13 Enlightenment era writers had not yet come to take technology for granted but nonetheless were as we are today both attracted to and repelled by its potential This volume registers the deep history of such ambivalence examining technology s influence on Enlightenment British literature as well as the impact of literature on conceptions of attitudes toward and implementations of technology Offering a counterbalance to the abundance of studies on literature and science in seventeenth and eighteenth century Britain this volume s focus encompasses approaches to literary history that help us understand technologies like the steam engine and the telegraph along with representations of technology in literature such as the political machine Contributors ultimately show how literature across genres provided important sites for Enlightenment readers to recognize themselves as chimeras hybrids of machine and organism and to explore the modern self as a creature of social reality as well as a creature of fiction Regions and Designed Landscapes in Georgian

England Sarah Spooner, 2015-06-26 Garden design evolved hugely during the Georgian period as symbols of wealth and stature the landed aristocracy had been using gardens for decades Yet during the eighteenth century society began to homogenise and the urban elite also started demanding landscapes that would reflect their positions The gardens of the aristocracy and the gentry were different in appearance use and meaning despite broad similarities in form Underlying this was the importance of place of the landscape itself and its raw material Contemporaries often referred to the need to consult the genius of the place when creating a new designed landscape as the place where the garden was located was critical in determining its appearance Genius loci soil type topography water supply all influenced landscape design in this period The approach taken in this book blends landscape and garden history to make new insights into landscape and design in the eighteenth century Spooner s own research presents little known sites alongside those which are more well known and explores the complexity of the story of landscape design in the Georgian period which is usually oversimplified and reduced to the story of a few great men Amidst Us Our Beloved Stands Michael A. G. Haykin, 2022-04-06 Baptists are sacramental When it comes to baptism and the Lord's Supper many Baptists reject the language of sacrament As a people of the book the logic goes Baptists must not let tradition supersede the Bible So Baptists tend to view baptism and Communion as ordinances and symbols not sacraments But the history of Baptists and sacramentalism is complicated In Amidst Us Our Beloved Stands Michael A G Haykin argues that many Baptists such as Charles Spurgeon and other Particular Baptists stood closer to Reformed sacramental thought than most Baptists today More than mere memorials baptism and Communion have spiritual implications that were celebrated by Baptists of the past in sermons and hymnody Haykin calls for a renewal of sacramental life in churches today Baptists can and should be sacramental

Illustrated History of Landscape Design

Elizabeth Boults, Chip Sullivan, 2010-02-08 A visual journey through the history of landscape design For thousands of years people have altered the meaning of space by reshaping nature As an art form these architectural landscape creations are stamped with societal imprints unique to their environment and place in time Illustrated History of Landscape Design takes an optical sweep of the iconic landscapes constructed throughout the ages Organized by century and geographic region this highly visual reference uses hundreds of masterful pen and ink drawings to show how historical context and cultural connections can illuminate today's design possibilities This guide includes Storyboards case studies and visual narratives to portray spaces Plan section and elevation drawings of key spaces Summaries of design concepts principles and vocabularies Historic and contemporary works of art that illuminate a specific era Descriptions of how the landscape has been shaped over time in response to human need Directing both students and practitioners along a visually stimulating timeline Illustrated History of Landscape Design is a valuable educational tool as well as an endless source of inspiration

The Protected Vista Tom Brigden, 2019-05-03 The Protected Vista draws a historical lineage from the eighteenth century picturesque to present day planning policy highlighting how the values embedded within familiar views have developed over time through appropriation by diverse groups for cultural and political purposes The book examines the intellectual construction of the protected vista questioning the values entrenched within the view by whom and how they are observed and disseminated to reveal how these views have been and continue to be part of a changing historical and political narrative With a deeper knowledge and understanding of the shifting values in urban views we will be better equipped to make decisions surrounding their protection in our urban centres The book identifies the origins of current view protection policy in the aesthetic convention of the picturesque drawing on a range of illustrated examples in the UK the US Australia Canada and South Africa to serve as a useful reference for students researchers and academics in architecture architectural conservation landscape and urban planning

The Villa James S. Ackerman, 2023-08-15 In The Villa James Ackerman explores villa building in the West from ancient Rome to twentieth century France and America In this wide ranging book he illuminates such topics as the early villas of the Medici the rise of the country place as a focus for examining the relationships between urban and rural life between architectural design and social cultural economic and political forces Book cover Arthur Mee Keith Crawford, 2016-07-28 Arthur Mee 1875 1943 best remembered as the creator of The Children's Encyclopaedia was more than a popular editor journalist and travel writer for a generation of young readers and their parents the name Arthur Mee truly meant something Formany in his audience the narratives and discourses embedded within his writing tied together and legitimised a trinity of beliefs that lay at the heart of his nonconformist faith and character God England and Empire Despite the enormous appeal of his many published works which during the first half of the twentieth century saw him become a household name and a major publishing brand Mee has remained an ethereal figure In Arthur Mee the first full length account of Mee's life since 1946 Crawford draws upon a range of Mee's correspondence to offer for the first time a realistic picture of the man at work and at home as an antidote to the overly romanticised image attached to his name The book places Mee's work within the wider cultural political and social context of an England undergoing unparalleled societal change and technological advancement Scholars of the history of education children's literature and beyond will find much of interest in these pages and childhood devotees to Mee's publications may well find themselves transported back to a time of wonder imagination and hope Classic Country Estates of Lake Forest Kim Coventry, Daniel Meyer, Arthur H. Miller, 2003 On Lake Michigan's North Shore an extraordinary group of cosmopolitan and wealthy clients commissioned havens from the city's bustle during the Gilded Age

Perspectives on Garden Histories Michel Conan, 1999 Garden history is a discipline of contested purposes Perspectives on Garden Histories contributes to a self critical examination of this emergent field of study at the same time offering an overview of its main achievements in several domains such as Italian and Mughal gardens and of the new kinds of investigation to which they have led In its early years garden history centered on architectural studies of garden design but in the 1960s the emphasis shifted from garden design to garden meaning The new paradigm considered gardens as complex works of art and demanded an extensive documentation of the historical context as well as of the figurative and discursive sources This approach in its turn was challenged by neo Marxist scholars who proceeded to view landscape appreciation as an ideological superstructure an outgrowth of agricultural production processes Garden designs and their histories can also be viewed as expressions of ideological conflicts in society Neither gardens nor their history can thus be studied independently of the social cultural and political movements that give prominence to the contested ideologies Gardens can be used to foster some ideologies or reflect a reaction against a social change Comparative research offers another fascinating approach exploring the relations between European landscape concepts and other cultural contexts and discussing issues of cultural dominance and interpretation The emergence of various perspectives has led to the incorporation of further questions into the domain of garden studies which has been moving in new directions and using new methods in search of an adapted theoretical framework This volume offers a striking view of changes taking place in the discipline Interstate 64/Route 40 Corridor, City of St. Louis and St. Louis County, 2005 Small Manor Houses and Farmsteads in
