AIEA International higher education has evolved in some respects dramatically in the decade since publication of the first edition of this handbook. The new issues, trends, practices and priorities of research that evolved over this time have in some instances been transformed by one of the most dynamic and tumultuous periods in the history of international higher education brought on by the pandemic, a re-emergence of nationalism and the recognition of the power imbalances between the developed economies and the global south and racial inequities within and across borders. This new edition addresses the myriad changes across all aspects of international education, each chapter addressing to the extent possible the reality of the present in which they were written and offering some insights for the future. While updating a number of chapters from the first edition, it also includes a preponderance of new chapters written by contributors representing wider and more diverse backgrounds. In keeping with the first edition, the overall message is that the internationalization of higher education has a vital role to play in a world that is more interconnected than ever before. Recognizing changing economic, geopolitical, climatic and public health issues as well as the importance of international and cross-cultural collaboration to address global problems, this handbook offers a comprehensive range of models, data and ideas to stimulate new directions in the conception and practice of international education. This edition reflects today's concerns around inclusion, diversity and equity and how international education is being changed by issues such as decolonization, the focus on learning outcomes, the impact of digital tools to enhance access and learning and collaboration, such as a virtual exchange, competition for resources, risk, new patterns of mobility and new models such as joint programs and qualifications. As with the first edition, the chapters often intentionally pair scholars and practitioners from different parts of the world and include text boxes that highlight concrete institutional, national or regional experiences, providing diverse voices and perspectives from around the world. This comprehensive new edition provides ideas, concepts, theories and practical ideas from around the world for those seeking to enhance the quality of the three core functions of higher education: teaching, research and service to society. It constitutes an essential resource for everyone involved in the delivery of international education and in determining its future direction.

Summary of Contents Maintaining a similar structure of the first edition, this revised Handbook is comprised of four sections. The first section includes five chapters that address national, regional and international frameworks and contexts. The second addresses key aspects of internationalization at the strategy level, covering leadership, institutional strategies, outcomes, assessment, resources and financing, risk management and institutional linkages and partnerships. The third describes core functions of internationalization, addressing intercultural competence development, the internationalization of the curriculum, teaching and learning, virtual exchange, international perspectives on the work of student affairs professionals, student engagement, engaging staff and faculty, the internationalization of research and finally, a chapter on serving communities.

Paradoxical Japaneseness Andrew Dorman, 2016-11-22. This book offers insightful analysis of cultural representation in Japanese cinema of the early 21st century. The impact of transnational production practices on films such as Dolls (2002).

Sukiyaki Western Django 2007 Tetsuo The Bullet Man 2009 and 13 Assassins 2010 is considered through textual and empirical analysis The author discusses contradictory forms of cultural representation cultural concealment and cultural performance and their relationship to both changing practices in the Japanese film industry and the global film market Case studies take into account popular genres such as J Horror and jidaigeki period films as well as the work of renowned filmmakers Takeshi Kitano Takashi Miike Shinya Tsukamoto and Kiyoshi Kurosawa The Future Conditional Eric S. Henry,2021-05-15 In The Future Conditional Eric S Henry brings twelve years of expertise and research to offer a nuanced discussion of the globalization of the English language and the widespread effects it has had on Shenyang the capital and largest city of China s northeast Liaoning Province Adopting an ethnographic and linguistic perspective Henry considers the personal connotations that English has for Chinese people beyond its role in the education system Through research on how English is spoken taught and studied in China Henry considers what the language itself means to Chinese speakers How and why he asks has English become so deeply fascinating in contemporary China simultaneously existing as a source of desire and anxiety The answer he suggests is that English speaking Chinese consider themselves distinctly separate from those who do not speak the language the result of a cultural assumption that speaking English makes a person modern Seeing language as a study that goes beyond the classroom The Future Conditional assesses the emerging viewpoint that for many citizens speaking English in China has become a cultural need and more immediately a realization of one s future Language, Education and Neoliberalism Mi-Cha Flubacher,Alfonso Del Percio,2017-09-25 This edited volume presents an empirical account of how neoliberal ideas are adopted on the ground by different actors in different educational settings from bilingual education in the US to migrant work programmes in Italy to minority language teaching in Mexico It examines language and education as objects of neoliberalization and as powerful tools and sites through which ideological principles underpinning neoliberal societies and economies are re produced and maintained and with that inequality and exclusion This book aims to produce a complex understanding of how neoliberal rationalities are articulated within locally anchored and historical regimes of knowledge on language education and society
