Ecology For Gardeners:

Ecology for Gardeners Steven B. Carroll, Steven D. Salt, 2004-05-15 Even a relatively small garden is a miniature ecosystem. It includes a surprising diversity of organisms that interact in a myriad of ways. Some are permanent residents; others come and go in search of a meal or a mate. An insect feeding on a garden plant is simultaneously hunted by predators and weakened by parasites; it competes with other herbivores for choice food plants; it is hindered in its feeding by the plant's chemical and physical defenses; and it challenges other members of its species for the best mates and locations for egg laying. Ecologists Carroll and Salt argue that the more completely we understand these interactions, the better gardeners we become. The authors cite hundreds of examples drawn from personal experience and from literature on gardening and ecology.

The Ecological Gardener Matt Rees-Warren, 2021-04-29 Design a garden for the future because what we grow matters. Matt Rees-Warren explains why every square inch of Earth, including our gardens, has ecological significance. Excellent, timely, essential. Douglas W. Tallamy, author of Nature's Best Hope, transforms your garden into a self-sustaining haven for nature and wildlife. Ecological garden designer Matt Rees-Warren shares inspirational design ideas and practical projects to help you create a garden that is both beautiful today and sustainable tomorrow. The Ecological Gardener will give you the tools to create an abundant, healthy garden from the soil up: a garden that welcomes birds and bees and allows native plants and wild flowers to flourish with minimal carbon impact or need for fresh water. This book can guide both novice and experienced gardeners alike in their journey to a more ecological approach and is full of practical projects and information, including finding the right design for your space, creating a wildflower meadow, building rainwater catchments, and other tips for water conservation, making compost from kitchen waste, leaf mold, compost tea, and more. Creating a space for wildlife, such as hedgehogs, bees, and other pollinators. Finding beauty in your garden during the winter. Matt will show you how to reimagine how you garden, working with nature instead of controlling it, to create a space that promotes both wildlife and beauty.
