Economic Analysis Of Agricultural Projects A World Bank Country Economic Report:

World Bank Anne C. M. Salda,1995 The Economic Evaluation of Projects David G. Davies,1996 World Bank Discussion Paper No 329 Tests the hypothesis that appropriate joint management of transboundary fish stocks can help avoid overexploitation of these resources while increasing rents and benefits Focusing on the industrial pelagic fisheries of northern Chile and southern Peru the authors present various quantitative models for identifying industry characteristics and calculating benefits The Role of the World Bank in Agricultural Development in the 1990s Michael Lipton,Robert L. Paarlberg,1990-01-01 Bank lending for agriculture and rural development from the 1970s to the 1980s will the decline continue Anticipating the challenges of the 1990s Regional variations Agricultural Policy Analysis Jeevika Weerahewa,Andrew Jacque,2022-04-09 This book is centred around various interwoven topics which are fundamental to policy analysis in agriculture Key concepts and tools that are fundamental for the analysis of agricultural policies and programmes are presented Key concepts introduced include the role of the state in a market economy with examples from the Sri Lankan and other developing economies the international trade environment and conceptual frameworks for analysing important domestic and international trade policies It also highlights interconnections among agriculture development policy and illustrates the extent to which the agricultural sector contributes in achieving economic growth objectives equity and equality objectives and environmental objectives The book takes the readers through the nature of agricultural markets in developing countries with special emphasis on Sri Lanka and illustrates how the degree of competitiveness is measured at various market levels using multiple indices and methods Several tools with accompanying case studies for the analysis of policies and programmes are detailed These tools include the GTAP model gravity models extended benefit cost analysis and linear programming Tools and models are applied to the analysis of trade policies and agreements marketing policies environmental services extension programmes land tenure reforms and climate change adaptations Case studies in relation to the agri food policy and strategy response to COVID 19 Pandemic are also covered This book is of interest to public officials working in agricultural planning and agricultural policy teachers researchers agro economists capacity builders and policymakers Also the book serves as additional reading material for undergraduate and graduate students of agriculture development studies and environmental sciences National and international agricultural scientists policy makers will also find this to be a useful read Economic Analysis of Investment Operations Pedro Belli,2001-01-01 This books presents general principles and methodologies of quantitative risk analysis provides theory and practice of how to evaluate health transport and education projects and describes how to assess the environmental impact of projects It looks at how the tools of cost benefit analysis can be applied from the point of view of the private sector public sector bankers and the country as a whole It encourages analysts to answer a number of key questions that are likely to increase success rather than simply describing techniques This book as aimed at all concerned with resource allocation and is presented in an accessible fashion It is required reading at World bank Institute courses Choosing Rural Road Investments to Help Reduce Poverty Dominique Van de Walle, 2000 A change in the transport sector's current approach to selecting rural road investments is warranted A proposed approach builds on some of the poverty focused hybrid methods found in recent rural road appraisals recognizing that an important share of the benefits to the poor from rural roads cannot be measured in monetary terms Undermining Rural Development With Cheap Credit Dale W Adams, 2021-11-28 Originally published in 1985 twenty three chapters are brought together in 4 parts dealing with respectively problems in rural finance interest rate policies politics and finance and new directions for rural financial markets In an introduction it is argued that cheap and abundant credit is often regarded as essential for rural development but that actions taken on the basis of this assumption have given disappointing results Low interest policies and the improper use of financial markets are seen as the principal reasons for this It is recommended that higher and more flexible interest rates are allowed and that little or no attention is given to target loans Informal lenders are thought to offer valuable services therefore they should not be discouraged More emphasis should be put on voluntary savings mobilization and access to formal loans by non farm rural firms It is concluded that many traditional agricultural credit programmes are counterproductive and that attractive product and input prices together with higher yields would be more powerful in stimulating agricultural development

Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Latin America Kym Anderson, Alberto Valdes, 2008-10-02 The vast majority of the world's poorest households depend on farming for their livelihood During the 1960s and 1970s most developing countries imposed pro urban and anti agricultural policies while many high income countries restricted agricultural imports and subsidized their farmers Both sets of policies inhibited economic growth and poverty alleviation in developing countries Although progress has been made over the past two decades to reduce those policy biases many trade and welfare reducing price distortions remain between agriculture and other sectors as well as within the agricultural sector of both rich and poor countries Comprehensive empirical studies of the disarray in world agricultural markets first appeared approximately 20 years ago Since then the OECD has provided estimates each year of market distortions in high income countries but there has been no comparable estimates for the world's developing countries This volume is the second in a series other volumes cover Africa Asia and Europe's transition economies that not only fills that void for recent years but extends the estimates in a consistent and comparable way back in time and provides analytical narratives for scores of countries that shed light on the evolving nature and extent of policy interventions over the past half century Distortions to Agricultural Incentives in Latin America provides an overview of the evolution of distortions to agricultural incentives caused by price and trade policies in the economies of South America plus the Dominican Republic Nicaragua and Mexico Together these countries constitute about 80 percent of the region's population agricultural output and overall GDP Sectoral trade and exchange rate policies in the region have changed greatly since the 1950s and there have been substantial reforms especially in the 1980s

Nonetheless numerous price distortions in this region remain others have been added and there have even been some policy reversals in recent years The new empirical indicators in these country studies provide a strong evidence based foundation for assessing the successes and failures of the past and for evaluating policy options for the years ahead An Introduction to Agroforestry P. K. R. Nair,1993-07-31 The history of agroforestry Definition and concepts of agroforestry community forestry farm forestry and social forestry Agroforestry systems and practices Agroforestry species Soil productivity and protection Design and evaluation of agroforestry systems Agroforestry in the temperate zone Public Goods and Externalities Agri-environmental Policy Measures in Selected OECD Countries OECD,2015-08-26 Agriculture is a provider of commodities such as food feed fibre and fuel and it can bring both positive and negative impacts on the environment Yet most policy measures target farm systems inputs and practices and agricultural infrastructure driving forces rather than the provision of India's Economic Reforms, 1991-2001 Vijay Joshi,I. M. D Little,1996-09-26 India is the world s largest democracy and second largest developing country For forty years it has also been one of the most dirigiste and autarkic The 1980s saw most developing and erstwhile communist countries opt for market economic systems India belatedly initiated similar reforms in 1991 This book evaluates the progress of those reforms covering all of the major areas of policy stabilization taxation and trade domestic and external finance agriculture industry the social sectors and poverty alleviation Will India realize its great potential by freeing itself from the self imposed constraints that have hindered its development This is the important and fascinating question considered by this book Economics of Soil Degradation Joshua Bishop,1995 Rural Planning in Developing Countries David Dent,D. Barry Dalal-Clayton,Olivier Dubois,2013 This book provides an international perspective on rural planning focused on developing countries It examines conventional development planning and innovative local planning approaches drawing together lessons from recent experience of rural planning and land use The authors examine past and current practice and ways that land use planning and management of natural resources can underpin sustainable local livelihoods They draw on case studies from Africa Asia and Latin America to present findings relevant throughout the developing world China in the Global Economy Rural Finance and Credit Infrastructure in China OECD,2004-04-23 This publication presents the proceedings of a conference that took stock of achievements China has made in agricultural finance and credit infrastructure and discussed how China could best address future challenges in this area A - Airports British Library,2012-05-21 No detailed description available for A Airports Economic Analysis of Environmental Impacts John A. Dixon,1994 First Published in 1994 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company World Economic Outlook, October 2016 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept.,2016-10-04 According to the October 2016 World Economic Outlook global growth is projected to slow to 3.1 percent in 2016 before recovering to 3.4 percent in 2017 The forecast revised down by 0.1 percentage point for 2016 and 2017 relative to April s report reflects a more subdued outlook for advanced economies following the June U K vote in favor of leaving the European Union Brexit and weaker than expected growth in the United States These developments have put further downward pressure on global interest rates as monetary policy is now expected to remain accommodative for longer Although the market reaction to the Brexit shock was reassuringly orderly the ultimate impact remains very unclear as the fate of institutional and trade arrangements between the United Kingdom and the European Union is uncertain Financial market sentiment toward emerging market economies has improved with expectations of lower interest rates in advanced economies reduced concern about China's near term prospects following policy support to growth and some firming of commodity prices But prospects differ sharply across countries and regions with emerging Asia in general and India in particular showing robust growth and sub-Saharan Africa experiencing a sharp slowdown In advanced economies a subdued outlook subject to sizable uncertainty and downside risks may fuel further political discontent with anti integration policy platforms gaining more traction Several emerging market and developing economies still face daunting policy challenges in adjusting to weaker commodity prices These worrisome prospects make the need for a broad based policy response to raise growth and manage vulnerabilities more urgent than ever

,2011 The report assesses the World Bank Group's support for growth and productivity in the agriculture sector Enhancing agricultural growth and productivity is essential to meeting the worldwide demand for food and to reducing poverty particularly in the poorest developing countries Between 1998 and 2008 the period covered by this evaluation the World Bank Group WBG provided 23.7 billion in financing for agriculture and agribusiness in 108 countries roughly 8 percent of total WBG financing spanning areas from irrigation and marketing to research and extension However this was a time of declining focus on agricultural growth and productivity by both countries and donors The cost of inadequate attention to agriculture especially in agriculture based economies came into focus with the food crisis of 2007-08 The crisis added momentum to an emerging renewal of attention and stepped up financing to agriculture and agribusiness at the World Bank and International Finance Corporation IFC as well as at several multilateral and bilateral agencies World Bank financing rose two and a half times from 2008 to 2009 though that increase in lending seems to have been accompanied by a decline in analytical work which this review finds valuable for results This evaluation seeks to provide lessons from successes and failures to help improve the development impact of the renewed attention to the sector Ratings against the World Bank's stated objectives and IFC's market based benchmarks for agriculture and agribusiness projects have been equal to or above portfolio averages in East Asia Latin America and the transition economies in Europe with notable successes over a long period in China and India But performance of WBG interventions has been well below average in Sub-Saharan Africa where IFC has had little engagement in agribusiness Inconsistent client commitment and weak capacity have limited the effectiveness of WBG support in agriculture based economies particularly in Sub-Saharan Africa and constraints on staffing and internal coordination within the WBG have also hurt outcomes Financial sustainability has been constrained by insufficient government funding and the difficulty of maintaining agricultural services and infrastructure The WBG has a unique opportunity to match the increases in the financing for agriculture with sharper focus on improving agricultural growth and productivity in agriculture based economies notably in Sub Saharan Africa Greater effort will be needed to connect sectoral interventions and achieve synergies from public and private sector interventions to build capacity and knowledge exchange to take stock of experience in rain fed agriculture to ensure attention to financial sustainability and to cross cutting issues of gender environmental and social impacts and climate and to better integrate WBG support at the global and regional levels with that at the country level Books in Series ,1985 Vols for 1980 issued in three parts Series Authors and Titles North-South Linkages and International Macroeconomic Policy David Vines,David Currie,1995-09-21 Researchers have begun to apply economic techniques initially developed to analyse the industrialised countries to analyse North South interactions in the world economy This volume derived from a CEPR conference brings together theoretical and empirical papers on fiscal monetary and trade linkages between the North and South The papers use the advances in the use of the major macroeconomic models to simulate global and inter regional interactions and to analyse the implications for the South of macroeconomic developments in the North They also examine international policy questions in a genuinely global context and consider the design of policy packages for the Third World aid versus trade growth oriented adjustment in an empirical context This volume provides a useful overview of the flourishing research area relating to interactions between North and South and highlights areas where future research is needed
