Economic And Political Change In Tunisia:

Economic and Political change in Tunisia E. Murphy, 1999-03-08 This book examines the processes of economic and political reform in Tunisia placing the current policies of Zine el Abidine Ben Ali within their historical context The book develops a theoretical understanding of the relationship between economic liberalisation and political change in the Arab world developing the concept of the disarticulation of the corporatist state and concluding that despite efforts at democratization an authoritarian political system is a more likely successor in the era of economic transformation

Economic Crisis and Political Change in North Africa Azzedine Layachi, 1998-10-28 A collective effort by American and North African scholars this volume provides a comprehensive analysis of recent economic social and political events in North Africa It shows how the Maghrebi states and societies are currently at a very important junction as they try to adjust to different ways of doing things in new regional and international orders Using a political economy approach the book focuses on a series of issues raised by the interaction between economic crisis and reform on the one hand and political change or stagnation on the other The author and his contributors provide a comprehensive and up to date survey of particular value to scholars and researchers of the Arab world in general and North Africa in particular Tunisia's Economic Development

Mustapha K. Nabli, Jeffrey B. Nugent, 2022-09-16 This book identifies the differences in growth and development and the various factors lying behind them across both Middle East and North African MENA and East Asian countries over the 1960 2020 period It considers a very wide range of factors compares initial situations institutions and government policies the dynamic responses to changing circumstances and discusses the inability of the governments of the MENA region to achieve not only political reform but also the kinds of economic reform that would allow their citizens to prosper in an increasingly globalized world The book focuses on Tunisia Since its independence in 1956 until 2010 Tunisia had considerable success relative to many other MENA countries but was somewhat less successful relative to East Asian countries Since 2010 however while transitioning away from autocracy to democracy it has been in rather serious economic decline The book highlights how both the factors identified as enabling Tunisia's initial success and those leading to its subsequent decline can provide many useful insights for improving the management of economic development across the whole MENA region and perhaps also to developing countries throughout the world Party and People: a Study of Political Change in Tunisia Lars

Rudebeck, 1969 A Comparative Political Economy of Tunisia and Morocco Gregory White, 2001-07-26 This book examines the profound impact of European integration on two North African countries Tunisia and Morocco Confronting the theoretical literatures on the entanglements of the domestic and international realms and the intricate role played by the middle income state in the international arena White provides the first detailed comparison of Tunisia and Morocco's post independence political economies especially in the context of the Euro Mediterranean Partnerships signed with the European Union in the late 1990s North African states must act on the one hand as entrepreneurs seeking to encourage trade and attract foreign investment within the domestic economy in the process of crafting foreign economic policy with the European Union. On the other hand, such states are constrained by domestic pressures such as imperatives to secure job creation and maintain internal security. Countries on the periphery are therefore faced with two distinct questions: first, how does a middle income state balance its conflicting roles and manage its relations with a regional power; and second, how does the relationship with the outside world affect key domestic actors. Answering these questions is one of the primary challenges facing Tunisia and Morocco in the new decade.

Political and Socio-Economic Change in the Middle East and North Africa Roksana Bahramitash, Hadi Salehi Esfahani, 2016-04-29. Political and Socio Economic Change in the Middle East and North Africa examines the shortcomings of the economic development policies in the region before and after the Arab uprisings. Many MENA countries tried to pursue neoliberal policies to boost economic growth. However, the outcome was associated with rising and disproportionate unemployment among the youth and women. The focal point of the book is the role of gender and the ways in which policies translate into economic outcomes. Particular attention is paid to women's entrepreneurship, especially as owners of small and medium enterprises, which, as the authors argue, can potentially reduce unemployment and poverty for the population as a whole. The book offers perspectives on wholesome policies that take account of issues concerning gender and youth and thus contribute to lower unemployment and reduced poverty and inequity.

Economic and Political Impediments to Middle East Peace L. Drake, 1999-11-09. The accords and protocols that underlie the Arab and Israeli peace agreements set into place economic policies and political processes so flawed that they are bound to fail. The chapters in this volume look at the diplomatic and historical precedents that have led to this situation and they debate some cynically and some sympathetically the reasons why the institutional structures and trade regimes the process has created are so weak. But for whatever reason, the structural flaws built into the Middle East peace process are not only biased toward the dominant players but against the people who most want peace.

Understanding The Political Economy Of The Arab Uprisings Ishac Diwan, 2014-05-26. For the millions of citizens in the Arab World who came together in 2010-2011 to discover their common yearning for dignity and liberty, the real revolutions only began after the wave of protests. Understanding the Political Economy of the Arab Uprisings reassesses the interests, potential, and constraints of various socio-political players and their importance in the building of a constructive environment for democratic progress in the Middle East. Initiated by the Cairo-based Economic Research Forum and edited by Ishac Diwan, this invaluable volume features contributions by Middle East academics across the world. They examine the reasons behind the uprisings, how democratic transitions transpire, the role of Arab capitalism in the crises, and how the experiences of other countries such as Indonesia, Turkey, and Iran can forecast where these uprisings may lead the Middle East in the years to come.

Political Islam in Tunisia Anne Wolf, 2017-07-15. Political Islam in Tunisia uncovers the secret history of Tunisia's main Islamist movement, Ennahda, from its origins in the 1960s to the present. Banned until the popular uprisings of 2010-11 and the overthrow of Ben Ali's dictatorship Ennahda has until now been impossible to investigate This is the first in depth account of the movement one of Tunisia's most influential political actors Drawing on more than four years of field research over 400 interviews and access to private archives Anne Wolf masterfully unveils the evolution of Ennahda's ideological and strategic orientations within changing political contexts and at times conflicting ambitions amongst its leading cadres She also explores the challenges to Ennahda's quest for power from both secularists and Salafis As the first full history of Ennahda this book is a major contribution to the literature on Tunisia Islamist movements and political Islam in the Arab world It will be indispensable reading for anyone seeking to understand the forces driving a key player in the country most hopeful of pursuing a democratic trajectory in the wake of the Arab Spring

Politics of Change in Middle East and North Africa since Arab Spring Md. Muddassir Quamar, 2022-12-29 A decade since the eruption of Arab Spring protests in the Middle East and North Africa the region continues to confront the primary causes of the popular disenchantment including economic deprivation bad governance corruption and limited avenues for political expression Democratisation the buzzword in 2011 has given way to debates around conflict management and resolution Simultaneously there are mounting economic challenges throughout the region that have been aggravated by the COVID 19 pandemic But there are some silver linings such as a focus on reforms greater scrutiny against corruption demand for better governance and awareness regarding women empowerment and rights of minorities The volume Politics of Change in the Middle East and North Africa since Arab Spring A Lost Decade

commemorates the ten years of the eruption of Arab Spring protests It captures some of the prevailing political economic strategic and social issues in MENA through thematic or country specific essays that explore the ongoing transformations and underline how despite the hopelessness the MENA societies have made progress on various fronts Print edition not for sale in South Asia India Sri Lanka Nepal Bangladesh Pakistan and Bhutan The Oxford Handbook of the Phoenician and Punic Mediterranean Carolina López-Ruiz, Brian R. Doak, 2022 The Phoenicians created the Mediterranean world as we know it yet they remain a shadowy and poorly understood group The academic study of the Phoenicians has come to an important crossroads the field has grown in sheer content sophistication of analysis and diversity of interpretation and we now need a current overview of where the study of these ancient seafarers and craftsman stands and where it is going Moreover the field of Phoenician studies is particularly fragmented and scattered While there is growing interest in all things Phoenician and Punic the latest advances are mostly published in specialized journals and conference volumes in a plethora of languages This Handbook is the first of its type to appear in over two decades and the first ever to appear in English In these chapters written by a wide range of prominent and promising scholars from across Europe North America Australia and the Mediterranean world readers will find summary studies on key historical moments such as the history of Carthage areas of culture organized around language religion and material culture regional studies and areas of contact spanning from the Levant and the Aegean to Iberia and North Africa and the reception of the Phoenicians as an idea entangled with the formation of other cultural identities both ancient and modern Revolution and Authoritarianism in North Africa Frédéric Volpi, 2017 Investigates how regimes in the Maghreb have kept dissent at bay and the means by which their authority has been challenged Struggles for Political Change in the Arab World Lisa Blaydes, Amr Hamzawy, Hesham Sallam, 2022-10-11 The advent of the Arab Spring in late 2010 was a hopeful moment for partisans of progressive change throughout the Arab world Authoritarian leaders who had long stood in the way of meaningful political reform in the countries of the region were either ousted or faced the possibility of political if not physical demise The downfall of long standing dictators as they faced off with strong willed protesters was a clear sign that democratic change was within reach Throughout the last ten years however the Arab world has witnessed authoritarian regimes regaining resilience pro democracy movements losing momentum and struggles between the first and the latter involving regional and international powers This volume explains how relevant political players in Arab countries among regimes opposition movements and external actors have adapted ten years after the onset of the Arab Spring It includes contributions on Egypt Morocco Kuwait Saudi Arabia Syria Algeria Sudan Lebanon Iraq Jordan Yemen and Tunisia It also features studies on the respective roles of the United States China Iran and Turkey vis vis questions of political change and stability in the Arab region and includes a study analyzing the role of Saudi Arabia and its allies in subverting revolutionary movements in other countries The Tunisian Revolution and Democratic Transition Mohammad Dawood Sofi, 2021-11-29 Drawing on the history of post independence Tunisia the book studies the evolution of al Nah ah as a political party in Tunisia and its role in a protracted struggle to shape the post authoritarian order along democratic lines It explores al Nah ah s relationship with the Tunisian state society and beyond that resulted in shaping its fluctuating expressions of ideology and practices State repression political participation or internal differentiation among other factors place an Islamic movement in this case al Nah ah in such a situation that demands a perpetual self re evaluation as well as implementation of ideology objectives and political programmes The study explains how the socio political setting in Tunisia demanded various ideologically opposite currents Islamic liberal or leftist to endure cross ideological cooperation either to contest authoritarian regimes or to engage in the political process It more importantly analyzes the trajectory of a gradual democratization process in the country and provides evidence explaining the impact and importance of a vibrant civil society building alliances and sharing of power The book provides comparative analytical attention to the primary sources on these issues to create a critical historiography It thus adds to the body of literature on the state society and politics in the MENA region and particularly targets students scholars and social scientists interested in understanding the nature of power and politics in Tunisia and beyond

Managing Transition Sabina Henneberg, 2020-12-17 Examining the factors that shaped the first interim governments of Tunisia and Libya which formed in the immediate aftermath of the 2011 uprisings that brought down their governments Managing Transition analyses each interim government to enhance our understanding of how political transition occurred within two North African countries Tracing the importance of the key decisions made during these transition periods Sabina Henneberg demonstrates the importance of these decisions taken during the short phase between authoritarian collapse and first post uprising elections including decisions around leadership institutional reform transitional justice and the electoral processes themselves By documenting in close detail the important events of the 2011 Arab Uprisings and the months that followed this study shows that while pre existing structures strongly influence the design and behaviour of first interim governments actors choices are equally important in shaping both immediate and longer term phases of transition
