Forests in a Market Economy Erin O. Sills, Karen Lee Abt, 2013-04-17 This book draws together contributions from forest economists in the Research Triangle of North Carolina with co authors from institutions around the world It represents our common belief that rigorous empirical analysis in an economic framework can inform forest policy We intend the book as a guide to the empirical methods that we have found most useful for addressing both traditional and modern areas of concern in forest policy including timber production and markets multiple use forestry and valuation of non market benefits The book editors and most chapter authors are affiliated with three institutions in the Research Triangle the Southern Research Station of the USDA Forest Service K Abt Butry Holmes Mercer Moulton Prestemon Wear the Department of Forestry at North Carolina State University R Abt Ahn Cubbage Sills and the Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Program of Research Triangle Institute Murray Pattanayak Two other Triangle institutions are also represented among the book authors Duke University Kramer and the Forestland Group Zinkhan In addition to our primary affiliations many of us are adjunct faculty and or graduates of Triangle universities Many of our co authors also graduated from or were previously affiliated with Triangle institutions Thus the selection of topics methods and case studies reflects the work of this particular network of economists and to some degree our location in the southeastern United States However our work and the chapters encompass other regions of the United States and the world including Latin America and Asia

Resource Economics for Foresters G. Robinson Gregory, 1987-11-11 Provides the economic background for making and understanding both public and private forest management decisions Treating forestry as part of our changing economic system while still recognizing its biological foundations this book examines the economic problems that arise when managing forests and how to approach them intelligently Provides an analytic framework an investment project approach useful to both public and private management and applies it to the financial and economic problems peculiar to forestry Also covered are the broad range of social problems associated with forest management Special attention is given to the non market determined values recreation aesthetics etc New information on the structure of U S wood products industries is provided as well as a treatment of the role of forests and foresters in foreign trade particularly with respect to development in the Third World Discusses estimating values for non market products consumer surplus and new approaches to public forest project analysis
