language It will be of interest to researchers and anyone with an interest in historical linguistics linguistic typology linguistic anthropology and language development Ugarit-Forschungen 48 (2017) Manfred Dietrich, Wilfried Watson, Nicolas Wyatt, 2019-04-01 Toponymy on the Periphery Julien Cooper, 2020-08-03 In Toponymy on the Periphery Julien Charles Cooper conducts a study of the rich geographies preserved in Egyptian texts relating to the desert regions east of Egypt These regions filled with mines quarries nomadic camps and harbours are often considered as an unimportant hinterland of the Egyptian state but this work reveals the wide explorations and awareness Egyptians had of the Red Sea and its adjacent deserts from the Sinai in the north to Punt in the south The book attempts to locate many of the placenames present in Egyptian texts and analyse their etymology in light of Egyptian linguistics and the various foreign languages spoken in the adjacent deserts and distant shores of the Red Sea Development of Tense/Aspect in Semitic in the Context of Afro-Asiatic Languages Vit Bubenik, 2017-04-15 The author applies the comparative method for the reconstruction of earlier aspectual systems in the Afro Asiatic phylum of languages Moving upstream from the documented systems of Semitic Berber and Old Cushitic the state of affairs during the common stage of Proto Semito Berbero Cushitic is reconstructed With the addition of Egyptian and Chadic data important conclusions regarding the elusive Proto Afro Asiatic are reached Moving downstream the trajectory of individual aspectual systems through their later stages is analyzed A central piece of the monograph is the reconstruction of intermediate stages reflecting the long term developments of aspectual and temporal categories of individual languages from the Old towards their Middle periods The continuity and innovation in the aspectual systems towards the contemporary state of affairs in analytic serial constructions of Modern Aramaic and Arabic vernacular languages is explicated The author demonstrates that it is imperative to work in a larger typological framework and that in the field of Afro Asiatic linguistics valuable insights can be gained from the study of parallel phenomena in Indo European languages At the same time Indo Europeanists will profit from the study of typologically earlier aspect prominent systems of Afro Asiatic languages The monograph offers important contributions to our understanding of universals and to the typology and diachrony of tense and aspect Afroasiatic Mauro Tosco, 2018-01-15 The articles in the present volume offer an updated view of the breadth of theoretical and empirical research being carried on in the different subgroups of the Afroasiatic phylum They are written by leading specialists and are representative of widely different perspectives and interests from the analysis of data from scarcely known varieties to the reappraisal of old debates such as the value of the Classical Arabic verbal forms Reflecting a great diversity of language structures and functions the articles are grouped into three broad areas the phylum as such in its classificatory and typological aspects the analysis of the intricate morphology of Afroasiatic and its developments and the syntax of Afroasiatic in its widest sense from the clause to the sentence and beyond They witness how Afroasiatic with its unsurpassed historical depth and immense geographical breadth keeps representing a constant source of fascinating data and implications for linguistic theory Language Contact in Ancient Egypt Thomas

Schneider,2023-06-20 This book provides the first comprehensive introduction to the field of language contact and multilingualism in ancient Egypt before the Greco Roman period 4th millennium BCE 4th c BCE It gives a survey of the historical evidence of linguistic interference of Egyptian with languages in Africa the Near East and the Mediterranean discusses the different attested phenomena of language contact and offers a case study of foreign language communities in ancient Egypt Detailed indexes makes this book a rich source of linguistic information for general linguistics and neighboring disciplines

Interaction of Morphology and Syntax Zygmunt Frajzyngier,Erin Shay,2008 The present volume deals with hitherto unexplored issues on the interaction of morphology and syntax These selected and invited papers mainly concern Cushitic and Chadic languages the least described members of the Afroasiatic family Three papers in the volume explore one or more typological characteristics across an entire language family or branch while others focus on one or two languages within a family and the implications of their structures for the family the phylum or linguistic typology as a whole The diversity of topics addressed within the present volume reflects the great diversity of language structures and functions within the Afroasiatic phylum

Functions of Code Switching in Egypt Reem Bassiouney,2017-07-03 This book reassesses theoretical approaches to diglossia and code switching in the light of empirical data from Egypt The work is based on a corpus of monologues that includes political speeches mosque sermons and university lectures Part one is a detailed analysis of the systems of negation deixis and mood marking in Modern Standard Arabic and Egyptian Colloquial Arabic with an emphasis on the occurrence and frequency of composite structures in empirical data This analysis provides the basis for an extensive reassessment of theoretical approaches to code switching in part two this reappraisal in turn leads to a thorough analysis of the function of code switching in the Egyptian speech community and of the factors which influence code choice such as role of the speaker audience and subject matter

The Semitic Languages Stefan Weninger,2011-12-23 The handbook The Semitic Languages offers a comprehensive reference tool for Semitic Linguistics in its broad sense It is not restricted to comparative Grammar although it covers also comparative aspects including classification By comprising a chapter on typology and sections with sociolinguistic focus and language contact the conception of the book aims at a rather complete unbiased description of the state of the art in Semitics Articles on individual languages and dialects give basic facts as location numbers of speakers scripts numbers of extant texts and their nature attestation where appropriate and salient features of the grammar and lexicon of the respective variety The handbook is the most comprehensive treatment of the Semitic language family since many decades

Semitic Studies in Honour of Edward Ullendorff Geoffrey Khan,2017-07-03 This is a Festschrift volume for the British Semitist Edward Ullendorff It contains papers written by leading scholars in the fields of Semitic philology and Near Eastern history and literature The contributions are wide ranging including linguistic studies of Ethiopian Semitic Aramaic Hebrew Arabic and Greek also papers on ancient Near Eastern biblical Islamic and Ethiopian history and papers on Amharic and Modern Hebrew literature

Current issues in the analysis of Semitic grammar and lexicon Lutz Edzard, Grammaticalization Scenarios from Africa, the Americas, and the Pacific Walter Bisang, Andrej Malchukov, 2020-09-21 This volume intends to fill the gap in the grammaticalization studies setting as its goal the systematic description of grammaticalization processes in genealogically and structurally diverse languages To address the problem of the limitations of the secondary sources for grammaticalization studies the editors rely on sketches of grammaticalization phenomena from experts in individual languages guided by a typological questionnaire

The Akkadian Verb and Its Semitic Background N. J. C. Kouwenberg, 2010-06-30 In this magnum opus N J C Kouwenberg presents a thoroughgoing modern analysis of the Akkadian verbal system taking into account all of the currently available evidence for the language during the course of the long period of its attestation The book achieves this goal through two strategies 1 to describe the Akkadian verbal system as comprehensively as the data permit and 2 to reconstruct its prehistory on the basis of internal evidence and reconstruction comparison with cognate languages and typological evidence Akkadian has one of the longest documented histories of any language data from nearly two and one half millennia are available even if the stream of data is sometimes interrupted and not always as copious as we would like During the course of this history numerous developments took place illustrating how languages change over time and offering parallels for reconstruction of changes that occurred in poorly documented periods As a result this book will be of great interest in the first place for all students of Akkadian both the language and the literature that is documented in that language and in the second place for all students of language and linguistics who are interested in the study of how languages are shaped develop and change during the course of a long history

Approaches to Arabic Linguistics Everhard Ditters, Harald Motzki, 2007 This Liber Amicorum discusses topics on the history of Arabic grammar Arabic linguistics and Arabic dialects domains in which Kees Versteegh plays a leading role

The Nubi Language of Uganda Ineke Wellens, 2017-07-03 The Nubi language is spoken in Uganda and Kenya Nubi is Arabic since about 90% of its vocabulary is of an Arabic nature It is often termed a creole since many of its structural and developmental features resemble those of known

creoles The growth and development of the Nubi language must be situated near Lake Albert towards the end of the nineteenth century This period is well documented and is described at length in the first part This volume also provides a detailed description of the Nubi language of Uganda and it deals with the development of the language and searches for the relevant Arabic source dialects The book includes more than one thousand examples and several texts recorded by the author during two extensive periods of field research
