This set of four volumes on Educational Change brings together evidence and insights on educational change issues from leading writers and researchers in the field from across the world. Many of these writers whose chapters have been specially written for these books have been investigating helping initiate and implementing educational change for most or all of their lengthy careers. Others are working on the cutting edge of theory and practice in educational change taking the field in new or even more challenging directions. And some are more skeptical about the literature of educational change and the assumptions on which it rests. They help us to approach projects of understanding or initiating educational change more deeply reflectively and realistically. Educational change and reform have rarely had so much prominence within public policy in so many different places. Educational change is ubiquitous. It figures large in Presidential and Prime Ministerial speeches. It is at or near the top of many National policy agendas. Everywhere educational change is not only a policy priority but also major public news. Yet action to bring about educational change usually exceeds people's understanding of how to do so effectively.

Educational Effectiveness Theory Katharina Maag Merki, Marcus Emmerich, Monika Holmeier, 2018-10-11
Despite the advances in educational effectiveness theory and methodology in the last 20 years important questions and issues remain unresolved. In particular existing theoretical frameworks of educational effectiveness are only able to describe the interrelationship among factors at the system school classroom and student levels and their cross level interdependency in a very general manner. Additionally although a large number of studies provide empirical evidence of the impact of single factors and factor constellations on student learning the embedding of the empirically identified results in theoretical models of educational effectiveness has to be carried out more systematically in order to develop more elaborated theories of educational effectiveness. The aim of this book is to contribute to the advancement of educational effectiveness theory by discussing different strategies including alternative theoretical models to understand educational in effectiveness extending the methodology to analyze processes and mechanisms of educational in effectiveness analyzing differential effects of processes and instruments on educational in effectiveness carrying out complex multivariate analyses considering manifest and latent variables and combining theory and practice in real school situations. Taken together the strategies presented in this book make it clear that the advancement of educational effectiveness theory depends on the advancement of educational effectiveness methodology or in other words from theory to methodology and from empirical evidence back to theory. This book was originally published as a special issue of School
