Funding Of Young Investigators In The Biological And Biomedical Sciences:

The Funding of Young Investigators in the Biological and Biomedical Sciences National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Commission on Life Sciences, Committee on the Funding of Young Investigators in the Biological and Biomedical Sciences, 1994-02-01 This book brings to light trends in the support of life scientists beginning their professional careers In 1985 3 040 scientists under the age of 36 applied for individual investigator R01 grants from the National Institutes of Health and 1 002 received awards for a success rate of 33% In 1993 1 389 scientists under the age of 36 applied for R01 grants and 302 received awards for a success rate of 21 7% Even when R23 R29 grant awards both intended for new investigators are added to the R01 awards the number of R01 plus R23 awards made in 1985 was 1 308 and in 1993 the number of R01 plus R29 was 527 These recent trends in the funding of young biomedical research scientists and the fact that young nonbiomedical scientists historically have had a smaller base of support to draw upon when beginning their careers raises serious questions about the future of life science research It is the purpose of this volume to present data about the trends and examine their implications The Funding of Young Investigators in the Biological and Biomedical Sciences , Presents the full text of The Funding of Young Investigators in the Biological and Biomedical Sciences a report of the National Academy of Sciences NAS Offers access to a PostScript version of the report for downloading Examines the funding of young investigators in life sciences biology and biomedical sciences Lists literature cited Notes that the project was approved by the Governing Board of the National Research Council whose members are drawn from the councils of the National Academy of Sciences NAS the National Academy of Engineering NAE and the Institute of Medicine IOM Links to the home pages of the NAS and the NAP New and Forthcoming Books National Academy Press (U.S.), 1993 Human Genome , 1991 Ethics in Engineering Practice and Research Caroline Whitbeck, 2011-08-15 The first edition of Caroline Whitbeck s Ethics in Engineering Practice and Research focused on the difficult ethical problems engineers encounter in their practice and in research In many ways these problems are like design problems they are complex often ill defined resolving them involves an iterative process of analysis and synthesis and there can be more than one acceptable solution In the second edition of this text Dr Whitbeck goes above and beyond by featuring more real life problems stating recent scenarios and laying the foundation of ethical concepts and reasoning This book offers a real world problem centered approach to engineering ethics using a rich collection of open ended case studies to develop skill in recognizing and addressing ethical issues Research Training in Psychiatry Residency Institute of Medicine, Board on Neuroscience and Behavioral Health, Committee on Incorporating Research into Psychiatry Residency Training, 2004-01-23 The number of psychiatric researchers does not seem to be keeping pace with the needs and opportunities that exist in brain and behavioral medicine An Institute of Medicine committee conducted a broad review of the state of patient oriented research training in the context of the psychiatry residency and considered the obstacles to such training and strategies for overcoming those obstacles Careful consideration was given to the demands of clinical training The committee concluded that barriers to research training span three categories regulatory institutional and personal factors Recommendations to address these issues are presented in the committee s report including calling for research literacy requirements and research training curricula tailored to psychiatry residency programs of various sizes The roles of senior investigators and departmental leadership are emphasized in the report as is the importance of longitudinal training e g from medical school through residency and fellowship As there appears to be great interest among numerous stakeholders and a need for better tracking data an overarching recommendation calls for the establishment of a national body to coordinate and evaluate the progress of research training in psychiatry

Research Ethics Kenneth D. Pimple, 2017-05-15 This volume includes more than 40 important articles on integrity and misconduct biomedical research the social and disciplinary contexts of science research in the social sciences the social responsibility of science and scientists and other core issues in research ethics A new introduction by the editor places these articles in their historical and conceptual context The volume provides a rich library of resources ideas and challenges in the ethics of research for any scholar concerned with such issues
