Funding Of Political Parties In Britain:

The Funding of Political Parties in Britain Keith D. Ewing, 1987-05-21 This study of the way in which political parties are funded examines in detail the corporate funding of the Conservative Party and trade union funding of the Labour Party. In so doing the author considers the legal implications of this activity. The election expenditures of the parties come under scrutiny as does the role of the state in contributing to their financial well being. The concluding chapters consider arguments for more extensive public funding of the political parties as proposed by both the Houghton Committee in 1976 and the Hansard Society in 1981. In considering this issue the author draws heavily on Swedish experience and throughout the book reference is made where appropriate to developments in other jurisdictions including the United States, Canada and West Germany. This important subject is addressed from a legal perspective though the book is written in a clear and forthright style accessible to lawyers and non lawyers alike.

The Funding of Political Parties Keith Ewing, Jacob Rowbottom, Joo-Cheong Tham, 2012-01-25 This book explores the problems associated with regulating the funding of political parties and election campaigns in a timely assessment of a topic of great political controversy. From interest in Obama's capacity to raise vast sums of money to scandals that have rocked UK and Australian governments, party funding is a global issue reflected in this text with case studies from Australia, Canada, New Zealand, United Kingdom and the United States. Taking an interdisciplinary approach with leading scholars from politics, geography and law, this text addresses key themes: contributions, spending, controls, the role of broadcasters and special interests, and the role of the state in funding political parties. With regulatory measures apparently unable to change the behaviour of parties, why have existing laws failed to satisfy the demands for reform and what kind of laws are necessary to change the way political parties behave? The Funding of Political Parties Where Now brings fresh comparative material to inform this topical and intractable debate and assesses the wider implications of continuing problems in political funding. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of political science, political theory, policy and law.

British Political Parties Today Robert Garner, Richard Kelly, 1998-06-15 This important new book, one of the first to reflect the 1997 election result and its effects, reassesses the major political parties in Britain: their ideals, organizations, finances, electoral prospects, and the effect they have upon British society. The authors begin by clarifying the functions of political parties before examining their policies and the extent to which there is a consensus in modern British politics. The shifting nature of Britain's party system is then dissected before a much closer look is taken at the structure, leadership, and membership of Britain's three major parties. A separate chapter also inspects the parties of Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland, offering a fresh perspective on their priorities and internal organization. Although the book has a strong historical content, it also takes a sharp look at British politics under the new Labour government while considering the state of the Tory party under William Hague. The likely effect of a more intrusive European Union is also embraced.

resources people and money Much has been written on the decline of party membership but far less on money In this much needed new book Ron Johnston and Charles Pattie use the latest research and hitherto unpublished material to explore financial differences across the UK's three main parties in the four years leading up to the 2010 General Election They look at how much local parties raise for election campaigns and find that the more money candidates spend then the better their performance Analyses of their annual accounts however show that many local parties are unable to raise all of the money that they are entitled to spend on such campaigns This reveals an unhealthy picture of grassroots party organisation in which the capacity to engage effectively with many voters is concentrated in a relatively small number of constituencies and is likely to remain so This timely and essential book will make a major contribution to the literature on British elections and parties especially to continuing debates regarding party funding It will make important reading for academics students politicians civil servants and others interested in this topic Mastering British Politics F.N. Forman, Nicholas Baldwin, 2007-08-09 Containing all the information and analysis needed to understand the British system of Government and politics Mastering British Politics is an essential text This fifth edition has been fully revised and updated to reflect the results of and developments since the 2005 General Election Political Parties in Britain Matt Cole, 2012-07-31 An introduction to political parties in Britain which offers an examination of the main parties individual characteristics including policy organisation and support and explains the impact of smaller parties Political party finance Committee on Standards in Public Life, 2011-11-22 The Committee on Standards in Public Life spent a year looking at party political finance The majority report believes that the only safe way to remove big money from party funding is to put a cap on donations from all sources individuals and organisations of 10 000 in any one year Trade union affiliation fees could be regarded as a collection of individual donations providing the members individually opt in to the fee The cap would have a significant impact on the income of the major parties and would inevitably require a compensating increase in support for parties from public funds The public funding should depend on the number of votes secured in the previous election at the rate of 3 00 a vote in Westminster elections and 1 50 a vote in devolved and European elections This proposal would result in an annual support amount of some 23 million equivalent to about 50p per elector per year Income tax relief similar to Gift Aid should be available on donations of up to 1000 and on membership fees to political parties Another main recommendation among the 24 in the report is that the existing limits on campaign spending in the period before an election should be cut by the order of 15 per cent The proposals will create challenges for the Electoral Commission and the Committee suggests the recommendations are implemented in time for the start of the next Parliament in 2015 Two members representing political parties dissented from some of the recommendations Political Power and Democratic Control in Britain David Beetham, Stuart Weir, 2002-09-11 Democratic Institutions and Practices is the second study carried out under the Democratic Audit of the UK This volume explores the formal institutions and processes of the liberal democratic state including the Ministry of Justice,2008 This paper presents the Government s proposals on party funding which follow the broad approach outlined by Sir Hayden Phillips in his report Strengthening democracy fair and sustainable funding of political parties 2007 ISBN 9780108507113 It also takes account of the Constitutional Affairs Committee report Party funding first report of session 2006 07 HC 163 I ISBN 9780215031853 and the Committee on Standards in Public Life s CSPL Review of the Electoral Commission Cm 7006 ISBN 9780101700627 The Government proposes to clarify the Electoral Commission s role as an effective regulator of party funding and campaign expenditure to provide it with a widened range of sanctions and investigatory powers and to change the various bars and rules on the appointment of Commissioners and recruitment of staff if they have recently been involved in political activity to increase the number of Commissioners to ten The Government also agrees with the CSPL recommendation that responsibility for setting electoral boundaries should be removed from the Commission and the Boundary Committee for England should become an independent body It is widely agreed that perceived excessive spending by political parties is a cause of public concern and the Government will update and broaden the definition of campaign spending and aim for the agreement of all parties based on Sir Hayden s package of proposals for comprehensive spending limits The paper also reviews the case for a donation cap and public funding of political parties A cap of 50 000 had been suggested by Sir Hayden but the Government believes a lower limit would be appropriate Greater transparency on donations is essential On public funding the Government acknowledges the wide differences of opinion on how best to achieve reform and does not intend to legislate until some consensus is reached with all parties
