Future Currents in Aqueduct Studies A. Trevor Hodge, 1991 A secure supply of safe water is essential for the development of civilised life The great aqueducts of the Roman period are lasting and visible symbols of ancient achievements in this area while other less spectacular but equally well adapted water storage and distribution systems served communities of different types All of these systems are of interest to archaeologists and to historians of engineering and technology This volume contains thirteen papers by leaders in the field of Roman hydraulics in response to the question What would be the approach most profitably to be pursued in future studies in Roman aqueducts The nucleus is the five revised papers of the colloquium chaired by A T Hodge in New York in 1987 Eight further papers were added at the editor's invitation to make a volume varied in approach and in geographical spread unified by the international distinction of the contributors Trevor Hodge himself contributes a masterly and entertaining concluding essay on the whole question of the interdisciplinary nature of his field its possibilities problems and pleasures

Capital, Investment, and Innovation in the Roman World Paul Erdkamp, Koenraad Verboven, Arjan Zuiderhoek, 2020-02-18 Investment in capital both physical and financial and innovation in its uses are often considered the linchpin of modern economic growth while credit and credit markets now seem to determine the wealth as well as the fate of nations Yet was it always thus The Roman economy was large complex and sophisticated but in terms of its structural properties did it look anything like the economies we know and are familiar with today Through consideration of the allocation and uses of capital and credit and the role of innovation in the Roman world the individual essays comprising this volume go straight to the heart of the matter exploring such questions as how capital in its various forms was generated allocated and employed in the Roman economy whether the Romans had markets for capital goods and credit and whether investment in capital led to innovation and productivity growth Their authors consider multiple aspects of capital use in agriculture water management trade and urban production and of credit provision finance and human capital covering different periods of Roman history and ranging geographically across Italy and elsewhere in the Roman world Utilizing many different types of written and archaeological evidence and employing a range of modern theoretical perspectives and methodologies the contributors an expert international team of historians and archaeologists have produced the first book length contribution to focus exclusively on physical and financial capital in the Roman world a volume that is aimed not only at specialists in the field but also at economic historians and archaeologists specializing in other periods and places

Fountains and Water Culture in Byzantium Brooke Shilling, Paul Stephenson, 2016-10-13 This collection explores the ancient fountains of Byzantium Constantinople and Istanbul reviving the senses of past water cultures

Water Technology in the Middle Ages Roberta J. Magnusson, 2003-04-01 Focusing attention on gravity fed water flow systems in medieval cities and monasteries Water Technology in the Middle Ages Cities Monasteries and Waterworks after the Roman Empire challenges the view that hydraulic engineering died with the Romans and remained moribund until the Renaissance Roberta Magnusson explores the systems technologies how they worked what uses the water served and also the social rifts that created struggles over access to this basic necessity Mindful of theoretical questions about what hastens technological change and how society and technology mutually influence one another the author supplies a thoughtful and instructive study Archeological historical and literary evidence vividly depicts those who designed constructed and used medieval water systems and demonstrates a shift from a public administrative to a private innovative framework one that argues for the importance of local initiatives The following chapters attempt to chart a course between the Scylla and Charybdis of technological and social determinism While writing them I have tried to strike a balance between the technical and human aspects of medieval hydraulic systems and to remember that beneath the welter of documents and diffusion patterns configurations and components ordinances and expenditures lie the perceptions the choices and often the plain hard work of individual men and women from the Preface Sextus Propertius Francis Cairns,2006-08-31 A study of Propertius four books of elegies investigating their sources and motives The Plain of Phaistos Harriet Blitzer,Despoina Hadzi-Vallianou,L. Vance Watrous,2005-02-01 The Plain of Phaistos presents the results on an interdisciplinary regional field project 1984 1987 carried out on the island Of Crete This volume traces the changing patterns of settlement and cycles of social complexity from the Late Neolithic period to the present day within the heartland of the state of Phaistos The authors and contributors publish geological archaeological environmental botanical historical and ethnographic studies that establish the regional identity of the Western Mesara Using a combination of empirical processual and post processual theoretical approaches the volume investigates a central problem how and why did the Bronze Age and Classical states arise at Phaistos The Power of Urban Water Nicola Chiarenza,Annette Haug,Ulrich Müller,2020-05-05 Water is a global resource for modern societies and water was a global resource for pre modern societies The many different water systems serving processes of urbanisation and urban life in ancient times and the Middle Ages have hardly been researched until now The numerous contributions to this volume pose questions such as what the basic cultural significance of water was the power of water in the town and for the town from different points of view Symbolic aesthetic and cult aspects are taken up as is the role of water in politics society and economy in daily life but also in processes of urban planning or in urban neighbourhoods Not least the dangers of polluted water or of flooding presented a challenge to urban society The contributions in this volume draw attention to the complex manifold relations between water and human beings This collection presents the results of an international conference in Kiel in 2018 It is directed towards both scholars in ancient and mediaeval studies and all those interested in the diversity of water systems in urban space in ancient and mediaeval times The Invention of the Inspired Text John C. Poirier,2021-01-28 John C Poirier examines the theopneustic nature of the Scripture as a response to the view that inspiration lies at the heart of most contemporary Christian theology In contrast to the traditional rendering of the Greek word theopneustos as God inspired in 2 Tim 3 16

Poirier argues that a close look at first and second century uses of theopneustos reveals that the traditional inspirationist understanding of the term did not arise until the time of Origen in the early third century CE and that in every pre Origen use of theopneustos the word instead means life giving Poirier thus conducts a detailed investigation of theopneustos as it appears in the fifth Sibylline Oracle the Testament of Abraham Vettius Valens Pseudo Plutarch Placita Philosophorum and Pseudo Phocylides all of whom understand the word to mean life giving He also studies the use of the cognate term theopnous in Numenius the Corpus Hermeticum on an inscription at the Great Sphinx of Giza and on an inscription at a nymphaeum at Laodicea on the Lycus Poirier argues that a rendering of life giving also fits better within the context of 2 Tim 3 16 and that this meaning survived late enough to figure in a fifth century work by Nonnus of Panopolis He further traces the pre Origen use of theopneustos among the Church Fathers Poirier concludes by addressing the implication of rethinking the traditional understanding of Scripture stressing that the lack of God inspired scripture ultimately does not affect the truth status of the gospel as preached by the apostles

Histories of Peirene Betsey Ann Robinson, 2011 The Peirene Fountain as described by its first excavator Rufus B Richardson is the most famous fountain of Greece Here is a retrospective of a wellspring of Western civilization distinguished by its long history service to a great ancient city and early identification as the site where Pegasus landed and was tamed by the hero Bellerophon Spanning three millennia and touching a fourth Peirene developed from a nameless spring to a renowned source of inspiration from a busy landmark in Classical Corinth to a quiet churchyard and cemetery in the Byzantine era and finally from free flowing Ottoman fountains back to the streams of the source within a living ruin These histories of Peirene as a spring and as a fountain and of its watery imagery form a rich cultural narrative whose interrelations and meanings are best appreciated when studied together The author deftly describes the evolution of the Fountain of Peirene framed against the underlying landscape and its ancient medieval and modern settlement viewed from the perspective of Corinthian culture and spheres of interaction Published with the assistance of the Getty Foundation Winner of the 2011 Prose Award for Professional and Scholarly Excellence in the category of Archaeology Anthropology The Prose Awards are given annually by the Professional and Scholarly Publishing division of the American Association of Publishers

Contributions to the Study of the Water Supply of Ancient Corinth Mark Elliot Landon, 1994 Corinth, the Centenary, 1896-1996 Charles K. Williams, Nancy Bookidis, 2003 Twenty five papers presented at the December 1996 symposium held in Athens to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the American School of Classical Studies excavations at ancient Corinth The papers are intended to illustrate the range in subject matter of research currently being undertaken by scholars of ancient Corinth and their inclusion in one volume will serve as a useful reference work for nonspecialists Each of the topics which vary widely from Corinthian geology to religious practices to Byzantine pottery is presented by the acknowledged expert in that area The book includes a full general bibliography of articles and volumes concerning material excavated at Corinth As a summary of one hundred years research it will be useful to generations of scholars to come Medieval Water Supplies Roberta Jean Magnusson,1994 Public Needs and Private Pleasures Rabun M. Taylor,2000 A meticulously detailed investigation of Rome s practical solution to the problems of providing and distributing the city s water supply between the end of the Republic and Trajan s reign Taylor s principal aims are to determine where and why aqueduct systems crossed the Tiber and to assess the function of the enigmatic Aqua Alsietia An initial discussion of the technical and legal context for aqueduct planning is followed by a topographical inquiry into several specific aqueducts including the four earliest aqueduct river crossings the Aqua Appia Anio Velus Aqua Marcia and the Aqua Virgo Taylor also examines the expansion and organisation of water supply within the Transiberim a heavily populated district of Rome to the west of the Tiber and assesses its influence on Rome s wider urban policy The Oxford Handbook of Engineering and Technology in the Classical World John Peter Oleson,2008-01-31 Nearly every aspect of daily life in the Mediterranean world and Europe during the florescence of the Greek and Roman cultures is relevant to the topics of engineering and technology This volume highlights both the accomplishments of the ancient societies and the remaining research problems and stimulates further progress in the history of ancient technology The subject matter of the book is the technological framework of the Greek and Roman cultures from ca 800 B C through ca A D 500 in the circum Mediterranean world and Northern Europe Each chapter discusses a technology or family of technologies from an analytical rather than descriptive point of view providing a critical summation of our present knowledge of the Greek and Roman accomplishments in the technology concerned and the evolution of their technical capabilities over the chronological period Each presentation reviews the issues and recent contributions and defines the capacities and accomplishments of the technology in the context of the society that used it the available technological shelf and the resources consumed These studies introduce and synthesize the results of excavation or specialized studies The chapters are organized in sections progressing from sources written and representational to primary e g mining metallurgy agriculture and secondary e g woodworking glass production food preparation textile production and leather working production to technologies of social organization and interaction e g roads bridges ships harbors warfare and fortification and finally to studies of general social issues e g writing timekeeping measurement scientific instruments attitudes toward technology and innovation and the relevance of ethnographic methods to the study of classical technology The unrivalled breadth and depth of this volume make it the definitive reference work for students and academics across the spectrum of classical studies Cities in Civilization Peter Hall,1998 Ranging over 2 500 years Cities in Civilization is a tribute to the city as the birthplace of Western civilization Drawing on the contributions of economists and geographers of cultural technological and social historians Sir Peter Hall examines twenty one cities at their greatest moments Hall describes the achievements of these golden ages and outlines the precise combinations of forces both universal and local that led to each city s belle epoque Hall identifies four distinct expressions of civic innovation artistic growth technological progress the marriage of culture and technology and solutions to evolving problems Descriptions of

Periclean Athens Renaissance Florence Elizabethan London and nineteenth century Vienna bring to life those seedbeds of artistic and intellectual creativity Explorations of Manchester during the Industrial Revolution of Henry Ford s Detroit and of Palo Alto at the dawn of the computer age highlight centers of technological advances Tales of the creation of Los Angeles movie industry and the birth of the blues and rock n roll in Memphis depict the marriage of culture and technology Finally Hall celebrates cities that have been forced to solve problems created by their very size With Imperial Rome came the apartment block and aqueduct nineteenth century London introduced policing prisons and sewers twentieth century New York developed the skyscraper and Los Angeles became the first city without a center a city ruled instead by the car And in a fascinating conclusion Hall speculates on urban creativity in the twenty first century This penetrating study reveals not only the lives of cities but also the lives of the people who built them and created the civilizations within them A decade in the making Cities in Civilization is the definitive account of the culture of cities
