Menrad, Demosthenes Agrafiotis, Christien M. Enzing, Louis Lemkow, Fabio Terragni, 2013-06-29 Although the first Agro Food products based on modern biotechnology e.g. recombinant chymosin for cheese production tomato puree based on genetically engineered tomatoes herbicide resistant genetically modified soybean insect resistant maize have been introduced in the EU markets in recent years the application of this technology is still being intensively discussed in the European Union Recent opinion polls indicate as well that consumers acceptance of genetically engineered food and agro products still is relatively low e.g. European Commission 1997 Hampel et al 1997 at least in some member states of the EU In contrast representatives from politics and industry underline the necessity to apply modern biotechnology in the Agro Food sector as well mainly to ensure the competitiveness of EU agriculture and food industry and for employment reasons Against this background there seems to be a need for a scientific analysis of the future impacts of modern biotechnology in the Agro Food sector of the EU Recent studies trying to analyse this issue e.g. OECD 1992 Teuber 1992 usually comprise extrapolations of status quo analyses What has not been exploited so far in this context are systematic technology forecasting approaches which do not include only one single country but get information on an international level Therefore the impacts of modern biotechnology on the Agro Food sector in five member countries of the EU Germany Greece Italy the Netherlands and Spain have been analysed with the help of the Delphi methodology which represents one of the most reliable tools for technology forecasting
