Seapower in the Post-modern World Basil Germond, 2024-04-16

In an era of increasing geopolitical tensions disruptive technologies and the rise of authoritarianism the question of who masters the seas is more than ever central to the future of the international order But while naval operations maritime security and ocean governance have become increasingly relevant in world politics the concept and definition of seapower have largely been neglected by the scholarship in the international relations field Seapower in the Post modern World fills this gap with an analysis of the naval economic and ideational dimensions of seapower from antiquity to today Exploring the extent to which the permanent elements associated with seapower such as technology commerce and maritime culture transcend historical periods Basil Germond frames contemporary seapower as a combination of components including traditional naval power post modern conceptions of collective and civilian seapower and the neo modern phenomena of maritime territorialization and the naval arms race By giving seapower a new conceptual definition Seapower in the Post modern World offers key analytical tools for understanding the stability of the global maritime order and seapower s contribution to global leadership more broadly     Sea Power and American Interests in the Western Pacific David C. Gompert,2013-04-09 This book examines the strategic choices that American and Chinese decisionmakers face regarding sea power in the Western Pacific shaped by geography history technology and politics In particular the author explores the potential for cooperation on maritime security in the Western Pacific and how the United States might pursue such cooperation as part of a broader strategy to advance its interests in the region     The Interest of America in Sea Power Present and Future - Scholar's Choice Edition Alfred Thayer Mahan,2015-02-17 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant     The Problem of Asia Alfred Thayer Mahan,1900 In The Problem of Asia the celebrated American naval historian and strategist Alfred Thayer Mahan analyzes the geopolitical structure of world politics at the dawn of the twentieth century Mahan wrote his book at a time when the United States was emerging as a world power having recently acquired overseas territories as a result of its victory in the Spanish American War It was a call to America and its leaders to break with the intellectual tradition of Washingtons Farewell Address and to recognize that U S security was tied to the balance of power in Asia as well as Europe     Militarism in a Global Age Dirk Bönker,2012-03-15 At the turn of the twentieth century the United States and Germany emerged as the two most rapidly developing industrial nation states of the Atlantic world The elites and intelligentsias of both countries staked out claims to dominance in the twentieth century In Militarism in a Global Age Dirk Bonker explores the far reaching ambitions of naval officers before World War I as they advanced navalism a particular brand of modern militarism that stressed the paramount importance of sea power as a historical determinant Aspiring to make their own countries into self-reliant world powers in an age of global empire and commerce officers viewed the causes of the industrial nation's global influence, elite rule, and naval power as inseparable. Characterized by both transnational exchanges and national competition, the new maritime militarism was technocratic in its impulses; its makers cast themselves as members of a professional elite that served the nation with its expert knowledge of maritime and global affairs. American and German navalist projects differed less in their principal features than in their eventual trajectories. Over time, the pursuits of these projects channeled the two naval elites in different directions as they developed contrasting outlooks on their bids for world power and maritime force. Combining comparative history with transnational and global history, Militarism in a Global Age challenges traditional exceptionalist assumptions about militarism and national identity in Germany and the United States in its exploration of empire and geopolitics, warfare and military operational imaginations, state formation and national governance and expertise, and professionalism. The Influence of Sea Power Upon History, 1660-1783 Alfred Thayer Mahan, 1928      The Interest of America in Sea Power, Present and Future Alfred Thayer Mahan, 1970
