Future Of The Defence Industries In Central And Eastern Europe:

The Future of the Defence Industries in Central and Eastern Europe Ian Anthony, 1994 This report examines the defence industries in Central and Eastern Europe as they attempt to restructure in the wake of changes brought about by the end of the cold war and downward trends in both military expenditure and arms exports Issues addressed include the developing military doctrines in Central and Eastern Europe the trend in military expenditure the nature of defence industry restructuring the international dimensions of industrial restructuring and the role of arms exports

Defence Industries in the 21st Century Çağlar Kurç, Richard A. Bitzinger, Stephanie G. Neuman, 2021-05-14 Defence Industries in the 21st Century explores the transformation in the global defence industrial production through examining the interaction between international and domestic factors With the global defence industry and arms market likely continue to expand and mature the ways in which this progression could influence international politics remain obscure In practice as the contents of this book show the defence industrial bases and arms export policies of emerging states display significant variance This variance is the result of a unique balance between domestic and international factors that has shaped the defence industrialisation behaviour and policies of the less industrialised states One of the most important conclusions of the book is that the interplay between domestic and international factors clearly influences the variation in the emerging states defence industrialisation policies as well as their success or failure While international factors create opportunities they also limit the options available to emerging economies Domestic factors also play an important role by shaping the policy choices of the states decision makers Exploring the balance between international and domestic factors and the ways in which they influence defence industrialisation in emerging states Defence Industries in the 21st Century will be of great interest to scholars of Defence Industries Arms Manufacturing and Defence Strategic and Security Studies more generally The chapters were originally published in Defence Studies Comparative Strategy and All Azimuth

The Defence Industry in East-Central Europe Judit Kiss, 1997 In 1989 90 the collapse of state socialism and the end of the Cold War brought dramatic changes for the defence industries of East Central Europe Initially it seemed that the resources devoted to the Cold War confrontation might become available for investment in non military economic and social progress However by 1994 this optimism had given way to recognition that the transformation would involve significant costs and could not be accomplished quickly The Defence Industry in East Central Europe charts the development of the industries of the Visegrad countries Czechoslovakia and its successor states the Czech Republic and Slovakia Poland and Hungary In the first part national case studies underline the different approaches to reform adopted in the individual countries The second part uses unique information derived from extensive interviews at enterprises in each of the four countries to examine the transformation of industry from a producer perspective

The Politics and Economics of Defence Industries Efraim Inbar, Benzion Zilberfarb, 2013-09-13 This volume provides a policy relevant analysis of the complex web of contemporary economic trends political developments and strategic considerations that are shaping the contours of the new post Cold War world market for weaponry From Defense to Development? Sean M. DiGiovanna, Ann Markusen, 2003-09-11 This book tracks the progress of 12 countries on five continents in moving resources from defense to civilian activity in the 1990s Based on intensive research it addresses each country with an impressive standard of scholarship Frameworks for Industrial Policy in Central and Eastern Europe Brigitta Widmaier, Wolfgang Potratz, 1999 The central issue of this book is based on the need for Central and Eastern European economies to push ahead with endogenous development The text outlines variables and problems in such areas as the structural changes in industry and the industrial policies of countries Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1999 The Future of NATO Expansion Zoltan Barany, 2003-07-21 In 1999 three East Central European states Poland Hungary and the Czech Republic gained membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Professor Barany argues that once it began the Alliance should continue the enlargement process Nevertheless he maintains that only states that satisfy NATO's membership criteria should be allowed to join Through an extensive analysis of four countries Bulgaria Romania Slovakia and Slovenia who at the time of the book's original publication in 2003 were NATO aspirants Barany demonstrates that they were in several important respects unprepared for membership and that there was no pressing reason for NATO's haste Barany argues that while NATO should be clear that its doors remain open to qualified candidates the Alliance should hold off further expansion until prospective members will become assets rather than liabilities

The East European Economy in Context David Turnock, 2003-09-02 Since 1989 the former communist countries of Eastern Europe have witnessed a profound and dramatic upheaval The economic coherence of this region formerly maintained through the adoption of the Soviet system of government has fractured In The East European Economy in Context Communism and Transition David Turnock examines the transition from communist to free market economies both within and between the states of Eastern Europe As well as containing an informative survey of the impact of communism The East European Economy in Context provides Political profiles of individual countries A clear study of the contrasts between northern and balkan groups Summaries of regional variations in the transition process An exploration of the new state structures and resources Discussion of political stability inter ethnic tensions and progress in economic change The Politics of East-West Migration Solon Ardittis, 2016-07-27 How many people have migrated from central and Eastern Europe since the 1989 revolutions Are fears of mass migration from eastern Europe well founded What are the causes and effects in both the sending and receiving countries of such population movements What are the policy reactions in the East and the West and how is this phenomenon likely to develop and to be regulated over the near future These are some of the key questions addressed in this book by sixteen east and west European experts on international migration Exploding the Myth? Derek Braddon, 2014-02-25 From a cold war peak of some 1000 billion per annum world military expenditure has declined by about 40% since 1990 reaching its lowest level for thirty years With such significant decline in global public expenditure commitments to the defence sector a substantial and lasting peace dividend was anticipated Most governments believed that market forces left more or less to their own devices would deal effectively with this major exogenous shock and generate sufficient new economic activity to allow increased public expenditure on health education and welfare The approach of this book is to challenge the fundamental but flawed belief that a substantial and lasting peace dividend could be secured through market solution alone The principal assertion is that market adjustment by itself cannot deliver such a dividend The book focuses on the major aspects of the economic business and security consequences of post Cold War defence expenditure reduction Key problems obstructing optimal market response are identified and possible remedial action by government and others is considered Future of NATO Teleglobe Raoul-Dandurand Chair of Strategic and Diplomatic Studies, Université du Québec à Montréal. Centre d'études des politiques étrangères et de sécurité, 1999 Fourteen contributions address the theoretical and pragmatic issues behind the issue of enlarging NATO's membership examining the policies of some of NATO's leading member states and addressing the issue from the point of view of Russia and the Central and Eastern European candidates Marred by a lack of index Canadian LC C99 900354 2 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Regionalisation of Globalised Innovation Ulrich Hilpert, 2003-10-23 While processes of innovation are increasingly realised globally they can also take a highly regionalised expression In this book the global networks that link regions are set against the local aspects of innovation With contributions from international experts this book examines local Islands of Innovation where research and industrial expertise are concentrated along with areas where traditional industrial regions have passed through a process of innovative restructuring Global Insecurity Mary Kaldor, 2000-09-20 Introduces the reader to works in the Wallace Collection through the voice of its Director Support Agencies United States.
