

The first step in the process is to identify the problem. This involves gathering information about the situation and the people involved. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to analyze it. This involves breaking the problem down into its component parts and determining the causes of the problem. The third step is to develop a plan of action. This involves determining the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem. The fourth step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring the progress. The final step is to evaluate the results. This involves determining whether the problem has been solved and whether the plan was effective.

The process of problem solving is a continuous one. It is not a one-time event. It is a process that must be repeated over and over again.

Norheim,Anthony J. Culyer,2020-09-30 Distributional cost effectiveness analysis aims to help health care and public health organisations make fairer decisions with better outcomes Whereas standard cost effectiveness analysis provides information about total costs and effects distributional cost effectiveness analysis provides additional information about fairness in the distribution of costs and effects who gains who loses and by how much It can also provide information about the trade offs that sometimes occur between efficiency objectives such as improving total health and equity objectives such as reducing unfair inequality in health This is a practical guide to a flexible suite of economic methods for quantifying the equity consequences of health programmes in high middle and low income countries The methods can be tailored and combined in various ways to provide useful information to different decision makers in different countries with different distributional equity concerns The handbook is primarily aimed at postgraduate students and analysts specialising in cost effectiveness analysis but is also accessible to a broader audience of health sector academics practitioners managers policymakers and stakeholders As well as offering an overview for research commissioners users and producers the book includes systematic technical guidance on how to simulate and evaluate distributions with accompanying hands on spreadsheet training exercises and discussions about how to handle uncertainty about facts and disagreement about values and the future challenges facing this young and rapidly evolving field of study
