Globalization and Race Kamari Maxine Clarke, Deborah A. Thomas, 2006 Kamari Maxine Clarke and Deborah A Thomas argue that a firm grasp of globalization requires an understanding of how race has constituted and been constituted by global transformations Focusing attention on race as an analytic category this state of the art collection of essays explores the changing meanings of blackness in the context of globalization It illuminates the connections between contemporary global processes of racialization and transnational circulations set in motion by imperialism and slavery between popular culture and global conceptions of blackness and between the work of anthropologists policymakers religious revivalists and activists and the solidification and globalization of racial categories A number of the essays bring to light the formative but not unproblematic influence of African American identity on other populations within the black diaspora Among these are an examination of the impact of black America on racial identity and politics in mid twentieth century Liverpool and an inquiry into the distinctive experiences of blacks in Canada Contributors investigate concepts of race and space in early twenty first century Harlem the experiences of trafficked Nigerian sex workers in Italy and the persistence of race in the purportedly non racial language of the New South Africa They highlight how blackness is consumed and expressed in Cuban timba music in West Indian adolescent girls fascination with Buffy the Vampire Slayer and in the incorporation of American rap music into black London culture Connecting race to ethnicity gender sexuality nationality and religion these essays reveal how new class economies ideologies of belonging and constructions of social difference are emerging from ongoing global transformations Contributors Robert L Adams Lee D Baker Jacqueline Nassy Brown Tina M Campt Kamari Maxine Clarke Raymond Codrington Grant Farred Kesha Fikes Isar Godreau Ariana Hernandez Reguant Jayne O Ifekwunigwe John L Jackson Jr Oneka LaBennett Naomi Pabst Lena Sawyer Deborah A Thomas Creating the Hybrid Intellectual Anne Lambright, 2007 A contribution to the study of Peruvian anthropologist and creative writer Jose Maria Arguedas It asserts that it is through reading the role and trajectory of the feminine in Arguedian narrative that we can best understand the author s national vision Ethnomusicology Jennifer Post, 2004-03-01 Ethnomusicology A Research and Information Guide is an annotated bibliography of books recordings videos and websites in the field of ethnomusicology The book is divided into two parts Part One is organised by resource type in catagories of greatest concern to students and scholars This includes handbooks and guides encyclopedias and dictionaries indexes and bibliographies journals media sources and archives It also offers annotated entries on the basic literature of ethnomusicological history and research Part Two provides a list of current publications in the field that are widely used by ethnomusicologists Multiply indexed this book serves as an excellent tool for librarians researchers and scholars in sorting through the massive amount of new material that has appeared in the field over the past decades La agonía de Rasu-Ñiti y otros cuentos José María Arguedas, 2016 En La agon a de Rasu iti encontramos la superaci n de la muerte a partir del rito comunitario de la danza de las tijeras y en Warma kuyay y El sue o

Timba: The Sound of the Cuban Crisis Vincenzo Perna, 2017-07-05 Cuban music is recognized unanimously as a major historical force behind Latin American popular music and as an important player in the development of US popular music and jazz However the music produced on the island after the Revolution in 1959 has been largely overlooked and overshadowed by the Buena Vista Social Club phenomenon The Revolution created the conditions for the birth of a type of highly sophisticated popular music which has grown relatively free from market pressures These conditions premised the new importance attained by Afro Cuban dance music during the 1990s when the island entered a period of deep economic and social crisis that has shaken Revolutionary institutions from their foundations Vincenzo Perna investigates the role of black popular music in post Revolutionary Cuba and in the 1990s in particular The emergence of timba is analysed as a distinctively new style of Afro Cuban dance music The controversial role of Afro Cuban working class culture is highlighted showing how this has resisted co optation into a unified pacified vision of national culture and built musical bridges with the transnational black diaspora Musically timba represents an innovative fusion of previous popular and folkloric Afro Cuban styles with elements of hip hop and other African American styles like jazz funk and salsa Timba articulates a black urban youth subculture with distinctive visual and choreographic codes With its abrasive commentaries on issues such as race consumer culture tourism prostitution and its connections to the underworld timba demonstrates at the street level many of the contradictions of contemporary Cuban society After repeatedly colliding with official discourses timba has eventually met with institutional repression This book will appeal not only to ethnomusicologists and those working on popular music studies but also to those working in the areas of cultural and Black studies anthropology Latin American st
