The Palestinian Peasant Economy Under the Mandate Amos Nadan, 2006 Challenging the claim that Palestine's peasant economy progressed during the 1920s and 1930s Amos Nadan skillfully integrates a wide variety of sources to demonstrate that the period was actually one of deterioration on both the macro per capita and micro levels The economy would have most likely continued its downward spiral during the 1940s had it not been for the temporary prosperity that resulted from World War II Nadan argues that this deterioration continued despite the British authorities channeling of funds from the Jewish sector and the wealthier Arab sectors into projects for the Arab rural economy The British were hoping that Palestine's peasants would not rebel if their economic conditions improved These programs were on the whole defective because the British chose programs based on an assumption that the peasants were too ignorant to manage their farms wisely instead of working with the peasants and their own institutions

Forging Urban Solidarities Charles L. Wilkins, 2010 As with most empires of the Early Modern period 1500-1800 the Ottomans mobilized human and material resources for warmaking on a scale that was vast and unprecedented The present volume examines the direct and indirect effects of warmaking on Aleppo an important Ottoman administrative center and Levantine trading city as the empire engaged in multiple conflicts including wars with Venice 1644-69 Poland 1672-76 and the Hapsburg Empire 1663-64 1683-99 Focusing on urban institutions such as residential quarters military garrisons and guilds and using intensively the records of local law courts the study explores how the routinization of direct imperial taxes and the assimilation of soldiers to civilian life challenged and reshaped the city's social and political order

Craftsmen of the Middle East Suraiya Faruqi, Randi Deguilhem, 2005-03-24 Crafts and Craftsmen of the Middle East presents research on craft workers within and outside the guild structure from the modern and contemporary Mediterranean world From the late sixteenth century Ottoman Empire to traditional style crafts in twentieth century Turkey and Egypt the book surveys a multitude of traditions It begins in 1582 when Istanbul artisans paraded in front of Sultan Murad III moves through to the eighteenth century struggles between artisans and tax farmers in Tokat the artisans of Cairo and the craftsmen of Adana and into nineteenth century accounts of Istanbul's women workers and Jewish butchers This book is essential to all those interested in the history of the culture and society of the Islamic Mediterranean The Ottomans and the Balkans Fikret Adanir, Suraiya Faruqi, 2002-04-01 This discussion of historiography concerning the Ottoman Empire should be viewed in the context of our discipline's self examination which certainly has been encouraged by recent conflicts in southeastern Europe and the Middle East Our contributors analyse the fashion in which the historiographies established in various national states have viewed the Ottoman Empire and its legacy At the same time they discuss the links of twentieth century historiography with the rich historical tradition of the Ottoman Empire itself both in its metropolitan and its provincial forms The struggle against anachronisms born from the nationalist paradigm in history doubtless constitutes the most important common feature of these otherwise very diverse studies

A Monetary History of the Ottoman Empire Sevket Pamuk, 2000-03-09 The Ottoman empire stood at the crossroads of intercontinental trade at the dawn of the era of capitalism This volume examines the monetary history of that empire from its beginnings in the fourteenth century to the end of the first world war Through a detailed examination of the currencies and related institutions of an empire which stretched from the Balkans through Anatolia Syria Egypt and the Gulf to the Maghrib the book demonstrates the complexity of the monetary arrangements and their evolution in response to both local developments and global economic forces The volume also affords some valuable insights into social and political history and the evolution of Ottoman institutions This is an important book by one of the most distinguished economic historians in the field Turkey and the World Sedat Laçiner, 2001

The Ottoman City Between East and West Edhem Eldem, Daniel Goffman, Bruce Alan Masters, 1999-11-11 Studies of early modern Islamic cities have stressed the atypical or the idiosyncratic This bias derives largely from orientalist presumptions that they were in some way substandard or deviant The first purpose of this volume is to normalize Ottoman cities to demonstrate how on the one hand they resembled cities generally and how on the other their specific histories individualized them The second purpose is to challenge the previous literature and to negotiate an agenda for future study By considering the narrative histories of Aleppo Izmir and Istanbul the book offers a departure from the piecemeal methods of previous studies emphasizing their importance during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and highlighting their essentially

Ottoman character While the essays provide an overall view each can be approached separately Their exploration of the sources and the agendas of those who have conditioned scholarly understanding of these cities will make them essential student reading
