

The Story of Hanukkah

More than two thousand years ago the Jewish people lived in the Land of Israel. They were ruled by the Syrians, who followed Greek customs. They spoke Greek, read Greek books, and dressed like Greeks. Many Jews also began to accept Greek ways, including playing sports and games that were part of the worship of Greek gods.

Then, Antiochus, the Syrian king, ordered all the Jews to stop observing Jewish customs and laws, and to start worshiping the Greek gods. The Syrians desecrated the Temple in Jerusalem—the holiest place of the Jewish people—by setting up Greek idols and sacrificing pigs.

Mattathias of Modi'in led a revolt against the Syrians. He was joined by his five sons and other brave Jewish rebels. After Mattathias died, his son Judah became the rebels' leader and was known as Judah the Maccabee, or Judah the Hammer. His fighters were called Maccabees.

The Maccabees hid in the hills of Jerusalem. They knew the best places there to ambush the Syrian troops, who were much more numerous and more heavily armed. The Maccabees fought hard for three long years. Finally, they drove Antiochus's army out of Jerusalem.

The Jews destroyed the Greek idols, cleansed the Temple, and relit its menorah—its candelabrum with seven branches. On the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev, they rededicated the Temple to God. The Hebrew word for "dedication" is hanukkah, which is how the holiday got its name. It is also called the Festival of Lights.

Why We Celebrate for Eight Days

Judah and his men modeled their dedication after the eight-day festival of Sukkot, which they had not been able to celebrate a few months earlier because the Temple had been desecrated. Talmudic legend suggests a second reason that we celebrate for eight days. It says that when the Jews returned to the Temple, they found enough oil to light the menorah for only one day but the oil lasted for eight days.

Today, the Hanukkah candle lighting proclaims the miracle of the Temple's restoration. Each Hanukkah menorah is designed to resemble the seven-branched menorah of the Temple but with eight branches to symbolize the eight days of Hanukkah (plus one extra for the shamash, the helper).
