Air Force, 2015-02-24 Born in Pennsylvania on June 25 1886 Henry Harley Arnold spent his youth in a home a few miles west of Philadelphia His father an authoritarian conservative and austere physician so dominated the household that his children were not allowed to speak at the dinner table Young Arnold reacted to this rigid upbringing in two ways First although he learned to submit to authority when necessary he also developed a streak of contrariness that on occasion led him to oppose the powers that be when he disagreed with them on important issues Second when Arnold achieved positions of high command and stress he reverted to type and adopted his father s authoritarian ways which blended well with the management philosophy of the in the first half of the twentieth century Arnold did not lead by attempting to create consensus While genetic circumstance gives some individuals a stem unsmiling physiognomy it played the opposite trick on Arnold affixing an almost permanent smile on his face By the 1920s that smile would earn him the nickname of Happy soon shortened to Hap On first meetings his apparent insouciance could lead others to misjudge both his ability and his tenacity However during World War II members of the U S Army Air Forces Air Staff soon learned that the general's countenance retained its smile even as he verbally cut subordinates to ribbons. At West Point and later Arnold displayed a mischievous impertinent bent in accord with his looks. But Arnold had a ruthless impatience with failure, slackness, and incompetence coupled with a furious, sometimes uncontrolled temper. Above all, he relentlessly drove himself and those around him to succeed at their tasks. His staff and subordinates felt his fire. As he matured, he saved most of his charm for his superiors.

American Military Aviation Charles Joseph Gross, 2002. Discusses major developments in aircraft doctrine, training, and operations. The author also provides discussions of airlift, in-flight refueling, military budgets, industry, and inter-service squabbling. He deftly sketches the evolution of the air arms of each of the different services and provides clear analysis of military budgets.

Space Force Pioneers David Christopher Arnold, 2024-11-19. Featuring biographical chapters on the leaders who served in space roles in the U.S. Air Force, Army, or Marine Corps, including officers who experienced the celestial skies firsthand as astronauts. Space Force Pioneers aims to enhance the reader's understanding of character and leadership in military space from the experiences of these elite ground-breaking leaders. The opening chapter explains in detail how the United States Space Force evolved from the Air Force. It is followed by ten biographical chapters that examine the stellar careers of space pioneers and illuminate their varied leadership styles. The chapter authors, all experts on the subject matter, engagingly capture the essence of these impressive individuals by incorporating information derived from the personal papers of their subjects and, in some cases, oral histories and interviews along with other historical sources. They make clear the lasting contributions each of these leaders made to military space while serving in or out of uniform. Space Force Pioneers offers insight and analysis into how these unique leaders have operated in the performance of their duties as well as chronicling changes in military space over the past four decades. The volume concludes with a broad and probing interpretation of contemporary space leadership, which offers a vehicle for comparing the accomplishments of these distinctive military space leaders.

The Women with Silver Wings Katherine Sharp Landdeck,2021-03-30 With the fate of the free world hanging in the balance women pilots went aloft to serve their nation A soaring tale in which at long last these daring World War II pilots gain the credit they deserve Liza Mundy New York Times bestselling author of Code Girls A powerful story of reinvention community and ingenuity born out of global upheaval Newsday When the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor in December 1941 Cornelia Fort was already in the air At twenty two Fort had escaped Nashville s debutante scene for a fresh start as a flight instructor in Hawaii She and her student were in the middle of their lesson when the bombs began to fall and they barely made it back to ground that morning Still when the U S Army Air Forces put out a call for women pilots to aid the war effort Fort was one of the first to respond She became one of just over 1 100 women from across the nation to make it through the Army s rigorous selection process and earn her silver wings The brainchild of trailblazing pilots Nancy Love and Jacqueline Cochran the Women Airforce Service Pilots WASP gave women like Fort a chance to serve their country and to prove that women aviators were just as skilled as men While not authorized to serve in combat the WASP helped train male pilots for service abroad and ferried bombers and pursuits across the country Thirty eight WASP would not survive the war But even taking into account these tragic losses Love and Cochran s social experiment seemed to be a resounding success until with the tides of war turning Congress clipped the women s wings The program was disbanded the women sent home But the bonds they d forged never failed and over the next few decades they came together to fight for recognition as the military veterans they were and for their place in history

Operation PLUM Adrian R. Martin,Larry W. Stephenson,2010-07-15 They went in as confident young warriors They came out as battle scarred veterans POW camp survivors or worse The Army Air Corps 27th Bombardment Group arrived in the Philippines in November 1941 with 1 209 men one year later only 20 returned to the United States The Japanese attacked the Philippines on the same morning as Pearl Harbor and invaded soon after Allied air routes back to the Philippines were soon cut forcing pilots to fight their air war from bases in Java Australia and New Guinea The men on Bataan were eventually taken prisoner and forced into the infamous Death March The 27th and other such units were pivotal in delaying the Japanese timetable for conquest If not for these units some have suggested the Allied offensive in the Pacific might have started in Hawaii or even California instead of New Guinea and the surrounding islands Based largely on primary materials including a fifty nine page report written by the surviving unit members in September 1942 Operation PLUM from the code name for the U S Army in the Philippines gives an account of the 27th Bombardment Group and through it the opening months of the Pacific theater Military historians and readers interested in World War II will appreciate the rich perspective presented in Operation PLUM
