Hard Earned Lives Accounts Of Health And Illness From East London:

Hard-earned Lives Jocelyn Cornwell,1984-01-01 Based on the author s thesis Ph D London University The Sociology of Health and Illness Michael Bury,Jonathan Gabe,2004 This collection of both classic writings and more recent articles in the sociology of health and illness includes a number of different perspectives on health and illness Risk And Misfortune Judith Green,2020-03-09 There has been a growing sociological interest in both risk and its management and with how we cope with the uncertainties of late 20th century life Understanding accidents is the key to understanding the risk society for accidents are both the paradigmatic challenge for risk technologies to predict the apparently unpredictable and the ultimate

The Sociology of Healthcare Alan Clarke,2013-09-13 The Sociology of Healthcare Second Edition explores the impact of current social changes on health illness and healthcare and provides an overview of the fundamental concerns in these areas This new edition features a brand new chapter entitled End of Life which will help health and social care workers to respond with confidence to one of the most difficult and challenging areas of care The End of Life chapter includes information on changing attitudes to death theories of death and dying and palliative care All chapters have been thoroughly updated to address diversity issues such as gender ethnicity and disability In addition expanded and updated chapters include Childhood and Adolescence and Health Inequalities The text is further enhanced through the use of case studies that relate theory to professional practice and discussion questions to aid understanding Links to websites direct the reader to further information on health social wellbeing and government policies This book is essential reading for all students of healthcare including nursing medicine midwifery and health studies and for those studying healthcare as part of sociology social care and social policy degrees In an age when health policy follows an individualist model of personal responsibility this book by Alan Clarke demonstrates with a vast array of evidence just how much there is such a thing as society An excellent overall book Dr Stephen Cowden Senior Lecturer in Social Work Coventry University The Body, Childhood and Society A. Prout,2016-04-30 Bringing together two topics of wide and growing sociological interest The Body Childhood and Society examines how children s bodies are constructed in schools families courts hospitals and in film Recognising that children s bodies are a target for adult practices of social regulation the contributors show that children are also active in their construction employ them in resistance and social action and generate their own meanings about them The editor a leading sociologist of childhood draws out the theoretical implications of this work indicates the limits of social constructionism and suggests new ways of thinking about the hybrid of material discursive and collective processes involved It will be a valuable text for social scientists interested in the body childhood schooling the law medicine and health Illness Havi Carel,2018-08-06 What is illness Is it a physiological dysfunction a social label or a way of experiencing the world How do the physical social and emotional worlds of a person change when they become ill Can there be well being within illness In this remarkable and thought provoking book Havi Carel explores these questions by weaving together the personal story of her own illness with insights and reflections drawn from her work as a philosopher Carel's fresh approach to illness raises some uncomfortable questions about how we all whether healthcare professionals or not view the ill challenging us to become more thoughtful Illness unravels the tension between the universality of illness and its intensely private often lonely nature It offers a new way of looking at a matter that affects every one of us Revised and updated throughout the third edition of this groundbreaking volume includes a new chapter on organ transplantation Illness The Cry of the Flesh will prove essential reading to those studying philosophy medical ethics and medical anthropology as well as those in the healthcare and medical professions It will also be of interest to individuals who live with illness and their friends and families Unhappy mothers

Sarah Crook, 2025-07-29 In the decades following the Second World War mothers experiences of loneliness boredom and unhappiness were increasingly widely acknowledged The language of postnatal depression came to be attached to this but mothers organised around their own discontent in ways that challenged the medical model Unhappy mothers draws attention to the social political and professional contexts within which knowledge about unhappy mothering developed Drawing upon an extensive range of archival material the book addresses themes around expertise feminism and the value given to lived experience The Sociology of Health and Illness

Sarah Nettleton, 2006-07-04 This reader brings together recent writing on health illness and health care in contemporary society It emphasizes the empirical nature of medical sociology and its relationship with the development of sociological theory The SAGE Handbook of Interview Research

Jaber F. Gubrium, James A. Holstein, Amir B. Marvasti, Karyn D. McKinney, 2012-02-11 The second edition of this landmark volume emphasizes the dynamic interactional and reflexive dimensions of the research interview Contributors highlight the myriad dimensions of complexity that are emerging as researchers increasingly frame the interview as a communicative opportunity as much as a data gathering format The book begins with an overview of the history and conceptual transformations of the interview which is followed by chapters that discuss the main components of interview practice Taken together the contributions to the handbook encourage readers to simultaneously learn the frameworks and technologies of interviewing and reflect on the epistemological foundations of the interview craft The handbook has been updated to address recent developments especially in qualitative interviewing Twenty six chapters are completely new the remaining twelve chapters have been substantially revised to give readers access to the state of the art of interview research Three entirely new sections include Logistics of Interviewing Self and Other in the Interview and Ethics of the Interview The Sociology of the Health Service

Michael Bury, 2002-09-11 The Sociology of the Health Service responds directly to the need to develop a sociological analysis of current health policy Topics covered vary from privatisation and health service management to health education and the politics of professional power Also included is an historical review of sociology's contributions to health policy and proposals for an agenda for sociological health policy research in the 1990s Qualitative Research Practice

Clive Seale, 2007 Aimed at the student reader this book demonstrates the benefits of using particular methods from the viewpoint of real life experience It contains chapters written by leading internationally distinguished qualitative researchers who recount and reflect on their own research experiences as well as others Researching Health Promotion Stephen Platt,Jonathan Watson,2002-09-09 Providing a critical review of the current state of health promotion research This book re conceptualises the field of health promotion as collaborative and integrating enterprise rather than as a battlefield for disciplinary and intellectual clashes It makes a significant contribution to ongoing epistemological theoretical and methodological debates in health promotion research With contributors from Sweden Switzerland Denmark Ireland the UK and the US Researching Health Promotion will be of interest to students and professionals working in health promotion public health medicine and health policy Life Beyond Murder Dan Gabriel Rusu,2024-11-18 Detailing the resettlement narratives of five men who have committed different types of murder confrontational revenge financial gain random intimate partner femicide and family feud this book counters narratives of neoliberal responsabilizing messages of individualism to investigate what informs their experiences of resettlement Life Beyond Murder Exploring the Identity Reconstruction of Mandatory Lifers After Release explores the impact of mandatory lifers institutionalisation families consumer culture emotions and supervision considering how these factors hamper or assist with their transition from the stigmatising identity of being dangerous murderers The book s discussion is guided by the men s narratives employing a tug of war metaphor to elucidate the push pull forces that influence the men s efforts to reconstruct their lives in the years following their release To be successful the book argues these men have to reconcile a paradoxical situation and the most skilled mandatory lifers manage to relativise their involvement in murder whilst concomitantly showing remorse This situation is achieved through a Splitting Narrative that ultimately defends against anxiety contains internal stigma and often showcases self flagellant remorse as they move towards positive social identities such as philanthropists family men wounded healers and pious members of the church Modern Medicine Simon J. Williams,Michael Calnan,2013-10-18 Do lay people view modern medicine as a fountain of hope or a font of despair What are their experiences of modern medical care and technology and how do their views and experiences differ across different social groups Combining theoretical insights with a range of qualitative and ethnographic research this volume examines lay experiences and evaluation of medicines and drugs chronic illness and life saving technology and reproductive technologies It also considers the growing popularity of complementary therapies as a potential challenge to orthodox medicine Geographies of Care Christine Milligan,2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2001 As care services in Britain have moved from institutional to community based environments there has been a simultaneous shift in those agencies concerned with the provision of such care and support this new environment of care is a complex one involving numerous different actors and agencies that operate across various different spatial and organizational levels of the policy process The implementation and success of care policies depend in part on the inter relationships between these various players This book examines these inter relationships illustrated by an in depth empirical study of policy makers and informal care providers concerned with the frail elderly in Scotland Taking the voluntary sector as a lens through which these inter relationships are explored it analyzes how voluntary support is affected by differing local contexts of care and what this means in terms of locally based care outcomes

New Directions in the Sociology of Chronic and Disabling Conditions G. Scambler, 2016-04-30 Bringing together disability theorists and medical sociologists for the first time in this cutting edge collection contributors examine chronic illness and disability disability theory doctor patient encounters lifeworld issues and the new genetics

Community Life Graham Crow, Graham Allan, 2014-06-06 First published in 1994 The sociology of community is currently undergoing something of a revival and this book has been written with the aim of contributing to this process in a number of ways First of all it draws attention to the burgeoning literature on sociological aspects of community life Secondly its bring together the various studies considered here into a more coherent whole than they possess as simply a collection of separate pieces of research

Principles of Social Research Mary Alison Durand, Tracey Chantler, 2014-08-16 Fully updated in this second edition this book introduces students to basic principles in social research Taking a public health approach the book covers areas such as health promotion public health and health services management and is aimed at helping a variety of health professionals The book uses examples from a range of settings to illustrate how qualitative and quantitative methods from the disciplines of sociology psychology history and anthropology have been used to understand health related behaviour Praised for its clarity and breadth this popular book has been thoroughly updated and now includes Extended further reading More indepth chapters reflecting the most current topics in the field of social research Expanded material on the use of secondary sources More coverage on the usage of studies within larger public health programmes including mixed methods and integration of data Increased number of international examples and updated case studies All chapters have extensive pedagogy to engage readers and bring the theory to life and is ideal for students taking a real variety of social research modules as part of a health program It is particularly valuable for public health students
