Harmonizing Europe Nation States Within The Common Market Suny Series In Global Politics:

Harmonizing Europe Francesco G. Duina, 1999-01-01 Analyzes factors that both drive and impede the establishment of transnational markets at the level of the nation state Debating the Global Financial Architecture Leslie Elliott Armijo, 2012-02-01 Debating the Global Financial Architecture opens up the contemporary debate surrounding the reform of the global financial architecture Economists and political scientists explore the economic and technical content of alternative global financial regimes as well as the political processes through which such changes are negotiated The contributors though diverse jointly fear that rapid removal of the remaining controls on private international financial transactions risks systematic crisis By initiating a cross disciplinary discussion they hope to see the politics of global financial design examined more honestly yet without discarding or devaluing a solid economic analysis of global money and investment flows

Landmines and Human Security Richard A. Matthew, Bryan McDonald, Kenneth R. Rutherford, 2012-02-01 An impressive array of activists scholars government officials journalists and landmine victims themselves are gathered here to tell the dramatic and inspiring story of the International Campaign to Ban Landmines ICBL Organized in the early 1990s the ICBL is a network of more than one thousand nongovernmental organizations worldwide working for a global ban on landmines It was an important force behind the treaty to ban antipersonnel landmines that was signed in Ottawa in 1997 and which led to its being awarded the 1997 Nobel Peace Prize along with its coordinator Ozone Depletion and Climate Change Matthew J. Hoffmann, 2012-02-01 Matthew J Hoffmann explores the fundamental question of who should participate in the global response to ozone depletion and climate change Blending social constructivist theory with insights from the study of complex adaptive systems Hoffmann develops a unique framework for understanding the emergence and evolution of participation norms which define the appropriate global response and shape how states have perceived the problems defined their interests and strategies and pursued governance The explanation is rigorously developed through an innovative combination of formal analysis and in depth empirical case studies Agent based computer simulation modeling is employed to explore essential norm dynamics analysis that is complemented and extended by process tracing case studies that examine governance activities from 1986 through 2003 The result provides the understanding necessary for improving global responses to environmental problems Agency and Ethics Anthony F. Lang Jr., 2012-02-01 Why does political conflict seem to consistently interfere with attempts to provide aid end ethnic discord or restore democracy To answer this question Agency and Ethics examines how the norms that originally motivate an intervention often create conflict between the intervening powers outside powers and the political agents who are the victims of the intervention Three case studies are drawn upon to illustrate this phenomena the British and American intervention in Bolshevik Russia in 1918 the British and French intervention in Egypt in 1956 and the American and United Nations intervention in Somalia in 1993 Although rarely categorized together these three interventions shared at least one strong commonality all failed to achieve their professed goals with the troops being ignominiously recalled in each example Lang concludes by addressing the dilemma of how to resolve complex humanitarian emergencies in the twenty first century without the necessity of resorting to military intervention

Crisis Theory and World Order Norman K. Swazo, 2002-09-26 Uses Heidegger's philosophy to critique and remedy world order thinking in international politics

Why Movements Matter Steve Breyman, 2001-07-12 Why Movements Matter is a provocative account of how the Reagan administration relented to pressures created by international peace movements during one of the most dangerous episodes of the Cold War Breyman provides the first systematic account of the West German anti missile movement among the most important citizen mobilizations of postwar Western history Contrary to conventional wisdom Breyman offers compelling evidence that peace movements rather than any escalation of Cold War spending or rhetorical belligerence hastened the demise of the Cold War The product of extensive research Why Movements Matter advances social movement theory and the political sociology of peace movements expands our understanding of the interaction of political parties and political movements explores the links between public opinion and organized dissent and provides an assessment of a movement whose immediate impact shook the halls of power in Washington and Moscow yet also had a deep and lasting influence on politics culture and society

The Arab-Israeli Conflict Transformed Hemda Ben-Yehuda, Shmuel Sandler, 2012-02-01 The Middle East conflict be it between the state of Israel and Arab states or between Jews and Palestinians is a staple of international news Utilizing both theoretical approaches and empirical evidence Hemda Ben Yehuda and Shmuel Sandler argue that despite the recent upswing in violence particularly over the Palestinian issue conflict has gradually been giving way since the 1970s to a more orderly regime of conflict management By integrating ethnonational theoretical literature into their analysis the authors move beyond the current International Relations debate over the relative merits of realist neo realist approaches versus neo liberal institutional approaches Ethnic state disputes are the primary source for failing to terminate the Arab Israeli conflict

Who Gets What? Aslaug Asgeirsdottir, 2009-07-01 Examines the domestic constraints negotiators operate under when nations seek to cooperate

Life After the Soviet Union Nozar Alaolmolki, 2001-10-18 Examines the political social and economic issues confronted by each of the newly independent republics in the Transcaucasus and Central Asian regions

United We Stand? Aaron Belkin, 2012-02-01 It has long been assumed that leaders engage in international conflict to unify their followers what is often called the rally round the flag hypothesis Despite its intuitive appeal however this hypothesis does not always provide a compelling explanation of the relationship between domestic politics and international conflict In United We Stand Aaron Belkin shows that in one important realm civil military relations leaders often prefer divisiveness over cohesion When they feel domestically vulnerable leaders use international conflict in order to create and exacerbate rivalries among their own military forces to lower the risk of a coup and to contribute to the consolidation and stability of the political order Case studies include post Soviet Georgia and Syria

What Moves Man Annette Freyberg-Inan, 2012-02-01 The realist

theory of international relations is based on a particularly gloomy set of assumptions about universal human motives Believing people to be essentially asocial selfish and untrustworthy realism counsels a politics of distrust and competition in the international arena What Moves Man subjects realism to a broad and deep critique Freyberg Inan argues first that realist psychology is incomplete and suffers from a pessimistic bias Second she explains how this bias systematically undermines both realist scholarship and efforts to promote international cooperation and peace Third she argues that realism s bias has a tendency to function as a self fulfilling prophecy it nurtures and promotes the very behaviors it assumes predominate human nature Freyberg Inan concludes by suggesting how a broader and more complex view of human motivation would deliver more complete explanations of international behavior reduce the risk of bias and better promote practical progress in the conduct of international affairs

Hierarchy amidst Anarchy Katja Weber,2000-08-10 Analyzes the underlying basis for state participation in cooperative international structures

When Leaders Learn and When They Don't Akan Malici,2009-01-08 Develops a new and dynamic theory of foreign policy decision making and experiential learning

Beyond Boundaries? Rudra Sil,Eileen M. Doherty,2000-06-08 This book represents a critical yet constructive reappraisal of the role and the limits of the boundaries that define and separate disciplines and subfields in the social sciences as well as the boundaries that divide distinct research traditions or paradigms in the analysis of international life It provides an integrative and eclectic examination of the virtues of a more flexible division of labor a division that facilitates more meaningful communication among scholars of different methodological persuasions investigating similar problems in international life Part One addresses concrete issues in international studies ranging from international bargaining and interdependence to conceptions of collective identity The essays therein serve as creative models for integrating concepts and analytic logics from different theoretical frameworks rooted in different disciplines Part Two shifts the focus to more wide ranging questions in the philosophy of the social sciences and the organization of social science research in order to shed new light on the value and validity of boundaries currently drawn between different schools sects disciplines and subfields Contributors include Tadashi Anno Jean Marc F Blanchard Anne L Clunan Eileen M Doherty Wade L Huntley Timothy W Luke Norrin M Ripsman and Rudra Sil

Counter-Hegemony and Foreign Policy Randolph B. Persaud,2001-03-29 Argues that marginalized states and peoples are capable of initiating their own foreign policy agendas

The Multi-Governance of Water Matthias Finger,Ludivine Tamiotti,Jeremy Allouche,2012-02-01 As the governance of transboundary rivers becomes a subject of growing importance due to the increasing pressure on freshwater resources this timely collection examines water scarcity and efforts to better manage rivers and river basins Most specialists agree that states face many institutional inadequacies when dealing with shared resources and that new governance mechanisms are needed to improve water management Using case studies of the Aral Sea basin and the Danube Euphrates and Mekong river basins the contributors develop a new approach to water governance the concept of multi governance an effort to collectively solve public problems by involving a series of relevant actors from the local to the global level such as institutions states civil society and business

Systems of Violence, Second Edition Nazih Richani, 2013-06-01 Expanded new edition of an important study of the protracted violence in Colombia This book examines the political economic and military factors that have contributed to decades of violent conflict in Colombia during one of the longest protracted civil wars in the world Using four years of field research and more than two hundred interviews Nazih Richani examines Colombia's war system the systemic interlacing relationship among actors in conflict their respective political economy and also the overall political economy of the system they help in creating Several key questions are raised including when and why do some conflicts protract and what types of socioeconomic and political configurations make peaceful resolutions difficult to obtain Also addressed are the lessons of other protracted conflicts such as those found in Lebanon Angola and Italy In this expanded second edition Richani contributes new chapters looking at developments in Colombia since the book's initial publication a decade ago and a look at the challenges for peace that lie ahead

States of Liberalization Mitchell P. Smith, 2012-02-01 As economic competition is introduced into areas formerly served by public sector monopolies to what extent do governments lose discretion over their use of the public sector States of Liberalization examines the impact of the European Union's rigorous single market competition policy on the abilities of Western European governments to use the public sector to achieve political objectives Examining several politically contentious sectors including government purchasing of goods and services postal services and public sector financial institutions Mitchell P Smith explores and explains the scope and the limits of this transformation While European economic integration and the application of European Community competition policy have substantially infused competition into public services the process has been more modest and more deliberate than a simple reading of Europe's potent market making mechanisms would predict

Imperialism and Internationalism in the Discipline of International Relations David Long, Brian C. Schmidt, 2006-01-01 What were the guiding themes of the discipline of International Relations before World War II The traditional disciplinary history has long viewed this time period as one guided by idealism and then challenged by realism This book reconstructs in detail some of the formative episodes of the field's early development and arrives at the conclusion that in actuality the early years of International Relations were preoccupied not with idealism and realism but with the dual themes of imperialism and internationalism Thus the beginnings of the discipline have resonance with the recently revived discourse of empire and the global status and policies of the United States as the world's sole superpower
