Premodern Places David Wallace, 2008-04-15 This book recovers places appearing in the mental mapping of medieval and Renaissance writers from Chaucer to Aphra Behn A highly original work which recovers the places that figure powerfully in premodern imagining Recreates places that appear in the works of Langland Chaucer Dante Petrarch Spenser Shakespeare Aphra Behn and many others Begins with Calais peopled by the English from 1347 to 1558 and ends with Surinam traded for Manhattan by the English in 1667 Other particular locations discussed include Flanders Somerset Genoa and the Fortunate Islands Canary Islands Includes fascinating anecdotes such as the story of an English merchant learning love songs in Calais Provides insights into major historical narratives such as race and slavery in Renaissance Europe Crosses the traditional divide between the medieval and Renaissance periods Belgium, Economic and Commercial Information, 2002 No 67 1982

1 include material on Luxemburg Citizens and Sodomites: Persecution and Perception of Sodomy in the Southern Low Countries (1400-1700) Jonas Roelens, 2024-02-06 The Southern Low Countries were among Europe's core regions for the repression of sodomy during the late medieval period As the first comprehensive study on sodomy in the Southern Low Countries this book charts the prosecution of sodomy in some of the region's leading cities such as Bruges Ghent and Antwerp from 1400 to 1700 and explains the reasons behind local differences and variations in the intensity of prosecution over time Through a critical examination of a range of sources this study also considers how the urban fabric perceived sodomy and provides a broader interpretive framework for its meaning within the local culture Hanze @ Medici André Vandewalle (historicus en archivaris), 2002 Catherine de Medici Leonie Frieda, 2002 Catherine de Medici was half

French half Italian Orphaned in infancy she was the sole legitimate heiress to the Medici family fortune Married at fourteen to the future Henri II of France she was constantly humiliated by his influential mistress Diane de Poitiers When her husband died as a result of a duelling accident Catherine became queen regent during the short reign of her eldest son When her second son became king she was the power behind the throne She nursed dynastic ambitions but was continually drawn into political and religious intrigues It had always been said that she was implicated in the notorious Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre together with the king and her third son who succeeded to the throne in 1574 but was murdered left standing with his assassin's dagger in one hand and his own entrails in the other Her political influence waned but she survived long enough to ensure the succession of her son in law who had married her daughter Margaret Leonie Frieda has returned to original sources and re-read the thousands of letters left by Catherine There has not been a biography in English of Catherine for many years and she believes that the time has come to show her as one of the most influential women in 16th Europe
