Hard Work No Consideration 51 Years As:

The working class in mid-twentieth-century England Ben Jones, 2018-09-30 This book maps how working class life was transformed in England in the middle years of the twentieth century National trends in employment welfare and living standards are illuminated via a focus on Brighton providing valuable new perspectives of class and community formation Based on fresh archival research life histories and contemporary social surveys the book historicises important cultural and community studies which moulded popular perceptions of class and social change in the post war period It shows how council housing slum clearance and demographic trends impacted on working class families and communities While suburbanisation transformed home life leisure and patterns of association there were important continuities in terms of material poverty social networks and cultural practices This book will be essential reading for academics and students researching modern and contemporary social and cultural history sociology cultural studies and human geography The Making of Consumer Culture in Modern Britain Peter Gurney, 2017-05-18 CHOICE OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC TITLE AWARD WINNER 2018 It is commonly accepted that the consumer is now centre stage in modern Britain rather than the worker or producer Consumer choice is widely regarded as the major source of self definition and identity rather than productive activity Politicians vie with each other to fashion their appeal to citizen consumers When and how did these profound changes occur Which historical alternatives were pushed to the margins in the process In what ways did the everyday consumer practices and forms of consumer organising adopted by both middle and working class men and women shape the outcomes This study of the making of consumer culture in Britain since 1800 explores these questions introduces students to major debates and cuts a distinctive path through this vibrant field It suggests that the consumer culture that emerged during this period was shaped as much by political relationships as it was by economic and social factors

Modern Selves Philip Dodd, 2005-08-05 This book discusses gender and autobiography and the politics of autobiography It offers examples of ways of making sense of individual works or groups of works Brighton at War 1939-45 Douglas d'Enno, 2021-11-24 Long before war was declared on 3 September 1939 Brighton had steadily and carefully prepared for the coming conflict by building shelters organising defence and rescue services and providing the population with advice of its own or from government sources These precautions stood the town in good stead when the first bombs fell on it in mid 1940 and during the many subsequent attacks The resort did not admittedly suffer as grievously as some others on the South Coast yet civilian casualties totalled nearly 1 000 of whom over 200 were killed 357 were seriously injured and 433 slightly injured This is not the first book to reveal the toll of the bombs locally but it is the first to describe in parallel day to day events and societal responses during the nearly six years of conflict As elsewhere restrictions often made life arduous for residents Yet despite the hardship the town's citizens even marshalled sufficient resources to adopt two battleships and generously saved towards assisting with other wartime causes such as help to our ally Russia The hospitality trade and resort related services suffered greatly during the periods when the defence ban on entering the town was enforced In many respects however life went on largely as before particularly in the spheres of entertainment leisure and some sports Douglas d Enno an authority on the history of Brighton and environs shows in meticulous detail in absorbing text and numerous pictures how life in wartime Brighton was a struggle for many but never dull Brighton Behind the Front Various,2015-01-10 First published in 1990 Brighton Behind the Front was originally produced in collaboration with the now defunct Lewis Cohen Urban Studies Centre in the same series as Backyard Brighton and Back Street Brighton It brings together a collection of Brighton wartime reminiscences and documents how ordinary people were affected by the war This was a challenging time in British history giving rise to moving accounts of individual lives set against a society undergoing profound changes Using personal recollections contemporary photographs letters a logbook and diaries Brighton Behind the Front vividly portrays what it was like to live in this south coast town during the Second World War Blighty Brighton Michael Corum,1991 The Elevator Constructor ,1927 The tide of democracy Alastair Reid,2013-07-19 This comprehensive study examines British shipbuilding and industrial relations from 1870 to 1950 addressing economic social and political history to provide an holistic approach to industry trade unionism and the early history of the Labour Party Examining the impact of new machinery of independent rank and file movements and of craft and trade unions The Tide of Democracy provides an authoritative account of industrial action in shipyards in the period and their effect on the birth and development of the Labour Party This volume is clearly presented elegantly written and suffused with a distinctly human touch which brings the technical material to life Unique in the combined attention it gives to Scottish and English history and drawing upon an impressive range of primary sources this volume will be indispensable for specialist researchers undergraduates and postgraduate students The Rural New-Yorker ,1922 Engineering Record, Building Record and Sanitary Engineer ,1910 The Norris Papers Thomas Heywood,1846 Remains, Historical and Literary.
